Harris Lashes at Press Reports on Congress Expenses

Calls Them 'Pressure' as Result of Broadcasting Quiz

Washington — Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) yesterday lashed at newspaper and magazine articles on congressional expense account practices stemming from government efforts to discipline the broadcasting industry, says Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.).

Harris got a standing ovation from the house yesterday when he finished a 1½ hour speech in which he centered an attack on the Knight newspapers and Life magazine.

The Knight papers charged in a series of articles this month that some house members had charged off expenses such as night club bills and liquor tabs on their government expense accounts. Life published a summary of the articles.

Harris, one of several members whose expenses were mentioned, charged at the time that the report was a smear. He said yesterday he had no apologies to make and would welcome a public inspection of any congressional expense account he had signed or approved.

Harris is chairman of the house subcommittee that investigated payola and quiz show rigging. His speech yesterday opened house debate on legislation to outlaw such practices. Final house action on the measure may come late today.

He said broadcasters and large publications which own broadcasting facilities "do not want legislation of this kind." He said "pressures began moving in" shortly after the bill received committee approval, but he did not say what form the reported pressures took or where they originated.

Threatens Seizure of Property

BY RICHARD VALERIANI
Havana — Fidel Castro has threatened to confiscate all U. S. business interests in Cuba if the United States cuts the quota of Cuban sugar on which it pays the island nation a bonus of $150 million a year.

The Cuban prime minister termed a proposal before congress to give the U. S. president standby authority to cut the quota "economic aggression" and a "knife thrust in the chest." His 100 - minute speech last night was broadcast over a nationwide radio hookup.

"We will not remain impassive," he said. "We will know how to meet economic aggression."

Much Already Seized
Speaking of the huge U. S. business interests in Cuba, Castro said: "In the same manner that they are there now, it may be in the future that they are not there."

American investments in Cuba before Castro came to power totaled about a billion dollars, but the revolutionary regime has taken over about a third of this, chiefly sugar and cattle lands. Properties still in American hands include the $300 million Cuban electric company, the $115 million Cuban Telephone company, banks, sugar mills, mines, oil refineries and various commercial enterprises.

Most businesses still in American hands have been curtailed by Castro's regime. American imports of half a billion dollars a year have

Democrats Open State Convention

Expected to Voice Opposition To Sales Tax, Praise Nelson

BY HARVEY BREUSCHER

Milwaukee — The Democratic Party of Wisconsin, its newly-gained statehouse control riding on the outcome, opens a crucial election year convention today.

A party platform and the campaign strategy needed to defend political ground gained in 1958 are prime aims of the 3-day meeting.

Most party leaders believe one issue that might have split the solid ranks necessary to continued control of Wisconsin has been skirted. It involves the party's stand on a state sale tax.

Despite Gov. Gaylord Nelson's many appeals for a "wait-and-see" attitude on taxes, pending recommendations from a citizen's committee, the convention is expected to make an anti-sales tax plank part of the 1960 platform.

About 1,500 Expected
The plank is expected to include praise for Nelson's approach to the tax problem.

Some 2,000 delegates have credentials for the convention, but party officials said no more than 1,500 at the most are expected to attend.

Not on the convention agenda, but sharing interest with the major activities, is a meeting Sunday of Wisconsin delegates pledged to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) for the Democratic nomination for president.

The 21 Humphrey delegates who will split 10½ convention votes have invited all major Democratic candidates to talk to them Sunday.

Delegates Puzzled
Humphrey has withdrawn from the race but some of the delegates are not sure of their procedure and whether they can vote for another candidate until released by Humphrey.

Six of the Humphrey delegates announced Thursday they would vote for Sen. John F. Kennedy, the front-running candidate for the Democratic nomination as soon as they could do so. Kennedy has 20½ Wisconsin delegate votes pledged to him.

Russian Hints End of Talks

Ready to Break Off Conference Unless West Yields

Geneva — Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin hinted today that Russia is ready to break off the 10-nation disarmament conference unless the western powers agree to negotiate on the basis of the new Soviet plan for total disarmament.

Zorin's speech was part of a steadily mounting communist buildup apparently intended to justify a break in the talks, at least until after a new administration takes office in Washington.

Zorin was less vitriolic than his colleague from Czechoslovakia, Jiri Nosek, who earlier accused the United States of obstructing disarmament to conceal its own preparations for war.

Charges Sabotage
The Soviet delegate again charged that the United States deliberately sabotaged last month's Paris summit meeting and is not interested in any serious negotiation of a disarmament treaty.

He said the United States—unlike the Soviet Union—prepared no new disarmament proposals for the summit, and still has nothing new to put before the 10-nation conference.

Zorin said the five Soviet-bloc delegates here had shown "maximum patience" in the conference thus far.

Yields Command Of 32nd Division To Gen. Smith

Camp McCoy — Maj. Gen. Waldemar F. Breidster dramatically stepped down today as commanding general of Wisconsin's 32nd National Guard division. He told staff officers he was acting now to clear the way for Brig. Gen. Herbert A. Smith, war-time colonel of the division's famed Buna Rifles, to command the division with which he started army service as a private 40 years ago.

Both generals are 60 and nearing retirement age. Gen. Breidster, a West Pointer and Academy football star in the early 1920s, told his staff that he could serve another year but that he was acting now "to enable the assistant division commander to take over the command."

Sun sets at 8:42 p.m., rises Saturday at 5:10 a.m.; moon sets at 8:53 p.m. Prominent star is Antares. Visible planets are Jupiter, Saturn and Mars.

Living Cost Rises, Sets Another Level

Higher Food Prices Main Reason; Many Get Pay Hikes

Washington — The cost of living edged up one-tenth of 1 per cent in May, setting a new record for the third month in a row.

Reporting this today, the labor department announced its consumer price index reached 126.3 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

Higher food prices were chiefly responsible for the rise.

As a result of the rise, about 200,000 workers in the aircraft, meat-packing, chemical, trucking and metal working industries will get cost-of-living pay boosts. Their wage contracts have clauses providing for adjustments in relation to living costs.

For most of the workers, the pay increase will be one to two cents an hour.

Buying Power Up
Despite the slight rise in prices, the buying power of the average factory worker's paycheck rose slightly. Longer hours of work boosted his spendable earnings by 70 cents, or 1 per cent.

Nevertheless, buying power in May still was 2 per cent below that of a year ago.

The average weekly take-home pay—earnings after taxes—of the worker with three dependents was reported as $80.91 in May, and for the worker with no dependents as $73.36. Both figures are up 70 cents from April.

In May, as in April, food prices were up more than seasonally. The rise was especially marked as to fresh fruits and vegetables.

Consumer services also were higher. These included medical care, which rose three-tenths of 1 per cent.

Among the declining costs were those of new and used cars, tires and gasoline.

Post-Crescent Reviews Latest Home Furnishings

Society Editor Kathy Reardon has just returned from a special showing of the new fall home furnishings at the Merchandise and the Furniture Marts in Chicago. Her story and pictures of some of the newest trends in home furnishing and decorating can be found on the women's pages of tonight's Post-Crescent.

One of the trends revealed at the gathering is the mixing of furniture in different styles and periods. The outlook for sales of new furniture the latter part of 1960 is optimistic, say some of the leading furniture retailers in attendance.

Lightship Lost After Crash In Heavy Fog

New York — An out-bound freighter moving through heavy fog rammed and sank a coast guard lightship at the entrance of New York harbor today. There were no injuries.

The mishap occurred about eight miles southwest of Rockaway point, Queens. All nine coast guardsmen were rescued and taken to the St. George Coast Guard base at Staten Island.

The freighter, the 6,100-ton Green Bay, was not seriously damaged.

The heavier vessel hit the 129-foot lightship amidship shortly after 4 a.m. It sank in about 90 feet of water about 10 minutes later.

Sounded Alarm
One of the crewmen, Bobbie Pierce, 22, of Franklin, Va., said he was in the wheelhouse when he saw a light in the fog. He guessed it was on a forward mast of an approaching ship and he sounded the general alarm siren.

Most of the crew were below deck in their bunks when the alarm sounded.

The vessel was substituting for the regular lightship, the Ambrose, which had been removed for a checkup and repairs. It had been on duty at the harbor entrance several weeks.

Vote Compromise Excise Tax Bill

Washington — Congressional tax writers agreed on a compromise excise tax bill today, and dropped a proposal to repeal the 4 per cent credit on dividend income.

Also dropped in a senate-house committee's adjustment of different bills passed by the two branches of congress was a proposal to narrow the list of entertainment items businessmen may deduct as business expenses.

Both the proposals had been voted by the senate, but not by the house.

The conference committee's decisions are subject to ratification by the senate and house.

U. S. Trader Charges Brazilian Customs Men Pirated His Cargo

New York — An American trader claims Brazilian customs men pirated his $100,000 liquor cargo and held him and his ship illegally in a remote port near the mouth of the Amazon, the New York Times said today.

Capt. Sylvain Ledee, who lives in Manhattan, told the newspaper he was held prisoner two weeks aboard his ship in the port of Santana, Brazil. He was freed after a port captain helped him smuggle a message asking help from the nearest U. S. consul, 200 miles away.

Sailed in February
Ledee said he sailed from St. Barthelemy, Guadeloupe, in February in a chartered schooner bound for Macapa in the sparsely settled territory of Brazil known as Amapa. His cargo was 2,000 cases of Scotch whisky and 100 cases of French liquors.

About 300 miles from their destination, as they approached the mouth of the Amazon, the schooner was boarded by men from a Brazilian coast guard launch, Ledee said.

He said the Brazilians accused him of smuggling, put him under arrest and went with the ship into the port of Santana, not far from Macapa.

Ledee said the officer who boarded the schooner had a full manifest of his cargo. He said their passports were seized and the ship's manifest destroyed.

The day the schooner arrived at Santana, he said, the cargo was sold at auction for $97,000. The sale was held without the legal advance notice required by Brazilian law.

Ledee said the port captain, a Brazilian navy officer, smuggled a message to the U. S. consul in Belem. Santana authorities at first ignored messages about the case, Ledee continued; but, after two weeks, he and his 18-year-old son, who had been aboard the schooner with him, were put on a plane for Belem.

Ship, Crew Released
Santana authorities proposed to sell the schooner at auction but joint action of the U. S. and British consular authorities brought about the release of the ship and her crew of 14 on March 29, Ledee said. The vessel was under British registry, chartered from a Barbados firm.

Back in this country, Ledee said his lawyer has conferred with the state department on measures to be taken to compensate his loss. He said Lloyd's of London told him his insurance did not cover illegal seizure by government officials.

Ledee, part owner of the cargo, is in partnership with his brother, who lives in the House Extends Limit On Menominee Control

Sets July for End of Federal Supervision; Would Exempt Tribe From Tax Payments

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington — The house today unanimously approved an amendment offered by Rep. Melvin R. Laird (R-Marshfield) which would extend the date for final termination of federal supervision over the Menominee Indian tribe from Dec. 31, 1960, to July 1, 1961.

The bill also would exempt the tribe or its affiliated corporations from payment of federal and state taxes on transfer of property or issuing stocks and bonds in connection with the termination plan.

Without this provision documentary tax stamps would cost the tribe about $165,000 in state and federal taxes.

A third provision states that if the tribe fails to "implement any provision of the termination plan the secretary of interior may do so after giving 20 days' notice of his intention to act."

The amendment as approved is not as liberal as Laird's original bill. Laird would have permitted the secretary of the interior to set a termination date instead of having the arbitrary July 1 1961, deadline. The Laird bill also would have permitted the Menominee corporation to borrow money from the federal government to improve and modernize its assets. The federal government would have given aid on health and sanitation projects of the tribe and it would have financed all costs of termination over amount which already has been allocated.

The interior committee's recommendation would have required the tribe to pay for half of its termination costs and a retroactive provision would have resulted in the tribe owing the government about $100,000. Laird persuaded committee members to knock out this provision.

Venezuelan Chief Slightly Injured In Bomb Attack

8-Story Drop

Man Critically Hurt By Falling Dumbbell

New York — An iron dumbbell fell eight stories yesterday from the apartment of theatrical producer Martin Gabel and his wife, actress Arlene Francis, critically injuring a Chicago businessman.

The victim, Alvin Rodecker, head of the Aaron Deroy Management company, Detroit, was taken to Roosevelt hospital.

His condition today remained critical.

Neither Gabel nor Miss Francis was in the apartment at the time of the accident. Rodecker and his wife had just left Le Pavillon restaurant as they celebrated his sixtieth birthday. Mrs. Rodecker said later they were walking along Fifty-seventh street toward Park avenue and he commented:

"Holy cow, what an expense that was. But it was worth it. We're really celebrating."

At that instant, the dumbbell, about eight inches long with round weights at each end, struck him.

Police said a maid, Effie Turner, and Miss Francis' secretary, Muriel Fleit, reported that the dumbbell was one of two, wrapped in towels, used to hold a screen in the window. The window ordinarily is held by an air conditioning unit, which was being repaired.

Texas Natural Gas Bill Ruled Invalid

Austin, Texas — State Judge Jack Roberts ruled today that Texas' new natural gas tax is unconstitutional. His ruling could mean that gas users in many parts of the nation will not have the tax added to their bills.

Unless his verdict is overturned the state will lose an anticipated 15 million dollars in revenue during the current 2-year fiscal period.

Political Cauldron Comes To Boil as Parleys Near

Kennedy Gains More Votes, Ike Confers With Nixon and James Doyle Goes Stevenson

Washington —(A)— With the national convention season just two and a half weeks away, the political cauldron has come to a rolling boil. Some of the bubbles that came to the surface yesterday:

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), front runner for the Democratic prize, snared his largest single bloc of convention votes so far when 911 of New York's 114 were pledged to him.

Backers of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) figured Kennedy will have over 600 votes when the convention starts July 11, but said their man would have 502 and claimed his total would swell in later ballots unless Kennedy manages to sweep the board on the first ballot; 761 convention votes are needed to nominate.

President Eisenhower, golfing in Hawaii after his Far East trip, was reported drafting a reply to mounting Democratic criticism of his foreign policy, particularly the consequences of the cancellation of his visit to Japan.

Kennedy's New York strength brought his unofficial total of votes to 484, according to an Associated Press tabulation. His camp claims he will go into the convention with more than 600; the AP tabulation counts votes determined by state primaries, state convention actions and polls of individual delegates willing to announce their stand.

Johnson's total in the AP list now is 2021. He got 21 votes from the New York delegation meeting at Albany, N. Y.

At Trenton, N.J., Robert J. Burkhardt, a close political adviser to Gov. Robert B. Meyner, said he thinks the state's 41-vote delegation should switch to Kennedy now. It presently is pledged to Meyner as a favorite son.

A nationwide movement to draft Adlai E. Stevenson for the Democratic nomination was proclaimed by James Doyle, a 45-year-old lawyer from Madison, Wis., who said "as England responded to Churchill, France to De Galle, so America is prepared today to respond to the leadership of Adlai Stevenson."

No Support
Doyle had no visible support from Stevenson, who has said repeatedly he is not a candidate, but keeps making speeches like one. Doyle also had no support from National Party Chairman Paul M. Butler, who refused him working space at the headquarters hotel in Los Angeles on the ground that Stevenson would have to ask for it himself.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo), still plugging for the Democratic nomination, quoted some words of his most prominent backer, Harry S. Truman.

Symington told a Kansas City audience "the Republicans have the propaganda and the money, but we have the people, and the people have the votes."

Turning to Truman at the speakers' table, Symington said "President Truman, if that speech sounds familiar, it is because every word was taken from speeches you made in the 1948 campaign. They are your words, not mine. But everything you said then needs to be re-stated today."

Truman, in a speech of his own, said "I am for Stu and I am going to be for him until the last dog dies."

Don't Blame Ike, Blame Congress, Says Republican Candidate

Orlando, Fla. —(A)— Don't blame President Eisenhower if he hasn't accomplished all he hoped to, says Col. Percy Thompson.

Thompson is the other grandfather to President Eisenhower's grandchildren and the Republican candidate for Florida secretary of state.

The fault lies in the fact the president has not had a congress to support him, Thompson said.

He told a group of 100 Republican women workers yesterday "it is not enough to elect a Republican president. We must elect a Republican congress and senate and we must elect Republicans on the state and local level."

The 62-year-old father of Mrs. John Eisenhower is a retired army officer.

Nelson Could Get Vice Presidency

Wisconsin Governor Gains More Mention for Democratic Slot

BY RICHARD P. POWERS

Washington —(A)— Gov. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin is one of several midwestern Democrats gaining increasing mention for the party's vice presidential nomination if Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts wins the top spot on the ticket.

Kennedy himself has not tipped his hand as to a possible running mate if he is the presidential nominee.

But Kennedy people have spread the word that such men as Nelson, Gov. Orville Freeman of Minnesota, Gov. George Docking of Kansas or

Gov. Herschel C. Loveless of Iowa would be acceptable.

This is based on the conjecture that the Massachusetts senator would like to have a midwestern governor on the team to add strength in the broad farm belt that has aided the Democratic cause in recent years.

Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) said Kennedy is his own choice for the presidential nomination but has no idea whom Kennedy would like as a running mate.

Proxmire said, however, he feels sure that Kennedy would hand pick his man and not leave it to the convention as did Adlai Stevenson in 1956 when Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee became the vice presidential nominee.

Similar View

This view is also held by Rep. Henry S. Reuss (D-Wis.). Reuss said that if Kennedy nails down the nomination he will make it clear to the convention whom he favors for the second spot.

"I think Sen. Kennedy has the nomination pretty much sewed up," Proxmire said. "It seems unlikely that he would be rejected after the record he made in the primaries."

But if Kennedy fails to win the nomination in the July convention in Los Angeles, Proxmire said he thinks Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas then would have the best chance. But Johnson is not Proxmire's second choice.

Named Man

Proxmire named his own choice in order as Kennedy, Stevenson, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri and Johnson.

The Kennedy forces claim more than 600 delegate votes in the bag. Johnson backers claim between 400 and 500.

Proxmire said that if Kennedy fails some of his delegates will go to Johnson, making him a strong contender.

Reuss also said Kennedy is his choice for the nomination and, like Proxmire, he named Stevenson, Symington, and Johnson, in that order, as his next preferences.

Reuss said that if Kennedy comes out on top, Nelson would have at least as good a chance as Freeman of Minnesota to be picked for the second position.

Senate Democrats to Try Big Push to Get Medical Care Passed

Bill Would be Written Into Social Security For Aged; Sources Say Votes Available

Washington —(A)— Senate Democrats today prepared for a big push in the closing days of congress to try to write a medical care program for the aged into the social security system.

Several senate sources said the votes were available, though perhaps by a narrow margin, to put this type of a provision into the social security bill which passed the house 380-23 Thursday.

Two Democratic presidential aspirants, Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Stuart Symington (D-Mo), have said they strongly favor adding medical care benefits for retired persons to the social security system.

Undisclosed Stand

Another, Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas), has indicated he favors this approach.

The Eisenhower administration sharply opposes such a plan, favoring instead a program of federal-state grants to finance major medical benefits for needy older persons.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), whose finance committee will handle the house bill, told a reporter he would take it up promptly, probably early next week. Byrd has not disclosed his stand on health legislation.

"I think this bill holds the key to the adjournment of the congress," the committee chairman said.

Speed Action

In order to speed action on the measure, the committee may consider it without holding open hearings. After this week, only two weeks remain until the Democratic national convention opens July 11.

A limited medical care program, worked out as a compromise after weeks of argument in the ways and means committee, is contained in the house bill.

Under it, each state would be authorized to set up a new category under its public assistance program of old persons unable to pay heavy medical bills.

Estimate Cost

The federal government would contribute an estimated $185 million a year and the states $147 million to pay medical benefits for these persons.

An estimated one and a half million persons would be covered, with perhaps half a million getting payments in any one year.

The overwhelming house vote was not interpreted as an endorsement of this plan.

Instead, many supporters of a broader program urged "aye" votes so the senate would have a chance to act on the bill and amend it. The house acted under rules forbidding amendments.

Railroad Union Agrees on Pay

Only One Unit Still in Dispute Over Wage Request

Chicago —(A)— The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen has reached wage agreement with the nation's railroads, leaving only one operating unit still in dispute with the carriers over pay.

The agreement Thursday with the 45,000-member brotherhood was patterned after earlier settlements between the railroads and trainmen, engineers and conductors unions. It calls for a 4 per cent—or 10.108 cents hourly—wage boost over 16 months.

A railroad spokesman estimated the new wage increase will cost the carriers $13 million a year.

Lone Union

The Switchmen's Union of North America is the lone operating unit still to reach a wage agreement with railroads. The union's 15,000 workers have demanded a 12 per cent hourly pay hike. A presidential fact-finding board entered this dispute June 1, 1960.

Also, 11 non-operating unions have not settled with the carriers. These unions number about 550,000 members.

Thursday's agreement specified a 2 per cent wage boost effective July 1, 1960; another effective March 1, 1961. The contract runs to Nov. 1, 1961.

The union had asked a 14 per cent wage increase June 15, 1959; the carriers had countered with a proposal for a 15 per cent reduction.

Avoid Hot Weather Intestinal Disorders

Food poisoning is responsible for most of the intestinal disturbances found in hot weather. Bacteria are found all about us, but hot weather favors the development of those which contaminate food. Careless handling of food is responsible for many cases of food poisoning. To prevent this keep all foods properly refrigerated & protected at all times from flies or other insects. Keep all food dishes clean and those who handle food should be thoroughly clean. Do not use food which may possibly be spoiled. Milk should be most carefully watched.

Not all suffer easily from food poisoning. This variation is dependent upon the degree of internal resistance of the individual. Chiropractic aids in building up resistance and is beneficial in many cases of intestinal disturbances.

Has Only Hen's Teeth, but Eats Seven Chickens

Pensacola, Fla. —(A)— A toothless cab driver hauled seven fried chickens in one of those "all you can eat" deals at a Pensacola drugstore.

Jim Ferguson wandered into the store yesterday, spotted an "all the chicken you can eat for 99 cents" sign and told the fountain manager to "start frying and don't stop."

Major Jimmerson scoffed. "If you eat five chickens it won't cost you a cent," he said. Two hours later seven chickens had been eaten.

"I haven't got a tooth in my head," Ferguson said. "It's kind of hard to get the meat off the bones."

The cabbie said his last full course meal had been on Wednesday. What did he eat then? "Why, chicken, naturally. I love it."

Investigators continued to question the youth early today. No charges have been filed.

Los Angeles —(A)— Wealthy businessman Shaik Dastagir, brother of Indian actor Sabu, was shot to death at the back door of his home in suburban Van Nuys Thursday night.

A few hours later, police said, an 18-year-old youth who identified himself as Jim Shields showed up at the police station and said he shot Dastagir.

Police said Shields, a former employee of Dastagir, told this story:

Bungled Holdup
He knew Dastagir often carried large sums of money and went to his house to rob him at gunpoint. He bungled the holdup, shot Dastagir in the chest and then accidentally shot himself in the left arm.

Police found a wallet containing about $800 on the dead man.

Investigators continued to question the youth early today. No charges have been filed.

Sabu, about 36, onetime Elephant Boy of the movies, appeared at the house shortly after the shooting was discovered. The India-born actor, out of the limelight in recent years, appeared shaken and was unable to talk to newsmen. However, police learned he last saw his brother Thursday.

Police said the actor occasionally helped his brother run the furniture store.

Mrs. Unice Dunivant, a neighbor, told police she and her house guests heard three shots about 10:30 p.m. and ran into the backyard.

Jaycees Pick New Leader

M. J. Doughton, Allentown, Pa., Wins on 6th Vote

St. Louis —(A)— Morgan J. Doughton of Allentown, Pa., is the new national president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Doughton was elected on the sixth ballot Thursday, defeating Howard J. Thomas, 33, of Silver Springs, Md., who had Doughton been touted as a sure winner.

Thomas held a 400-vote lead over Doughton on the fifth ballot. Then Tom Ruffin, 34, of Shreveport, La., withdrew from the 3-man race and his state's delegation threw its support to Doughton.

An unofficial count showed the final ballot: Doughton 1,600; Thomas 1,563.

$2 Million Printing Bill Shocks State Legislators

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Legislative leaders sitting as the new supervisory state board of government operations were visibly startled Wednesday when they heard that the state is producing printed reports and miscellaneous materials at an expenditure of more than $2 million a year.
"They say that the army

chines," rumbled Sen. W. A.
Draheim (R-Neenah), "but the state is apparently going them one better."
The topic was introduced obliquely when Joe E. Nusbaum, commissioner of administration, asked for extra help to accommodate increased demands upon the state printing division and a subsidiary unit handling mimeo and duplicating service.

Ask for Report
Legislators approved the men, but asked for a report of the kind of materials the state is printing for public distribution. Nusbaum said he doesn't have the power to tell state agencies what they can print, but that the legislature can control the matter through budgeting. Nusbaum's printing division charges its operations costs to the agencies ordering printed matter.
Printing division employees testified that the growth rate of state printing programs has been approximately equal to the growth for the state government and the cost of state operations in general.
There also is now more editorial supervision provided for the state institutions, it was said.

One Driver Found Guilty, Another Forfeits Bond

One motorist was found guilty and another forfeited bond in two municipal court traffic cases Thursday.

Ronald P. Werner, 22, of Hortonville, was found guilty of hit and run by Judge Oscar
J. Schmieg. He was arrested
May 5 by Appleton police after an accident at Wisconsin avenue and Division streets.
Werner contended he did not believe the mishap was a serious one. He said he stopped his car a short distance from
and left.

He was fined $20.
Eugene E. Theobald, 21,

Washington, D.C. Residents May Get Vote

Congress has approved the proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States which, if adopted, will permit citizens of the nation's capital to vote for president and vice president.

Since 47 of the 50 state legislatures are scheduled to meet this year, people in Washington have hopes that 38 of the legislatures, which is the required three-fourths, will approve the amendment in time to permit the people of the district to vote in 1964.

People of the district have been totally disenfranchised for 160 years. It is believed the members of congress failed to foresee the possibility of a voteless district when, in 1790, a few years after the constitution was adopted, congress accepted the 10 square mile district from Maryland and Virginia. During the national elections of 1792 and 1796, residents of the area continued to vote as citizens of Maryland and Virginia. However, when the federal government took possession in 1800, the district no longer was a part of the states and there was no machinery to handle district elections or to provide representation in congress.

The proposed amendment provides that "the district may name a number of electors of president and vice president equal to the full number of senators and representatives in congress to which the district would be entitled if it were a state, but in no event more than the least populous state; they shall be in addition to those appointed by the states, but they shall be considered, for the purpose of the election of president and vice president, to be electors appointed by a state."

It is pointed out that the limitation on the number of electors to that of the smallest state makes the residents of the district only about three-fourths citizens and is certainly somewhat less than was hoped for but it is being accepted enthusiastically as better than nothing. In view of the obvious unfairness of the present disenfranchisement of the residents of the District of Columbia, it is expected that the required number of states will quickly ratify the proposed amendment.

Charity Goes Abroad

Dr. Tom Dooley has become known as the spokesman and almost the symbol for MEDICO, a non-profit, independent organization aiming at providing medical care and know-how to poverty-stricken, disease-ridden areas. But MEDICO is not limiting its facilities and operations to the jungles of remote Laos. Plans are underway now to set up an extensive project in Haiti where ignorance, hunger and plague go hand in hand.

The average per capita income in Haiti is $65 a year and 90 per cent of the people cannot read or write. Malnutrition and tuberculosis are primary problems along with the various diseases which thrive in filth and ignorance. Since 1957, Haitian leaders have been making efforts to improve medical care and information.

CARE has been concentrating on feeding the hungry and giving instruction in better agricultural methods. Our International Cooperation program, the fancy name for foreign aid, fathers several projects. In recent months both a psychiatric clinic and the Albert Schweitzer hospital have been opened.

But the great need is for the knowledge and techniques of modern medicine. It is this which MEDICO hopes to provide. Under the leadership of Dr. Edgar Berman, plans are aimed at making health services available throughout Haiti, raising medical professional standards, cooperating with various world organizations in efforts to promote sanitation, and the building of a program which the Haitians will be able to take over and run effectively.

More than 40 doctors and nurses have volunteered to become members of MEDICO teams in Haiti. One hospital in Detroit has offered an entire team for next winter. Professors and specialists from Johns Hopkins will go to Haiti next January to work with Haitian doctors and teachers for a month. A team of orthopedic surgeons has volunteered to spend four months of a year on the project.

Money has come from a variety of sources including $100,000 from the public Welfare Foundation of Virginia. American drug and hospital supply companies already have sent $135,000 worth of goods for CARE to distribute. The World Rehabilitation Fund, an independent organization with an overpowering aim, has contributed to Haitian doctors fellowships for United States postgraduate study.

In addition to the well-publicized Laotian projects and this new one for Haiti, MEDICO is sending teams this summer to Kenya, Tanganyika, Peru, Cambodia and Malaya. Of course, the idealism and sacrifice involved in these programs is not entirely without a selfish aspect; publicity and satisfaction can be spiritually dangerous.

But it is interesting that nothing like this comes out of Russia or Red China. Such charity is one of the strange fruits of freedom which totalitarian regimes never seem able to reproduce.

Other Side of the Fence

Only a few years ago American women were muttering because so many G.I.s came home with foreign brides. The men retorted that the girls from other countries were more feminine, more concerned with their husbands, more subservient and therefore more appealing to men raised in an era of momism. Now, it seems, women in other countries are having troubles.

Pakistani girls have complained so loudly about the number of Pakistan men in the Foreign Service who marry abroad that the government is tightening up on permission requirements and insisting that the foreign brides become Pakistan citizens or move to Pakistan. The home town girls say the new brides are fortune seekers and opportunists and from lower economic classes.

Equal Space in the Press

Roy A. Schaefer, national president of the Young Democrats, recently proposed that the Senate commerce subcommittee include newspapers in its study of equal TV-Radio broadcast time provisions for the major presidential candidates.

His suggestion was that the newspaper publishers be required to offer equal space to opposing candidates. This now has been opposed by Ned Cushing, president of the Young Republican National Federation. Cushing says that the proposal of the Young Democrats would "strike a dangerous blow at one of America's basic freedoms and it should be firmly resisted by the press and rejected by congress."

It is interesting of course to have these young men discuss such matters in public. Aside from the automatic disagreement, however, it must be admitted that the young Democrat got off his statement without giving it careful consideration. Often in the past proposals to limit the press political deals have been defeated. Again and again it has been shown that what is said in type is much more important than the space devoted to it. In practice there is little or no possibility of providing equal opportunity for political candidates by divvying up the space in the newspapers. The principal reason for this is that the readers are selective. They will not read articles merely because they are printed. They must be interesting or the readers will turn away from them. Strangely enough the more space given to a dull article the fewer the readers. Thus the amount of space is not necessarily a guide to the effectiveness of a published article. We think the young Democrat was foolish to bring it up and he would be wise to drop it.

But the foreign brides also are making themselves heard. They marry for love, they say, and thus they appeal to the Pakistan men who are tired of the old Moslem custom of arranged betrothals between families. Besides, there is no status or money involved because they say that even a common laborer in Europe or America "earns more and has a better standard of living than a doctor or lawyer in Pakistan."

Actually neither side has come up with what appears to be the real reason for the increased number of international marriages. There is a novelty about a foreign mate that appeals to both men and women. And all the scorn from home town girls or government decrees won't change the way of a man with any maid.

out giving it careful consideration. Often in the past proposals to limit the press political deals have been defeated.

Again and again it has been shown that what is said in type is much more important than the space devoted to it. In practice there is little or no possibility of providing equal opportunity for political candidates by divvying up the space in the newspapers. Rhee Was Hero, but He Erred

From The Muncie (Ind.) Star

There is some balm in the fact that when Syngman Rhee left behind him the presidency of the Republic of Korea he was cheered by the same mobs which a day or two earlier had dragged his shattered bust through the dust.

The post, then, had not been entirely forgotten. Rhee was hailed again as the father of the republic.

That he was. His strength helped the republic come into being. A round his staunch figure the people of Korea could rally when the infant republic was swept into shattering war by the invading Reds from the north. He successfully led his people through the terrible years of war and then back over the hard road of rebuilding.

He was, in truth, a hero. But he made a tragic mistake. He succumbed to the belief that only he could lead the country. In pursuit of this belief he allowed himself to be made the figurehead for a palace guard so confident of its own wisdom that it would brook no opposition. He condoned the attitude of a party so convinced of the necessity for remaining in power that this became its overriding goal. This is not an uncommon mistake, either for individuals or for parties.

We hope that Rhee in retirement may be remembered for his achievements and not for his failure. We hope that others, tempted by the power of government, may profit by Rhee's experience.

We're Refuge for Republicanism But Won't Admit It, Writer Says

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The literary flaunt presented by both Mr. Denigan and Mrs. Hoffman regarding the Stevenson question was, I must confess, both interesting and amusing. To both, I suggest the latest edition of Webster's dictionary. Within its pages one may find a complete set of "definitions."

Clarifications of these definitions are also provided.

Nevertheless, I must compliment Mr. Denigan on his brilliant defense for Stevenson, and more importantly, the intellectual qualities that are associated with the man himself. However, since I doubt the latter's chances of winning the Democratic nomination, Mr. Denigan's words were, in an indirect manner, wasted.

Nevertheless, I do share his concern for the plight of those actually well-versed in matters concerning the concentrated use of one's brainpower, or in other words, the intelligent.

If one was to accept the reasoning of certain critics, one could not but help to arrive at the assumption that to be stupid is the safe way to be intelligent, since people in general seem to fabricate a definite distaste for anyone who has a more impressive I. Q. than they themselves have. Thus it is understandable to assume Mr. Stevenson's inability to reach the average "man on the street" as his main downfall.

The Post-Crescent, incidentally, headlined Mr. Denigan as "accusing the Post of being a one-party press." Now, if I may, can I ask the Post to clarify "accused?" How can one "accuse" another of stating that which is already generally accepted as being a known fact? To accuse is to denounce a spoken, or written observation. Certainly, it is no denunciation to say that the Post is a refuge for Republicanism, just as the Milwaukee Journal is for Democrats. This fact becomes all-too evident when one takes time to scan over your editorials. The Post is, if you excuse the expression, as Republican as is Nixon's pig. The Journal admits where its sympathy lies — Are you perhaps too ashamed to admit where your political preference lies?

Angler Lucky Wily Trout Cannot Read

From The Tacoma (Wash.) News-Tribune

Anyone who has dipped, into the fishing literature knows that the trout is a wily sprite which can be taken only by a dedicated fisherman exercising the most consummate skill. Your trout, so it is said, will rise only to the bait which precisely suits his whim at a given moment — and then only if the fly is presented with artistry and devotion. Some writers even imply that unless an angler is dressed in traditional garb the trout will scorn his offerings.

The happy flaw in this is that trout cannot read. If they could, hardly anyone would ever catch a trout. As it is, these belligerent and tasty fish are taken in

The assistant marshal of Outagamie County complains that people do not give him the real value of their real estate or personal property for census purposes.

"The fools are not all dead yet," he stated. Some take him for an assessor and even intelligent men quibble about giving him statistical information.

Under the Capital Dome

On College Professors And Special Privileges

BY JOHN WINGAARD

Madison — The debate among the regents of the state colleges recently about the tendency of some professors to wander off into non-academic jobs from time to time was a brief and inconclusive.

But it might have been useful, nevertheless, in providing a new insight into the perennial complaint about the low pay and underprivileged status of professors in the system.

As Regent Murphy of LaCrosse, who admits to some skepticism about such leaves, put it to his colleagues, the professor is rare who will leave the classroom for a special assignment at lower pay.

These excursions usually happen to provide extra money, as well as opportunities for the professor to live and to learn and to become a better teacher.

This subject is a sensitive one among teachers, and this chronicler counts many teachers among his friends in Madison and elsewhere. Yet the situation presents some aspects that are rarely considered and perhaps ought to have a mention, at the least.

PAY, BUT

Most persons probably agree that the average professor ought to be better rewarded financially for his work. He has heard the complaints about their pay so often that the response is virtually automatic.

But the facts are typically presented in such a way as to portray an inaccurate impression, perhaps not intentionally. When the average salaries in the state colleges and the universities are published, it is rare that there is the explanation that they represent a comparatively short work year. The teacher works 10 months — with comparatively generous interludes of rest included in that academic calendar. Many of them have summer great numbers — and not only on bits of fluff bearing such names as Royal Coachman and March Brown, but on a variety of baits ranging from earthworms to salmon eggs. In some waters the trout even go for doughballs and bits of marshmallow.

Even to mention this borders on heresy. Still, who is to say that the truth should not out? This is the time of year when a lot of anglers are trying their luck. They might as well know that they won't have to be in the social register and quote from "The Compleat Angler" to have a chance at the trout.

work opportunities, but those incomes are not usually counted in the publicity about their average annual compensation.

Many of them have opportunities for part-time consultation, lecturing, writing and other activities, for pay. Such incidentals also are not included in the typical press release or resolution on the subject of salaries.

Leave privileges are generous, as the brief set to among the state college regents the other day illustrated. A professor usually can get away for a special assignment without difficulty, and keep his job and his rank protected during his absence. Comparatively few of his neighbors have such privileges.

Perhaps journalism and teaching have some things in common — including the fact that virtually every experience is a professional gain.

But the publisher would be a foolish one who would permit his staff writers to wander around at will, the while keeping their jobs open for them if they decided to return and risking the chance that they won't.

AND AGAIN

There is no desire here to disparage the profession. This state has hundreds of dedicated teachers in its colleges and universities, and honors them. But the bystander at close range feels a twinge of envy occasionally, nevertheless, when he contemplates the endless lists of research activities of the clan.

No doubt much of this is worthy effort. No doubt also the academicians would like to give the back of the hand to that presumptuous member of the laity who confesses to some doubts. Yet there are some cushy opportunities for soldiering in these lists. If there is a disposition to do so, I remember the press release from one of the colleges at the university not long ago in which a professor casually mentioned that he didn't expect to complete his "research," on a rather innocuous political subject, until 1975. There are those who would say he had a good thing going there.

The skeptical man also notes that included in the typical college or university budget are salaries for non-teaching officials and employees that compare very favorably with similar ranks in other governmental services, and with prevailing pay in the world of private business. All these crowd in when he hears the repetitious complaints about poverty in education.

Tax Exemption Favored for U.S.-Spent Funds

From The Seattle Post-Intelligence

The Ford foundation has announced it is appropriating $10,500,000 for a program to increase food production in India. As a private institution, and one which accomplishes a great deal of good, it has every right to spend its money as it sees fit. There are, however, many grave problems in this country the solution of which could be speeded by intelligently-spent money. In this connection, we believe the big foundations should be allowed tax exemption when they spend their funds in the United States, but that the tax-free status should be withdrawn for expenditures in foreign countries.

Here's a Dictionary of Home Building Terms

The homeowner with home improvement on his mind will find some of the following definitions important:

Brick Veneer — A brick wall built around a frame house to give the appearance of a brick house. Bricks are held to the wall by small pieces of metal affixed to the mortar and driven into the wood.

Bridging — Short braces between beams to hold them rigid. These can not often be seen in unfinished basement ceilings where they hold the floor joists in rigid position.

Building Paper — A tough tar or asphalt paper used to insulate and keep out drafts. Used under floors, around windows, doors, outside walls, under roofs, etc.

BX Cable — An armored cable used to protect electric wiring.

Concrete Block — Manufactured hollow or solid building blocks made of concrete.

Drain Tile — Clay or concrete pipe placed around the footing of a house to facilitate draining moisture away from the foundation.

Dry Wall — Also called sheet rock, a gypsum or plaster board panel that is factory made, probably 4x8 feet in unit size, and often used in place of the longer method of making plaster walls conventionally. The panels are simply assembled on the site and finished with a final coat of plaster.

Fire Brick — Brick used for stove, furnace and fireplace lining. It is highly infusible brick made from clay containing silica.

Flashing — Strips of metal used to make waterproof joints on a roof, especially around chimneys, and where one roof intersects another at an angle.

Footing — The base of a house below ground level which supports the exterior walls and any interior load-bearing walls. Usually concrete, sometimes stone.

Insulating Board — A factory-made fiber-like board of ten coated with an asphalt. Finished panels vary in size, are usually used behind the finished exterior walls.

Joist — The horizontal timbers to which the floor or ceiling is fastened.

Lintel — A horizontal member of wood, stone, angle iron or I-beam which supports a flat arch. A lintel supports bricks or stones over a fireplace opening, for example.

Load-Bearing Wall — Any wall which supports a load besides its own weight. For example, the wall of a room which carries some of the weight of the floor above it.

Metal Lath — An expanded wire metal which reinforces concrete or supports plaster in a wall.

Modular Brick — A brick size, larger than standard, which invites uniform size of the building in relation to other parts, and is laid more quickly. Usually 4x8x12 inches compared with the 2x4x8.

Rafter — The timbers which form the frame of the roof.

Ridge Pole — The ridge board which is a horizontal timber at the apex of the roof and to which are fastened the roof rafter.

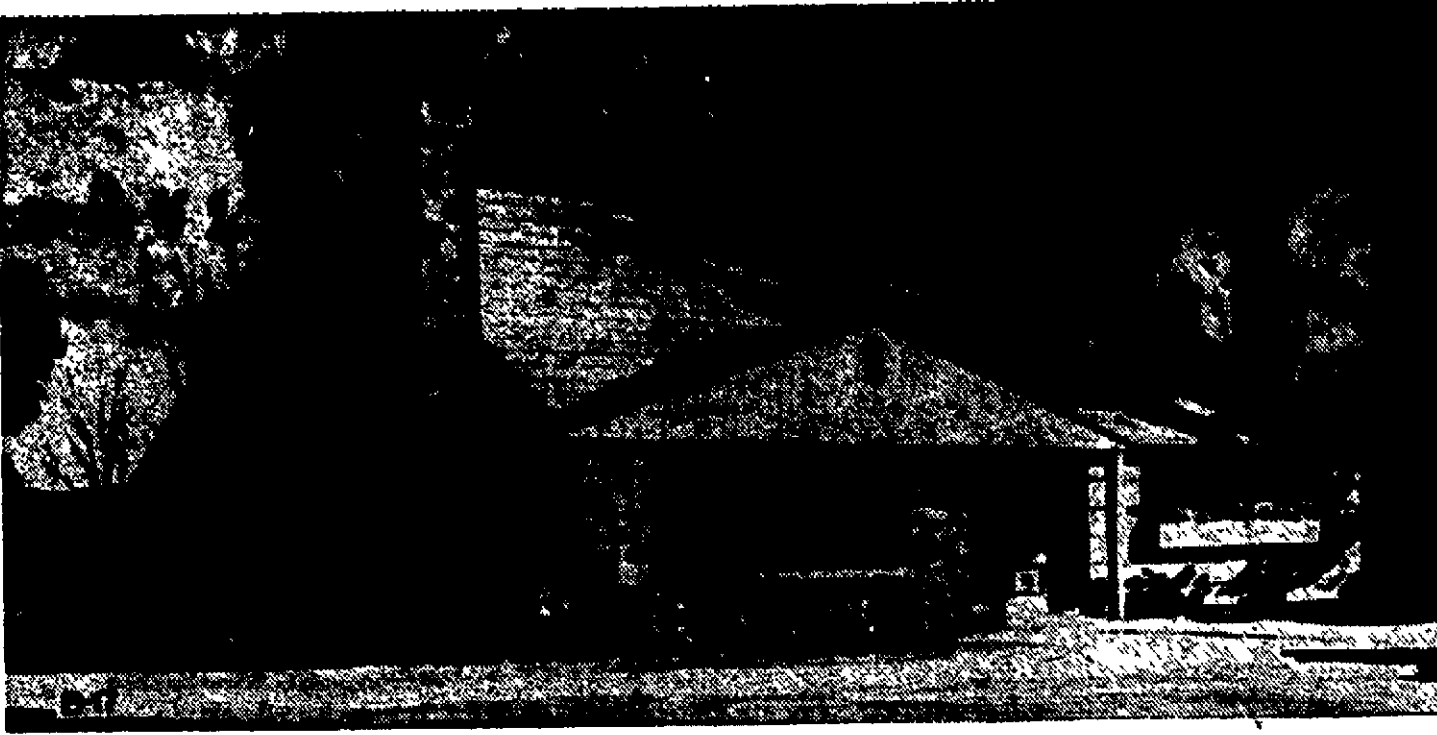

Sheathing — The boards used to enclose the walls, ceilings, roofs and sides of buildings.

Fire Brick — Brick used for stove, furnace and fireplace lining. It is highly infusible brick made from clay containing silica.

Flashing — Strips of metal used to make waterproof joints on a roof, especially around chimneys, and where one roof intersects another at an angle.

Footing — The base of a house below ground level which supports the exterior walls and any interior load-bearing walls. Usually concrete, sometimes stone.

Insulating Board — A factory-made fiber-like board of ten coated with an asphalt. Finished panels vary in size, are usually used behind the finished exterior walls.

With Two Bedrooms downstairs and another two up, this efficient Cape Cod provides maximum space for minimum cost. Trim roof line and lower-than-usual ridge yield a ground-hugging appearance usually found only in 1-story homes.

House of the Week Cost-Cutting Cape for Young Families

The basic essentials of comfortable living—with no expensive frills—are emphasized in this attractive Cape Cod.

It was designed by Architect Rudolph Matern with young families operating on moderate budgets particularly in mind.

The first floor alone admirably meets the living requirements of a family with one or possibly two small children. The half-story upstairs provides expansion space that can be finished later on to accommodate handsomely up to four children. The handyman father could finish the upstairs rooms himself—further cutting expenses.

Four Bedrooms

In its final form with four bedrooms and two complete bathrooms, B-17 in the House of the Week Series provides the greatest possible space for the least possible investment.

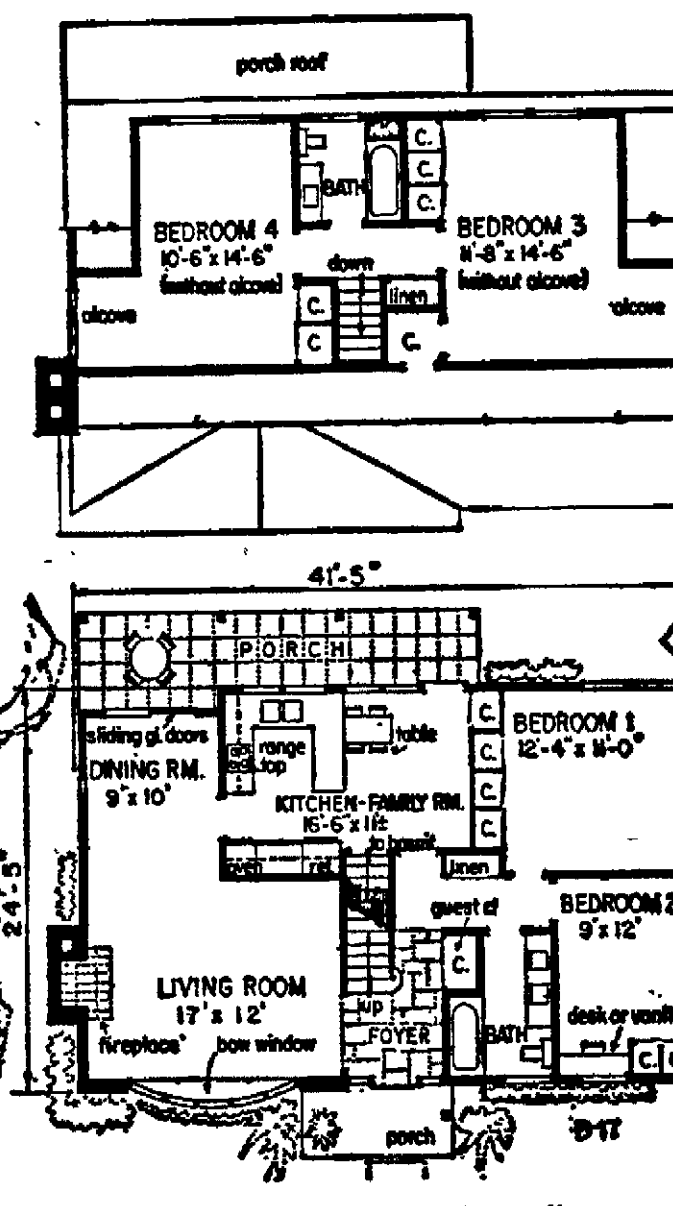

Compact over-all planning enables construction of this home on almost any lot. Total width is only 41' 5", which in most areas will present no zoning problems on a 60-foot building plot. The depth is in its original state. Varnish and other methods of making the sign look chic will alter the feel and look of the wood, and defeat the purpose of displaying your coffee table or wall decoration. The table's surface could be protected with glass, however, if you are a stickler for modern innovations.

Popular Signs

You may find a sign that bears your own name. Or there could be one around that strikes your fancy because it is unusual. Or maybe grandpa stashed away in the barn or attic an old shingle from his tavern, bakery, feed store or watch repair shop.

Popular signs at the New York Antiques Fair include those from bootery shops, banks, insurance offices, taverns. Materials needed to change a simple oblong sign into a coffee table, for instance, include four legs of brass, wrought iron or wood, four flanges, 16 screws, a screw driver and maybe a nail or two. The legs are the type that are available usually at local lumber shops.

Supplies Ample

The distribution system which keeps your home supplied with heating oil is safe and secure. Ample stocks of fuel oil are always in storage, says the Plumbing, Heating, Cooling Information bureau.

Survey Provides Clues To Home Heat Needs

"I want to add a family room to my house. Can I heat it with my present boiler?" This is a question which many householders are asking today when they are under pressure for additional living space. "Adding on" a family room has become one of the most popular modernization projects.

The exact answer to the question of whether the present heating plan will handle the additional load of a family room cannot be provided without a survey of the house and its present heating equipment.

Such a survey can be made by a plumbing and heating contractor and is usually provided without cost or obligation.

Fortunately in most cases existing boilers are adequate to carry the additional load imposed by a family room. Most boilers have reserve capacity that can be utilized. If no reserve capacity is available, other expedients may suggest themselves to the contractor making the survey. He may recommend insulation to reduce heat loss and thus enable the boiler to take care of the additional load.

Another possibility is better thermostatic control or zoning of the heating system to provide for lower temperatures in some parts of the house with the result that the existing boiler can take on more work.

Color Helps To Dress Up New Kitchens

High on "want lists" is an improved, modernized kitchen.

Some of the kitchens can be planned for a split design which will provide room for a dining area. Separate dining facilities in the kitchen save the homemaker time and effort, especially when the children look for a snack.

All kitchens should be bright and attractive. Breaking away from the traditional white, many of the newer kitchen plans stress interesting color combinations and eye-catching patterns.

Plans calling for contrasting decors create a feeling of greater spaciousness and call attention to the separate dining area.

32nd New Home Permit Issued

Kaukauna — The thirty-second new home permit of the year was issued Thursday by Lothar Kemp, building inspector, to Howard Paschen, 910 Crooks avenue, Kaukauna, putting the city three ahead of last year's pace when the twenty-ninth was issued on June 23.

A total of 52 new home permits were issued in 1959.

Peninsula Players Cancel Opening Date

Post-Crescent News Service

Fish Creek — The Peninsula Players of the theater-in-a-garden are facing bad troubles again.

They planned to open their 26th season June 28, but that is definitely off. Maybe — just maybe — they'll be able to get going early in July.

A month or so ago things began to look rosy for the players and conditions had been far from rosy for some time. For most of the last decade, in spite of successful seasons, the theater had crept deeper into the red.

Though facing a foreclosed mortgage (which, under Wisconsin law, does not become final till next Dec. 18) and a series of judgments against the theater on the part of a number of creditors, the corporation hired a new manager and began the task of assembling a company on painfully short notice.

Loyal Players
 Leo Luckner, whose name long has been associated with the Peninsula Players though he has not been around for the last two or three seasons, turned down some pretty impressive Broadway and touring parts to come back and act as director. Bill Munchow, a Lawrence grad, left television and other acting chores on the west coast to help out in the emergency.

In fact, last week saw many "old-timers" with the Peninsula Players flocking back in to the scene and many others were on the way as a bevy of newcomers and a top-notch group of technical people including designer Paul Gloss of Appleton.

Unfortunately, they came on faith. And while faith may move mountains, it won't pay bills.

This year Mrs. Caroline Fisher Rathbone, the producer and general manager, had not been able to come up with even the shoestring that the company operated on last season.

If the theater opens at all, the players cannot possibly be ready with their first production, "Make a Million," before July 3, missing the lucrative Fourth of July weekend.

Some of the actors may be in trouble with Equity, the professional actors' union, for arriving on a job for which no contract had been signed. There are other problems, but money seems to be the main one.

Placed on Probation For Cashing Bad Check

Arlen Friedrich, 25, Shawano, was placed on probation for a year today by Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede, after the man pleaded guilty of cashing a worthless $65 check. Friedrich admitted cashing the check at Red's Bar, 208 N. Richmond street. Sentence was withheld on condition that he make restitution.

Fox Cities Musicians Win Contests

Victories at Event In Green Bay Lead To Chicago Festival

Fox Cities area musicians and baton twirlers were among the people chosen Wednesday to represent Northwestern Wisconsin in the Chicago Land Music festival Aug. 20.

Winning Soloists
 Winning accordion soloists from the Fox Cities area were James Schavet and Marilyn Gosz, both of Menasha; Mary Pat Ver Voort, Kimberly; Jim Gerrits, Appleton; Terry Gorges, New London; Judy Van Wymeren, Little Chute, and Nancy Mueller, Bonnie Oswald and Debra Studley, all of Oshkosh.

Roger Becker, Oshkosh, won in the class AA accordion solo contest and also won the right to compete in the male popular vocalist contest in Chicago by being the only entrant in that category at Green Bay.

Judy Tschopp, Fond du Lac, a student at Wisconsin State college, Oshkosh, won the operatic vocal contest.

Baton winners include Karen and Virginia Seipel, Clinton; Maribeth Jill Hartwig, Seymour, and Gary Dorschner, Menasha.

Fire Hits Paint Department of Furniture Firm
 New Holstein — A fast-moving fire swept the paint department of the Kestell furniture factory today, forcing 12 persons to flee just before the room where they had been working was enveloped in flames.

No one was injured in the blaze, which broke out about 8:15 a.m. in a paint spray booth. Firemen said a short apparently occurred in the motor of a paint sprayer operated by Roland Daun of Charlesburg. He and 11 others in the room made a dash for the outside. They made it just as the entire room burst into flames.

New Holstein firemen brought the blaze under control and confined it to the south end of the factory near the downtown area.

The firm, owned by Orville Kestell, employs 35 persons. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

Nichols Bank Robbery Trio Sent to Prison

Earl Wing, Shiocton, Gets 15 Years; Woman Receives 5

Milwaukee — A Federal prison sentence was ordered today for two men and a woman convicted of attempted holdup of the Nichols State bank in Outagamie county last February.

U. S. District Judge Robert E. Tehan sentenced Earl Wing, 34, of Shiocton and Leonard Lepley, 23, of Milwaukee to 15-year terms. Mrs. Ann Schley, 36, of Milwaukee was given five years.

Routed Robber
 An assistant cashier routed Lepley, who had entered the bank with a shotgun. A flat tire slowed the getaway and the trio was rounded up several hours later.

Judge Tehan said Lepley went into the bank armed, and that since he was on parole for murder at the time, was capable of taking a human life.

Lepley asked for leniency for Mrs. Schley, his sweetheart, asserting that she merely accompanied the two men.

Judge Tehan told Wing that a "Chinese coolie" got better wages than Wing did in the 28 years he has spent in prison.

Fiberboard Needs Right Paint Base

Some Types Require Several Coats Of Sealer; Surface Should be Completely Clean Before Starting

BY ANDY LANG

Insulation board falls under the general dry-wall category of wallboard and is sometimes referred to as fiberboard. But no matter what its designation, insulation board has a porous surface and must be sealed before it is painted. If this is not done, there will be an uneven absorption of the paint, giving an unattractive mottled appearance to the surface.

In some types of insulation board, the paint absorption is so great that a single coat of sealer will not do the job. The sealer must dry to a uniform surface before it is safe to apply the paint. Once it is certain that the sealer has been effective, any regular wall paint — latex, oil or enamel — can be applied with good results.

Flat Top Coats
Semi-gloss and gloss enamels are recommended in bathrooms and kitchens where extra scrubability is desired. Flat topcoats are recommended for walls and ceilings.

As in all other painting jobs, the surface of the insulation must be clean before any coating is applied. Oil and grease can be removed with an odorless paint thinner.

Insulation board used on exteriors should be painted the same way as any outdoor surface. The first step is to apply a house paint primer as soon as the board is erected.

at a rate of not more than 450 square feet per gallon. As soon as the primer coat is dry, it should be followed by two topcoats of standard house paint. If brick or stone is lower on the wall, a non-chalking paint should be used to avoid staining the masonry.

Better Resistance
Sometimes insulation board is impregnated with asphalt to give it better moisture resistance. While this type is usually sold by request and therefore not the kind you us-

Keep Bath Cabinet From Being Hazard

Make certain your medicine cabinet is a health aid and not a hazard by checking it now. First, throw away old medicine particularly prescription-type. Age, even a few months, adversely affects medicines. A new illness, though having similar symptoms, may be entirely different from the previous one. All external poisonous medicines should be checked for plainly marked labels and placed on the top shelf, away from inquisitive tiny fingers. Don't guess the contents of bottles without labels. For safety's sake throw them away.

First Aid Needs
After old medications are disposed of, see that the cabinet contains basic necessities for first-aid treatment for minor accidents and illnesses. Minimum requirements are a clinical thermometer, aromatic spirits of ammonia, cotton, sterile bandages, adhesive bandages, antiseptic, burn ointment, rubbing alcohol, medicine dropper, tweezers, adhesive tape.

As an adjunct to your first aid supplies have the phone numbers of your doctor and local rescue squad or ambulance service by each phone and a copy pasted inside the medicine chest door.

Applying Caulking

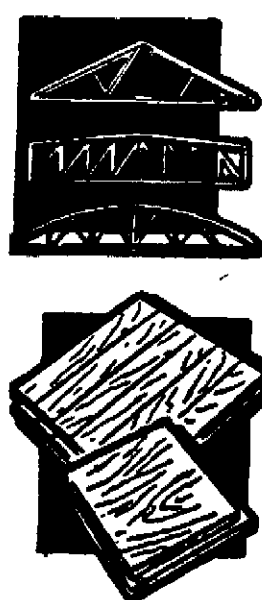

Remove old and dry caulking before applying a new supply. Make sure the surface to be covered is dry. In order for the caulking to adhere, see that all dirt and dust are eliminated.

Three New Coating machines will eventually be installed in Appleton Coated Paper company's new addition. One will be erected immediately after the expected Nov. 1 completion date and start production in January, 1961. The south 110 feet of the $300,000 addition will be a huge base stock storage warehouse, measuring 55 feet from basement floor to ceiling. The north 280 feet will be the machine room, and there will be storage of finished products in the basement.

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: I understand there are fuses on the market that do not have to be thrown away when they burn out. My hardware dealer says he knows nothing about them. Can you tell me whether there are such fuses?

ANSWER: Your hardware dealer may or may not have the kind of fuses you probably mean, but even if he did, he might be a bit confused by your description of them. The reason why this type of fuse does not have to be thrown away is that it does not burn out. Instead, when there is a short circuit or an overload, a break occurs inside the fuse.

much as with a circuit breaker. With the fuse, you push a button and the break is reset. With a circuit breaker, you operate a switch for the resetting. Thus, the gadget you are talking about is closer to a circuit breaker than it is to a fuse. But whatever you choose to call it, it probably can be obtained easily by your dealer if he does not already have it. It is important, no matter what kind of fuse or circuit breaker you use, to find out what caused the trouble in the first place.

QUESTION: I have heard that squeaks in wooden floors can be effectively treated with talcum powder. Is this true?

ANSWER: Only to a degree. If the squeaks are minor, they sometimes can be silenced by sprinkling powder between the seams at the points where the noise occurs. But this is only a temporary measure. After a time, the squeaks return.

Tiny Lounging Chair Formed By Two Willow Twigs, Wire

BY CAPPY DICK

To make the miniature lounging chair shown in Figure 3, use two green willow twigs. They can be bent easily into graceful loops as in Figure 1. Two loops are needed for one chair. You will also need some fine wire. One twig should be a foot long, the other an inch shorter. Bend the shorter twig into a curve to form the back of the chair and the front legs. To hold it in that shape, wind a piece of wire around the two prongs at the point where the back of the chair will join the seat as in Figure 3. That is what the boy is doing in Figure 2. Cut several short pieces of twig and attach them with fast-drying glue to the curved sides of the back as in Figure 1. Bend the 12-inch twig into a similar curve, using wire to hold it in shape. Glue it to the back of the chair. Slip the prongs of this piece inside the back of the chair as in Figure 3. The prongs will form the back legs of the chair. Use several turns of wire to hold the front and back legs together where they cross. When the glue has dried you will have a miniature rustic easy chair all your friends will admire. (Copyright, 1960)

Wire and willow twigs are made into a small easy chair.

Company Offers Do-It-Yourself Fluoridation

People who want their water fluoridated can do it themselves—with a few drops of a fluoride preparation called Les-Cav, purchased with a doctor's prescription. The liquid, a tasteless concentrate of sodium fluoride, is being introduced by Crookes - Barnes Laboratories, Wayne, N.J. It will be available on prescription by doctors and dentists in states where water fluoridation is deficient. These states are New York, New Jersey, Oregon, Washington, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Michigan and California. It will be introduced in other states later. Instructions for use of Les-Cav will be given by the prescribing doctor. Fluoridated water, some medical and dental authorities claim, reduces the incidence of tooth decay. However, in many areas, the addition of fluorine to public water supplies has been opposed successfully.

Pay Check

BY EMILY POST
Dear Mrs. Post: I am a woman executive in a large company, and very often it is necessary for me to take men customers to lunch. The men always seem embarrassed to have me pay the check and often try to pick it up themselves. This creates a very awkward situation. Can you offer a solution to this problem?
Answer: Usually companies open accounts in several restaurants so that their executives can sign when the waiters present their bills. As your company evidently has not done this, the best thing is to say as you pay the check, "You are my company's guest, and this goes on my expense account."

Guest in White

I have just learned that my sister-in-law intends to wear a white dress to the wedding. I am quite put out over this as I have always thought that the bride was the only one dressed in white. Will you please tell me whether or not I am wrong in thinking that she is being discourteous to me by choosing a white dress?
Answer: I think it would definitely be more thoughtful and kinder of her to choose a color other than white. However, if her dress in no way resembles

A Lovelier You
By Mary Sue Miller

Let a Hat be Your 'Sunbrella'

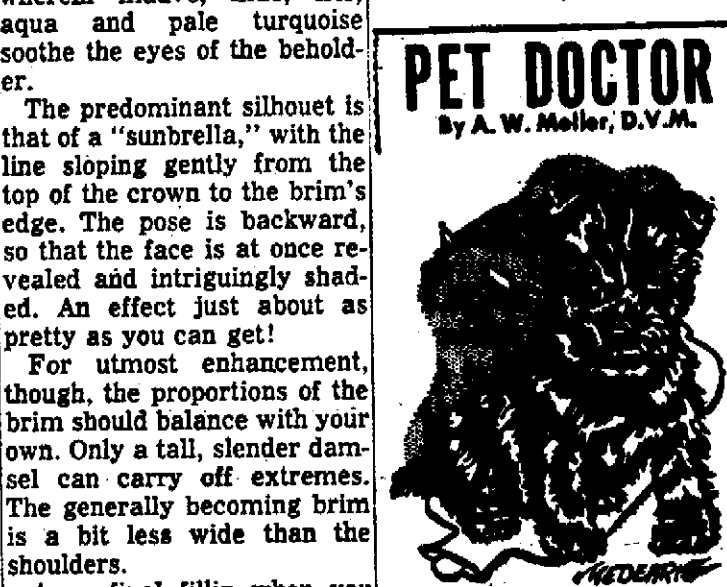

Summer hats cast a shadow—they are that large. More-over, they are beautiful, flat-tering and add a flourish to this year's spare and bare fashions.

Made of airy materials—silk shantung, lacy straw cloth, or-gandy over straw supple mil-lan—these hats have a zephyr-lightness on the head. Their colorings are inspired by the cool, pastel palette of Monet, wherein mauve, lilac, iris, aqua and pale turquoise soothe the eyes of the behol-der.

The predominant silhouet is that of a "sunbrella," with the line sloping gently from the top of the crown to the brim's edge. The pose is backward, so that the face is at once re-vealed and intriguingly shad-ed. An effect just about as pretty as you can get!

For utmost enhancement, though, the proportions of the brim should balance with your own. Only a tall, slender dam-sel can carry off extremes. The generally becoming brim is a bit less wide than the shoulders.

As a final filip when you wear a sunbrella of a hat, ac-cent your eyes with mauve shadow and your lips with a rosy hue. Then prepare to re-ceive a hatful of compliments. This fashion is something for the boys!

WE ARE ONE YEAR OLD!

As most of our friends and customers know our store does not partici-pate in frequent or constant sales. The money we save on expensive advertising and promotions we feel is put to better use by increasing our quality and maintaining our regular low prices.

However, to show our appreciation for the patronage that has made the past year a success we are having an anniversary sale.

We are not overstocked, we don't have to move and we won't be giving anything away but every piece of merchandise on our 8,000 sq. ft. of floor space will be reduced to save you money.

Fine name brands such as Karpen, Artbilt, Flexsteel, Furniture City, Nemschoff, Philco, Speed Queen, Lloyd, Pontiac, Madewell, United, Kroeh-ler, Vermont, Hoover and many others is represented in our stock.

Some of our slow movers will be reduced far below cost for the early customers. All merchandise is our regular stock.

The sale will start on Monday, June 27th and continue until closing time June 30th. We will be open from 8:00 in the morning until 9:00 at night.

Whether or not you are in the market for furniture, carpet or appli-ances, come in and look over our nice stock. We will be very pleased to see you.

Sincerely,
Bob Turkow and Family

Retailers Assure Upswing in Fall Market

By KATHY REARDON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Chicago—Predictions indicate that the fall home furnishings business, with a greater effort in selling required, will be as good as 1959, its best year. In fact, Roscoe R. Rau, executive vice president of the National Retail Furniture association, predicts an overall increase of 2 per cent over last year's market.

Speaking at the final Merchandise Mart press conference Thursday morning during the International Home Furnishings market, Rau said, "We are in the midst of a very successful mid-summer manufacturer-wholesaler-retailer event. It's a normal market. All the factors that go to make up this fantasmagoria of home goods buyer-seller contacts have developed according to a realistic but economically sound trend."

This increase will put the home goods sales volume figure for 1960 at over $7 billion according to department of commerce figures for 1959.

Agree on Outlook

Rau's contemporaries at the conference, Ralph H. Straub, vice president and general merchandise manager of Stix, Baer and Fuller company, St. Louis, Mo.; F. H. Dilg, home furnishings merchandising manager for Montgomery Ward and company, and Thomas D. Woodrum, Jr., general manager of Woodrum Home Outfitting company, Charleston, W. Va., agreed that so far this year, retail business has not been up to expectations in either volume or profit.

Poor weather, tight money, an election year, discount houses and foreign competition were some factors in the leveling off of retail volume. Straub advised stores to approach the fall season with cautious optimism, but with a positive attitude and imbued conviction that they can do at least as well as 1959.

Trade Up Merchandise

In discussing his market views, Straub emphasized the point of trading up merchandise. "Customers are buying better quality, their tastes continue to improve, they have more culture, a greater interest in art, music, fine food, entertainment and better living in general," he advised retailers to study and interpret the upward shifting of price lines in the market, to check competition and to approach trading up as part of a fashion effort.

"Someone forgot to inform the consuming public that the 'fabulous sixties' were expected to commence with spring, 1960, therefore customers failed rather miserably in carrying out their obligations to the merchandising fraternity," added Montgomery Ward's spokesman.

Stating that the merchants were all set for an orderly return to the "good old days," Dilg pointed out that advertising programs became more institutional and that better mark-up was the initial pattern at all levels.

Rules must be changed, he said, to satisfy the requirements of new markets. Old notions of store images have been broken down by the increase of convenience shopping, meaning shopping in suburban centers.

Changing Image
"The image required today is one of value and convenience when the consumer decides to buy," Dilg stated. "Aggressive and constant promotion are daily requirements for guaranteeing day-in, day-out acceptance."

Another problem facing retailers brought out at the meeting was that of getting and training the right personnel. Thus, added emphasis has been placed on educational programs, clinics and forums on advertising and operating cost warehousing for merchants.

The problems of selection of styles also looms because of the vast array of new offerings.

In commenting about what their trade had to offer prospective buyers, the four men agreed that elegance was the keyword in today's markets. Fashion, good taste, sophistication and quality are present at all price levels. "You don't find much in poor taste anymore," added Straub.

The home furnishings industry this year combines accomplishments in design and technology with dramatically better values in both quality and esthetics.

Although merchants at various levels disagree as to their most popular styles and points of interest, they all put their eggs into one basket when stressing the "no frills, no gadgets" items for this year's home furnishings.

The Modern Lines of This graceful loveseat are richly complemented by the filigree design of the woven fabric. The loveseat rests on a mahogany frame and legs and has an attached foam back pillow and foam seat cushion for maximum comfort.

Blendings Capture Spotlight at Fall Furnishings' Show

Chicago — Blendings of modern with old, bright colors and pale and styles of various eras is the forecast for fall furnishings and are very much in evidence at the International Home Furnishings market in progress at the Merchandise Mart here.

Bright colors play an important part in home furnishings and include bright reds, greens, royal blues and purples. Elegance is the keyword in color use and the royal tones accent decor with a pleasing result. Beige tones, greens and corals, however, have not lost their popularity to the brighter innovations.

Startling blendings, once frowned upon for their monotony or starkness, now have reached a high peak in home furnishings and have a strong impact on this fall's fashion and buying patterns.

Colors Also Pale
Colors are also pale — called chalktones for their whitened-out look. They feature new trends toward orange called melon, copper and sienna, and toward royal purple, called venetian violet, mauve and lavender. There is an entire range of whites — from pure white to go-with shades of oyster, ivory, cream and snow.

Draperies have an overall look of absolute luxury. Clear primary colors spice pale backgrounds and larger-than-life patterns decorate the richly textured lines. Florals appear in small blossoms on slender stems and gold, over-size flowers. The mood is exuberant in vivid bouquets or stately in stylized spallier designs.

There is also a handsome group of scenes in lavish detail: Some with a definite Oriental cast, others with a Romanesque feeling. The cloth is usually a satin-type, non-textured variety.

Bond, random stripes, richly colored in both muted and brilliant East Indian hues, characterize many draperies, all keyed to attracting the housewife's eye this fall.

New Color Concept
Also being shown is a new concept of color coordination that takes its key from a woman's own coloring and builds the color scheme of her home around it. This ties together the newest, high-style trends — not only in home furnishings, but in clothing and coiffures, as well. Designers went on the premise that most women dress in the colors that are becoming to them but seldom consider this factor when they plan the color scheme for their own home. "Every woman is the focal point of her home" and here, of all places, the background should show her off to best advantage," stated one decorator.

In furniture settings, a combination of butternut and hackberry veneer was introduced by one designer and featured cane panels which could be reversed to solid wood panels as the householder desired. Maple and various shades of cherry also are capturing the buyer's eye.

Conventional chairs are upholstered in bright hues which add sparkle to the decor. Multicolored stripes in muted tones, also brilliant ones of peacock blue and ruby, set the stage for easy, comfortable and fashionable living.

New Collection
A furnishing innovation, the new Palazzo collection, is set to be unveiled nationwide this fall. Here is rich variety and subtle refinement in the fabrics, draperies and furniture. One designer even went so far as to carry the theme to ash trays and waste baskets.

The carpet industry is enthusiastic about the strong comeback of wool. Heavy textures are in the spotlight in the new carpet styles being shown. Extra-thick pile, long loops, bulky yarns and shaggy type cuts are now the star attraction. Carpets definitely have a more traditional flavor.

Classic groups are the trend and a close look at the market bears out this feeling. The number of imported lamp bases—lead cut crystals, alabasters, decapage, bristols, wrought metals, and Florentine woods is astonishing.

Utmost simplicity to the point of quiet elegance is the basic pattern of all new designs, both in furniture and accessories, being introduced. Gone are the frills and fast sell gadgets of past years. Consumers are more interested in value, and they're getting it.

Your Problems

Sloppy Woman Proves Eyesore To Other Workers in Office

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: We are a group of girls who work in a large Chicago loop office.

There is one among us who defies description. She is so unkempt and sloppy that you just can't believe a career girl would go around like this.

The woman doesn't wear stockings from April through September. When it rains she has mud on her legs for weeks at a time. Her clothes look as if they were picked up off the closet floor. Her hair is a tangled mess of knots and snarls.

She's an eyesore in our lovely office and we don't know what to do about it. There's no firing her because she has a great deal of seniority and her work is pretty fair. What shall we do?—Co-Workers

DEAR Co-Workers: The most mature and gentle woman in the office should have a heart-to-heart talk with the "eyesore" and lay it on the line in unmistakable language.

DEAR ANN: I've failed completely to get through to my husband. Maybe if you print this letter it will do some good.

About a year ago we hired a free-lance contractor to make some improvements on our home. The work was third-rate and most of the time the hired men didn't show up so the contractor came himself.

He knew less than the morons he sent as "skilled workers." After three months of putting up with amateur workmanship my husband literally threw him out of the house and hired a first-rate contractor to re-do the botched job and finish the place. Unfortunately, we had paid the first man a chunk of money in advance, which was like throwing it in the sewer.

My husband can't get over his anger at being taken in by a cheap crook. It has made him almost crazy. He's determined to get even by phoning him to a head doctor where he can articulate his feelings of hate and get this poison out of his system.

DEAR ANN: You hear from many wives who cry all over themselves because their husbands run around. Here's a new twist for your column. I think it would do a lot of these cheating husbands good to know that all wives are not as dumb as they look. It might also be good for the "other woman" to know that a cheater is usually a liar, as well.

I'm married to a handsome heel who has made a hobby of collecting women for the past 15 years. The older the dirty dog get, the more attractive he becomes. Women go crazy over him and leave their husbands. Then he gets scared and comes running home to me.

I've prayed a dozen times that the next dizzy dame who gets mixed up with him will keep him—but no such luck. He comes crawling back like a naughty puppy. I could live without him very well, but apparently he can't live without me.—Stuck

To learn the difference between a marriage that "settles down" and one that "gets dull," send for Ann Landers' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Mrs. Schwarzbauer

Say Vows in

Illinois

Ceremony

A honeymoon in Nassau and the Bahamas is planned by Lt. Joseph W. Schwarzbauer and his bride, the former Miss Mary Lou Maier. The couple was married in an 11 a.m. ceremony Saturday at St. Joseph church, Marseilles, Ill., the Rev. John Loughlin officiating.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Maier, Marseilles, Ill., was given in marriage by her father. Lt. Schwarzbauer, formerly of 82 Foster court, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George F. Schwarzbauer, Menasha.

Mrs. Richard Parizek, Milwaukee, attended the bride as matron of honor. Miss Billie Mae Conerton, Marseilles, Ill.; Mrs. C. Melvin Hughes, Fort Madison, Iowa, and Miss Margaret Kimmel, Gary, Ind., were bridesmaids.

Edward Pawlowski, Chicago, was best man. Joseph Maier, George Wood and Joseph Zabaitas, all of Chicago, served as ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Prairie Lake Hunt club, Marseilles. The bride attended Rosary College and is a graduate of Marquette university. She was affiliated with Sigma Tau Delta, national English sorority. Her husband graduated from Campion High school and Loyola university, Chicago. The couple will live in Dover, New Jersey, where Lt. Schwarzbauer is serving in the U.S. Army.

Mrs. Schwarzbauer

Say Vows in

Illinois

Ceremony

A honeymoon in Nassau and the Bahamas is planned by Lt. Joseph W. Schwarzbauer and his bride, the former Miss Mary Lou Maier. The couple was married in an 11 a.m. ceremony Saturday at St. Joseph church, Marseilles, Ill., the Rev. John Loughlin officiating.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Maier, Marseilles, Ill., was given in marriage by her father. Lt. Schwarzbauer, formerly of 82 Foster court, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George F. Schwarzbauer, Menasha.

Mrs. Richard Parizek, Milwaukee, attended the bride as matron of honor. Miss Billie Mae Conerton, Marseilles, Ill.; Mrs. C. Melvin Hughes, Fort Madison, Iowa, and Miss Margaret Kimmel, Gary, Ind., were bridesmaids.

Edward Pawlowski, Chicago, was best man. Joseph Maier, George Wood and Joseph Zabaitas, all of Chicago, served as ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Prairie Lake Hunt club, Marseilles. The bride attended Rosary College and is a graduate of Marquette university. She was affiliated with Sigma Tau Delta, national English sorority. Her husband graduated from Campion High school and Loyola university, Chicago. The couple will live in Dover, New Jersey, where Lt. Schwarzbauer is serving in the U.S. Army.

This Author Beat With Own Advice

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Sometimes I wish I had taken up ditch-digging instead of writing about bridge. At the end of a day's digging, I would look at my work and feel satisfied; it wouldn't rear up and bite me the way my bridge columns sometimes do. If you're wondering how a bridge column can bite anybody, look at this hand, played by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lev-

lt. of Wilmington, Del., in the Eastern Mixed Pair Championship a few weeks ago. Levitt opened the five of clubs from the West hand, and declarer won in dummy with the king. Declarer innocently led the three of hearts from dummy, and Mrs. Levitt smiled politely at this attempt at larceny.

Breaks Rule
The rule says to play second hand low, but Mrs. Levitt knew enough to break the rule. She stepped up with the king of hearts to lead a diamond.

Now South had to lose a diamond in addition to the two hearts and a trump. Down one, and the Levitts won the Mixed Pair Championship for the second year in a row.

You can see what may happen if East fails to step up with the king of hearts. West must win the trick with the ace of hearts. That's the way it went at many other tables, and South was usually able to set up the queen of hearts in time to discard a diamond from the dummy. Then it wasn't necessary to lose a diamond trick.

What has all this to do with digging ditches and biling? It's very simple. Both years the Levitts nosed me and my wife out of that Mixed Pair Championship, and they thanked me for my book on the Kaplan-Shelnwald System (which they play) and for my bridge articles (which they read every day). I'd have been better off if they had never learned to read.

I may yet have to start calling a spade a shovel.

Designing Woman

BY ELIZABETH HILLIER

Long Room Divided Becomes Two

A long, narrow room agreed to the idea of working overtime as two rooms immediately as weaver-designer Madge Friedman added a most ingenious divider wall at a right angle to its lengthiest dimension. A dressing room was created, and a bathroom door was shielded from the living room view.

One side of the wall Miss Friedman designed presents a handsome wood paneled front to background her dining table, and includes a drop-down refreshment bar, often used for buffet meal serving. The other side of the wall is a closet complete with hanging pole section and a wealth of drawers with a mirror above them, plus extra storage space behind doors, as the inset sketch shows.

The alcove at left locates Miss Friedman's looms where she designs and produces distinctive fabrics. Out of view in the foreground is a sofa and behind it is a big window for which she wove a striking shade of yarns and bamboo slats.

Tall slow-burning candles in glass of several colors shed a fascinating glow from the top of the wall on a delightful color scheme. The walls are bone white, the chair and ottoman are teal blue, the sofa is black and the deep, shaggy rug is a surprise in bright red. Paintings in brilliant colors repeat and sharpen and add to the room colors.

Miss Friedman's idea for the handsome remodeling of her apartment points out the possibilities of partitioning a room and building a closet and furniture at the same time. A wall needn't reach the ceiling when the ceiling is high, or extend wall-to-wall to be wonderfully effective.

Avoid the costly mistake of buying furniture that doesn't fit—find out exactly what sizes to buy before shopping. This is easy to do with the help of Elizabeth Hillier's FURNITURE ARRANGEMENT KIT. You simply draw plans of your rooms on the special floor plan paper as instructed, then try on furniture cut-outs from the 126 provided and the sizes of those that fit tell the sizes of those that fit tell the sizes of actual furniture. Enclose, please, 50 cents with your request to Miss Hillier at this newspaper. Please allow approximately 3 weeks for mail delivery.

FOR OLD TIRED LINOLEUM

It's so easy to put new wear and life in old linoleum. A bright shining coat of Glaxo is the answer.

A Glaxo floor is glass like in appearance, yet is non-slip. It practically cares for itself since it seals out dirt and a wash of the mop is all that's necessary. You don't wax a Glaxo floor. Make the old linoleum do with Glaxo. Gloucians Dept. Store

Four scouts from Little Chute will leave for the camp by bus from the village hall on Wednesday. Two scouts from Kaukauna will meet the bus at Park school. Four girls from Weyauwega, Ida, Waubesa and Scandinavia will meet the bus at the New London hotel, New London.

In Green Bay, eight girls will meet the bus at the Greyhound Bus depot. One scout from Shawano will take the bus from Hotel Bilmay, Shawano.

Our Children Child's Play Means Spontaneous Activity

BY ANGELO PATRI
Play is instinctive in children. It is nature's way of inducing them to grow physically and mentally in sound health. All adults accept play as essential for the "little" children. After kindergarten age this instinctive play is not encouraged. We begin to prescribe games and exercises and the children are no longer permitted free choice. They are directed and supervised.

This is necessary, the school authorities believe, for safety and for educational purposes. Crowded conditions in big city schools may justify the "safety" idea but, in my opinion, not the directed and supervised games, labelled play. Truthfully they are work both for the children and the teachers.

Play in its true sense means spontaneous fun-inspired activity and mental exercise of the creative kind which, of course, is the highest sort of work. When the mind is free to work the worker is at play. He knows no fatigue while working. Only a joy-giving stimulation. That is what the play of children of all ages should be—creative and free.

Simple Equipment
My idea of a school playground does not at all meet that of the regular sort. Mine is an outdoor sort. It is a good-sized space protected by a hedge or fence, the fence preferred. Around the borders of the place there are booths, shelters like shops to be used by the children. The equipment is simple consisting of the things children like to use in free play. For the small fry bits of wood and boxes, housekeeping materials, simple tools. For

Tell Winners of Junior Golfing

Junior golfers at Riverview Country club competed in categorized events Thursday morning. All players discounted the hole on which they tallied the highest number of strokes.

Division winners were Miss Betsy Freschl, 3 holes; John Gall, Jr., 5 holes; Tom Keane, 7 holes, and Greg Joseph, 9 holes. An approach shot was sunk by Steve Cloud.

Activities and something must be done to fill this play need. Why not the Adventure playground, to borrow the term used for it in England where it is being used. In the few places where it is being tried here, or has been, it is known as the shop-play-ground.

Angelo Patri offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning child training. If you would like to have his leaflet P-23, "The Record in the open all year they can be a wonderfully good influence on the children. Modern homes are too small for the wide span of children's ac-

Japan at Fault In Cancellation Of Ike's Trip

Could Not Retain Control During Demonstrations

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — What really happened in Japan—and who was at fault? The headlines say Sec. of State Herter now concedes that an "error" was made and that the information as to what might be expected from the mobs if President Eisenhower went to Japan led to a "misjudgment."

When a secretary of state testifies before the senate foreign relations committee, he can hardly accuse a friendly government of committing errors. Yet the all-important fact is that the government of Japan was not able to maintain law and order and was not capable of assuring the safety of a foreign dignitary whom it had invited for an official visit.

In the midst of Japan's humiliation, it was embarrassing for the American secretary of state to be asked to fix the blame. It was much better for him to do as he did—to take the blame himself for misjudgment.

Rising Hostility
The story of the events leading up to the withdrawal of the invitation to the president now is very clear. The Japanese government hoped that there would be no disturbances. The newspapers reported hostility and threats of demonstrations, but the Japanese government was reluctant to admit or to recognize the danger.

Even when presidential press Secretary James Hagerly was surrounded by a mob in Tokyo, there was a feeling that the communists had done their worst and would not actually prevent the Eisenhower visit. Stories began to be circulated that there was a possibility that the president's life might be endangered. To refuse to go would put Mr. Eisenhower in the position of being afraid. It would also imply that the United States couldn't rely on the Japanese government to maintain order.

Some now say that the president shouldn't have agreed to go in the first place. But the invitation was extended at a time when Khrushchev was on friendly terms with the United States. Why couldn't the president have cancelled the trip immediately after the "summit" conference in Paris collapsed? If he had done so, he would have disappointed the peoples of the Philippines, Formosa and Korea. He could hardly have gone to some far eastern countries allied with us and not to Japan.

Mr. Eisenhower was ready

Shamrock Wins to Remain in City Softball Title Chase

Kaukauna — Shamrock bar remained in the running for the first half championship of the City Softball league Wednesday night by scoring three runs in the top of the seventh to take a 5-2 win over Badger Northland.

The winners have a record of four wins and one defeat while the losers have won five and lost two. The second game saw Peter's and Coenen's bar, a team with a 3-1 mark, decision Kappell's tavern, with a 3-3 record, 12 to 8.

Shamrock scored in the first inning on two walks, a fielder's choice and a single and added a second run in the fifth on a walk and a triple by Mike Rohe. The three runs in the top of the last inning came on four consecutive singles.

The losers scored a run in the second on a homer by Dick Andrews and scored another in the seventh on two walks and an error. Bill Simon, winning hurler, allowed only three hits while Marcel Lamers, losing hurler, allowed seven hits.

Second Contest
Peter and Coenen won the second game on errors as the winners tallied 10 runs in the second inning on four singles, six errors and a walk. A triple by Lloyd Baeten and a single added a run in the fourth and the final tally came in the seventh on a walk, a single and a sacrifice fly.

The losers scored a run in the first on a walk and two singles and added four in the second on four walks, two errors and a single. An error, walk and fielder's choice was good for a run in the fifth and two runs scored in the last of the seventh on five walks and a fielder's choice.

The losers managed four hits but were aided by 16 walks. The winners had 11 hits.

135 Students at Kimberly Take Summer School

Kimberly — Summer school opened this week at Kimberly with 96 students enrolled in conversational French and 39 in personal typing class. Neither course carries school credits.

Mean Joke Made Wisconsin Poet Laughing Stock of Whole World

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

One of the meanest tricks ever played upon a human being made an international laughing stock of a Wisconsin poet, Elbert Smith.

House though an unkind, joke. One of his works, "Black Hawk" was printed in Putnam's magazine with these comments, all with tongue in cheek:

"In many respects it stands alone and pre-eminent, a model of dogged industry, a peculiarity in artistic effort, a curiosity in American literature. 'Who reads an American book?' has been asked sneeringly. But who WRITES an American book like 'Black Hawk' might be inquired with a more eager desire, and posterity will turn to the title page and answer—Elbert H. Smith."

Literary Curiosity

Such hidden ridicule was honey to the taste of poor Elbert. It sent him back to his pen to write more and more of his atrocious work. And the world laughed, calling him "the Wisconsin bard."

"Black Hawk"

"Black Hawk" went like this:
The Indian, on the high bluff stood!
Alone, and nobody around him.
Save tenants of the ancient wood,
That always did surround him.
He folded his arms and lit his pipe
And smoked awhile to ease him,
And took a long, last look about,
On things most like to please him.
He took a good look of the village and town
With its thousands of houses and people;
And cast his bold eye up and down
O'er many a mansion and steeple.
Then folding his blanket

Like Mushroom

In Chicago, he was wildly and laughingly acclaimed as a great poet. From there, he reported: "I received a diploma on parchment, as handsome and as well got up as a diploma need be, and resolutions were put, exalting me to the skies and almost murdering me with praise."

Over the Bluff

Editors rushed into print with sarcastic praise, like "He gathered his blanket tight" (to prevent himself from resembling a spread eagle in his descent), and taking one step he flung himself. He had taken a comfortable smoke; made all the necessary observations on life, death, etc., amused himself with his eyes for awhile, and then all was over—of course we mean over the bluff."

Motorists Pay Fines At Police Station

Kaukauna — Two motorists signed waivers stipulating guilt to traffic charges and posted fines of $10 at the police station Wednesday.

Leo L. Kampen, 608 S. Lee street, Appleton, was arrested for parking in a restricted area at an intersection and Jack W. Gruenke, 20, 1426 N. Meade street, Appleton, was arrested for failing to stop for an arterial.

Jury Disallows Allegations of False Arrest

Appleton Man Must Pay Actual, Not Punitive Damages

A circuit court jury Thursday disallowed a Florida man's false arrest allegations against his former business associate after a trial before Judge Andrew Parnell.

The jury ruled that Edwin Schroeder, 1716 W. Packard street, had probable cause to sign a criminal complaint against Fred Hasche, 37, of Boynton Beach, Fla., and that Schroeder was not prompted by malice. The finding said Schroeder gave a full and fair account of the details of the action to the district attorney before the complaints were signed.

Hasche was awarded $1,500 for actual damages. However, the jurors ruled there were no punitive damages. Hasche had asked for actual and punitive damages to recover expenses, loss of income and damage to his reputation.

Charged Embezzlement Schroeder, on June 5 and July 1, 1958, charged Hasche with embezzlement of funds and misappropriation of certain equipment and materials which were a part of the plumbing firm in which they had been associated. Schroeder accused Hasche of taking $3,547 of their firm's assets including eight checks totaling $1,675, plumbing equipment worth $1,240, tools worth $262 and ovens worth $368.

Hasche pleaded innocent at his arraignment Sept. 4, 1958, and on Sept. 11, 1958, Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede at a preliminary hearing dismissed all 11 counts.

Schroeder was represented by the law firm of Urban P. Van Susteren and Edward R. Bollenbeck, Attys. Henry P. Hughes, Oshkosh, and James R. Joyce, Appleton, represented Hasche.

Schwalbach Will Seek Seat Held By G. J. Hipke

Chilton — A town of Harrison man, Paul Schwalbach, route 4, Appleton, has taken out nomination papers for county's state assembly seat now held by G. J. Hipke, New Holstein Republican.

Schwalbach, a Democrat, was defeated in two previous general election campaigns after winning the party nomination. To date he faces no opposition on the Democratic slate.

Incumbent Hipke has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination.

Arrested by Oshkosh Police After 2-Car Crash Early Today

Oshkosh — Richard Boese, 21, 921 Harne avenue, Oshkosh, was fined $150 for drunken driving today by acting Municipal Judge Floyd D. Altherton. Boese's driver's license was revoked for one year.

Boese was arrested by Oshkosh police at 1:21 a.m. today after a two car accident at Jackson street and High avenue in which a traffic light pole was knocked over.

Boese tested .18 on the breathalyzer.

36-Year-Old Father Of Eight Collapses, Dies While Working

John G. Van Deurzen, 36, of 311 Reaume avenue, Kaukauna, the father of eight children, collapsed and died about 12:45 a.m. today while working at the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company mill in Kaukauna.

Outagamie county Coroner Bernard Kemps said death was due to natural causes. He said Van Deurzen had a history of heart trouble.

Van Deurzen was taken in the Kaukauna ambulance to Kaukauna Community hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

He was born in Combined Locks Feb. 28, 1924. A World War II veteran, he worked at Thilmany since 1944.

Funeral services will be at 9 a.m. Monday at St. Mary Catholic church, Kaukauna, with burial in St. Mary cemetery. Friends may call after 7 p.m. Saturday at Greenwood Funeral home, Kaukauna, where the rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Surviving are the widow; four daughters, Ann Marie, Leora, Mary Ellen and Terri, all at home; four sons, Philip, Richard, John and Martin, all at home; five brothers, Robert and James, both of Little Chute, Eugene and Irvin, both of Kaukauna, and Paul, Combined Locks, and five sisters, Mrs. William Junk, Mrs. Harold Ladwig, Mrs. Ray Stoudt and Mrs. Robert Stoudt, all of Manitowish.

Today's Deaths

Mrs. Edmund Weber

Mrs. Edmund Weber, 60, route 2, New Holstein, died unexpectedly at her home Wednesday. She was born June 12, 1900, in Germany, and came to the United States in 1927. She spent the remainder of her life in Calumet county.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Mary Catholic church, Marytown, with burial in the church cemetery. Friends may call after 2 p.m. today at the Erbe-Hoffmann Funeral home, New Holstein, where the rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today.

Survivors include the widow; two daughters, Anna-belle, at home, and Mrs. Charles Leonard, Green Bay, and three sons, Michael, Edmund, Jr., and Alfred, all at home.

Mrs. Edward Otto

Mrs. Edward Otto, 78, formerly of Stephenville, died in Los Angeles at 10 a.m. Thursday after a long illness.

She was born Feb. 4, 1882, in Stephenville, where she lived until moving to Los Angeles in 1910.

Funeral services will be in Los Angeles Monday morning.

One son, Victor, Inglewood, Calif., and two grandchildren survive.

Mrs. Elizabeth Juedes

Mrs. Elizabeth Juedes, formerly of Appleton, died in Olney, Ill., Wednesday after a long illness.

She moved from Appleton about eight years ago after spending most of her life here.

Burial will be in Riverside cemetery, Oshkosh, at 4 p.m. today after funeral services in Olney. Konrad Funeral home, Oshkosh, is making arrangements.

There are no immediate survivors.

Fox Valley Market Potential Studied

Officials of over 20 national advertising agencies are visiting the Green Bay - Fox Cities market this week as guests of the Green Bay Press-Gazette, the Appleton Post-Crescent and Sawyer-Ferguson-Walker, national advertising agencies representatives for the two newspapers.

They are media directors and buyers for 22 agencies with offices in the Midwest. A number S-F-W representatives accompanied the group here.

Dinner Guests

The entire group was guest of the Press-Gazette at dinner at Mancini's Supper club Thursday evening. This morning the men boarded planes at Austin Straubel field for a flight over the major market of northeastern Wisconsin, landing at Appleton, where they were guests of the Post-Crescent at luncheon this noon at North Shore Golf club.

Boat Trip

Later today the group will drive to Door county, where the balance of the weekend will be spent. The program includes a cruiser ride from Sturgeon Bay to Egg Harbor, this afternoon and then a Door county fish boil at Egg Harbor this evening. The dinner meeting Saturday night will be at Knudsen's resort in Ephraim.

Two of the senior partners in S-F-W are guests here, Tom Walker of New York and Jake Sawyer of Chicago. Other S-F-W representatives include Hugo Magnuson, Ed Adam, Joe Wall, Ernest Klosterman and Jack McCarthy of the Chicago office, Douglas West of New York, and Thad Hadden and Charlie Miller of Detroit.

Correction

Edward Everett Horton

Actor for Half Century

Master of Chuckle, Grin, Famed Double-Take Started Back in 1910

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

Hollywood — Edward Everett Horton, master of the sly grin, the knowing chuckle and the outrageous double-take, is celebrating 50 years of regaling American audiences with his bag of tricks.

It was back in 1910 when a young Brooklyn boy just out of Columbia university made his debut in the chorus of "The Mikado" at a semi-professional theater in Staten Island.

Taking a look at some of today's young actors and his own beginnings, he reflects:

"Gee, they start out with so much. I had nothing — no looks, no voice, no clothes. All I had was this burning desire to be an actor."

That was enough to propel him into an acting career.

After a half-century, he still has the bug. For about 20 weeks each year, he plays "Springtime for Henry" and other familiar roles in big and little theaters throughout the nation.

"Somehow I've never played the Dakotas, North or South," he said rather peevishly. "What's in Idaho? Boise and Pocatello? Oh, dear. I'm afraid I've missed Idaho, too."

On Road Again
But he has made most of the other stops. And to cele-

City's Per Capita Debt Increased $28 Since Jan. 1

Appleton's per capita debt as of June 1 is $224.75, compared to $196.62 on Jan. 1, a report from City Clerk-Corporator Elden Broehm shows.

The January figure was based on an estimated population of 47,000, and the June amount on the preliminary 1960 census of 48,460. Total debt on June 1 is $10,891,560, compared to $9,241,000 on Jan. 1.

Incurred thus far in 1960 is a $1 million corporate bond issue, $925,000 for the Edison school and $103,560 for the latest addition to the industrial park.

The city's total debt is 55.5 per cent of its statutory limit of $19,627,193.60, based on the 1959 state equalized valuation of $245,339,920. The city's assessed valuation is $115,654,925.

A percentage breakdown of total indebtedness shows schools account, 49.34 per cent; sewers, 22.27; bridges, 15.05; general obligation bonds, 7.26; swimming pool, 3.21; public buildings, 1.91 and industrial park, .95 per cent.

Senate Votes More Funds Than Ike Asked

Washington — The senate has voted $1,514,764,889 more than President Eisenhower asked in appropriations for the year ahead in acting on the first 10 money bills this year.

The house is $455,803,830 under the president's recommendations on the same measures.

Thus congress will exceed the budget substantially if the two branches split the difference in conference on these 10 bills.

Only four compromise versions have been sent to Eisenhower so far and these did not involve the big differences between senate and house.

The senate passed its ninth and tenth appropriations bills last night.

On the $8,459,412,900 catch-all measure carrying funds for a variety of independent government agencies, the senate exceeded the budget by $42,015,900.

Wide-Wide World Producer Turns Out TV Spectacular for U. S. Army

BY JACK STILLMAN

Huntsville, Ala. — Producing a TV spectacular for the army is little different from turning out such a project for commercial television, says producer Joe Durand.

Durand, who will be remembered for his 18-month stint as producer of Wide-Wide World for NBC, is chief of the production crew at OGMS-TV. That's the Army Ordnance Guided Missile school station.

The latest Durand special was scheduled on a closed-circuit from Huntsville to West Point, Ft. Lee, Va., and New York City.

This particular spectacular — depicting the past, present and future aspects of the army's missile program — was put together in about 24 weeks instead of the three months it used to take to make Wide-Wide World, after which it was patterned.

While it formerly took about $300,000 to make a Wide-Wide World program, the missile spectacular, if done commercially, would have cost about $100,000. Those are Durand's estimates.

Of some 75 persons it took brate his anniversary, he'll hit the road again, playing "Nina" at the Lobero theater in Santa Barbara this month.

At 72, Horton still looks pink-cheeked and ageless. He lives with his 100-year-old mother in a big, antiques-packed southern mansion a few feet from the new Venice freeway in Encino.

He bought the place in 1924 when "Springtime for Henry" and Encino was quiet ranchland, other familiar roles in big and little theaters throughout the nation.

Reminiscing about his beginnings as an actor, Horton said that his advent to the stage was accidental.

"I was going to Columbia with the idea of becoming a professor," he said. "In those days, a boy going to college had to know what he was going to do in life. But some friends talked me into going out for the college play. That did it."

But after his debut in "The Mikado," he could find no work on Broadway. He was told he needed an agent (times haven't changed). He found an office that was sympathetic to his ambitions, and he was sent to an audition.

Still Has Same Agent
All the other actors recited a long list of credits. Horton admitted he had none, but he earnestly wanted to act.

Showman Louis Mann sympathized, gave him a job. Horton still has the same agent, and that must be an all-time record.

Horton did his first film in 1919. His screen heyday was in the 1930s, when he did as many as six films a year at $5,000 a week.

"The phone never stopped ringing," he recalled. "I was a scavenger actor, never under contract to a studio. A director would call and say, 'I've got a good part, but it isn't too well defined; I know you can do something with it with your ad libs.' What he meant was that nobody at the studio would accept the role."

"Then I did a picture called 'Her Husband's Affair' with Lucille Ball and Franchot Tone. After I finished it, the phone didn't ring. That was 11 years ago, and they haven't called me for a picture since."

"I don't know what happened. I think today's producers don't know me. I see the pictures and there aren't really any parts for me. But I've still got the stage, and that's very gratifying."

Madison Union Backs Teacher for State Post

Ralph Gibson, Madison East High school teacher, was endorsed for the office of state superintendent of public instruction by delegates of the Madison Federation of Labor at their June meeting.

A resolution for statewide action will be presented to the state AFL-CIO convention at Green Bay Aug. 29 to Sept. 1.

A teacher-administrator with 32 years of experience, Gibson also spent six years service as an officer in the U.S. Air Force.

The Green Bay Square Dance club will celebrate its 15th anniversary Sunday when it plays host to two state groups at the Bay Beach pavilion in Green Bay.

The Wisconsin Square Dance Leaders council and the Square Dance Association of Wisconsin will meet at the pavilion and a dance jamboree will be held from 2 to 5 p.m.

The Green Bay club's activities are under the sponsorship of the city recreation department with John Gardner director.

Some 200 persons viewed the program at an NBC studio in New York — among them military officers, industrial observers and newsmen.

Maj. Gen. Raymond Curtis, commanding general of the Second U.S. Army corps at Camp Kilmer, N. J., pronounced the show wonderful.

He said such use of television was a great asset in teaching and familiarizing military personnel with developments because it eliminated the necessity of transporting large numbers of persons to military development centers or moving such giant devices as missiles to schools such as West Point.

Col. H. S. Newhall of Washington, D. C., acting chief of manpower for ordnance and former commandant of the ordnance guided missile school at Huntsville, said it was the first time closed circuit TV had been used for instruction of cadets at West Point.

Challenging Field
"This is a challenging field. I believe there is a tremendous future in this type of resident class instruction. It gives us a chance to take Redstone arsenal to class rooms where students are unable to come to us," he said.

Col. Charles W. Eifer, commander of the missile school, said such programs actually save the army money.

3 New Shows, 2 Specials on TV Next Week

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Radio-TV Writer

New York — For a summer week, the next seven days of television seem crammed with plums. Three new shows will bow in and there are two specials coming up.

Tonight there isn't much of special interest except a repeat of CBS' long-hour semi-documentary, "Dillinger — A Year to Kill" at 8 p.m.

Saturday is quiet — mostly re-runs of the popular action shows, but NBC will do its final wrap up of "The President's trip" (8:30 to 9:30 p.m.)

Mystery Drama
Politics will preoccupy all the Sunday interview shows. NBC's live mystery show Sunday night at 9 p.m. is "Fear Is the Parent," with Mona Freeman and Arthur Franz.

On Monday, CBS starts a new live daytime series, "Full Circle" at 1 p.m. That night there is ABC's hour-long musical special (8:30 to 9:30) directed to teenagers, with Pat Boone, Ed Byrne, Paul Anka, Bobby Darin and other young singing favorites.

"Japan — Anchor in the East" is the title of ABC's Wednesday night hour-long documentary (8:30 to 7:30), pre-empting its regular musical show, and there is "The Great Gold Mountain," a drama about a small town, on CBS Steel Hour (9 to 10 p.m.), starring Polly Bergen and Ed Begley.

Women's Golf Pairings Set

June Flight Enters Third Round After Wednesday's Play

Kaukauna — Third round pairings have been announced for the June flight golf tournament for women at the Fox Valley Golf club. Match-ups are to be completed by Wednesday.

In A-flight, Mrs. John Masaros will meet Mrs. Robert Boots and Mrs. Grover Patterson will meet either Mrs. Harry Wiegand or Mrs. Joseph Gossens. In B-flight, Mrs. Ernest Versteeg will be matched against Miss Mildred Maley.

The C-flight will have Mrs. Richard Vanden Heuvel opposing Mrs. Emil Koglin and the D-flight will have Mrs. Tony Berkers meeting Mrs. Francis Heesacker.

Golf prizes at women's day activities Wednesday went to Mrs. Art Lamers for most strokes on the first hole, Mrs. Richard Vanden Heuvel for no putts on No. 5 and to Mrs. Harold Versteeg for most putts on No. 9. Other prize winners were Mrs. Tom Lam-jensen, Mrs. Emil Koglin, Mrs. Richard Balza, Mrs. Martin Janssen, Mrs. Paul Melanson and Mrs. Tom Gustman.

Chairman of the social committee was Mrs. William Mitchler.

Kaukauna Man Fined $25 by Justice for Inattentive Driving

Little Chute — Richard Van Hammond, 21, 211 W. Tenth street, Kaukauna, was found guilty of inattentive driving and driving without a driver's license and was fined $25 when arraigned before Anton Janssen, justice of the peace, Wednesday evening.

Van Hammond was arrested by village police Saturday after the car he was driving was involved in an accident on E. Main street.

Democrats See Change Of Committeemen

David Rabinovitz Expected to Defeat Herman Jessen for Post as Liaison Man

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The Democratic state organization is apparently preparing for the dismissal from his top party office of 72-year-old Herman Jessen of Phelps, veteran warrior for the party cause.

Organization spokesmen agree in their predictions that Jessen is almost sure to be defeated for reelection as Democratic national committeeman at the state convention in Milwaukee Saturday.

He will be replaced by David Rabinovitz of Sheboygan, 52, now state party treasurer and one of the best known labor lawyers in the state.

Reid Job Eight Years
Rabinovitz is most widely known as the counsel for the UAW local that has been on strike at the Kohler company in Sheboygan for more than five years.

Most party sources are also sure that Mrs. Vel Phillips of Milwaukee will be returned to her office as party national committeewoman. She is being challenged by Mrs. Eleanor Wickstrom of Walworth county. Mrs. Phillips was chosen for an unexpired term two years ago in an election that was publicized internationally because she is a Negro, the first of her race ever to be a member of the Democratic national committee.

She is a Milwaukee lawyer and alderman.

Jessen has held his job for eight years of the Eisenhower administration, which has meant that he has fewer prerequisites than members of the national committee usually expect. When their party is in power, the committee members have a strong voice in the dispensation of federal patronage. Democrats are confident that they will return to power in the White House in the fall elections, which makes the committee competition more interesting and significant.

Socialist Worker
Jessen's fall from power, if it comes Saturday, will be attributed to several reasons. The aging politician has not been as active as his rival. He has also quarreled with some of the dominant state organization figures, includ-

Few Summer Job Openings; See Business Improvements by Fall

BY SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

New York — Jobs for a growing population will be a prime problem the rest of this year. It's the human side to the economic query: will industry and trade turn smartly upward again after labor day?

Moderate gains are expected. It seems unlikely they'll be enough to solve the jobless problem.

Total employment has been rising. But the number out of work sticks stubbornly around 5 per cent of the labor force. Right now the number looking for jobs is rising because of the influx of graduates and students into the market.

But the longer term problem is two pronged: The number of Americans of working age is on the rise, while the number required to turn out a given supply of goods keeps dropping because of mechanization and automation and increased skills.

Smaller Paychecks

Wage scales continue to rise this year, but the rate of increase is lower than in the recent past. Also, many workers find paychecks smaller because of shorter work weeks in some industries.

What help for more jobs is in sight from a business pick up?

Industrial output was at a record high in January. Then it dipped, but made a slight recovery in May.

The immediate outlook is for little change — the usual summer lull, an average fall quickening. Steel production seems sure to go lower before its hoped for late summer recovery.

Some appliance makers are cutting back to bring stocks in line with sales. Auto production will soon be dropping as the mode change over time nears.

Capacity Reached
The gross national product, which takes in all production of goods and services, has topped $500 billion at an annual rate for the first time. But the rate of its growth has slowed. Two of its greatest bulwarks also have been losing some of their forwardizing — consumer spending and business outlay for plant and equipment. A number of industries are still catching up with capacity already built higher than current demand.

Business has been getting some forward push in this year's growth in the dollar volume of exports, while the increase in imports has slowed.

Some industrialists hope the economy will get a boost in the fall from a change in inventory policies.

At the start of the year many companies were busy building up their stocks depleted during the steel strike. This added a prosperous sheen to the early weeks of the year.

See Good Times
Then the build up ceased and many companies, noting ample supplies and a fair chance of stable prices ahead, began holding inventories to just what was needed for current production schedules. This was a prime factor in the slight recession in business noted from February to May.

If sales prospects improve in the fall, the inventory cycle could turn upward again.

And through all the surmises about business trends run the threads of election year turmoil and the still uncertain effects of cold war flareups on our defense spending and on our private planning.

The best guess: Times will be good this fall, but not booming, and jobs enough for all will still be a problem.

Friday: Whither prices? Will the consumer go on shell-ing out his dough or call a halt?

Party men doubt, however, that any of that rivalry will be carried over into the national committee elections Saturday. There are increasing signs that the Kennedy and Humphrey backers are trying to get together to send a united Wisconsin delegation to Los Angeles to back a proposed ticket of Kennedy for president and Humphrey for vice president.

Convention Launched by Democrats

perior said that all five delegates elected in the 10th district would vote for Kennedy "at the earliest ballot on which we may do so in conformity with the provisions of our election laws and Sen. Humphrey's program." This could be the first ballot if Humphrey isn't nominated, Lauri said. In addition Mrs. Edna Bowen of Lancaster, a 3rd district Humphrey delegate, said she too would switch to Kennedy. This would give Kennedy three votes because each delegate has one-half vote.

Fights Indicated
The convention will elect a national committeewoman and committeeman Saturday. Both offices are contested and lively fights may develop.

Herman Jessen of Phelps, who is finishing his first 4-year term, is opposed by David Rabinovitz, Sheboygan, the party treasurer. Mrs. Vel Phillips of Milwaukee, who has served two years of an unexpired term of a predecessor, has Eleanor Wickstrom, Walworth, as an opponent.

Registration began at noon in the lobby of the Schroeder hotel, the convention site. Committee meetings are on the afternoon agenda, but the first general session does not begin until this evening with a keynote address from the party's national chairman, Paul Butler.

State Chairman Patrick Lucey of Madison will open the second general session Saturday morning. The state's five Democratic congressmen also are scheduled to speak Saturday, as will three of the state's constitutional officers. Gov. Gaylord Nelson will talk at the convention banquet Saturday night.

UN Council Backs Argentine Stand Against Israel

United Nations, N.Y.—The U.N. Security council has endorsed Argentina's contention that the capture of Adolf Eichmann by Israeli agents violated Argentine sovereignty, but Israel still has Eichmann and obviously is going to keep him for trial.

The council late yesterday adopted an Argentine resolution criticizing the Nazi official's secret transfer from Buenos Aires to Israel and calling on Israel to "make appropriate reparations."

The mild, vague resolution

Buy Sugar or Lose Firms, Castro Threat

Americans, particularly those working for sugar or cattle companies, have been arrested arbitrarily and harassed repeatedly.

Present Purchases
The United States is still buying about 3½ million tons of sugar a year from Cuba, more than half the Cuban crop, and to protect U. S. producers is paying a premium of about 2 cents above the world market price. Much of the Cuban crop is sold at a world price of about 3 cents a pound, or a cent less than the cost of production.

Since Castro's increasing restrictions on American investors in Cuba, sentiment has been increasing in the U. S. congress for a cut in the sugar quota allotted Cuba and an increase in purchases from other producers whose governments are more friendly to the United States.

The Eisenhower government for many months resisted the congressional pressure, but Sec. of State Herter told a congressional committee Wednesday the time has come to "reduce the dependence of (U.S.) consumers on Cuban sugar." He said the administration would accept the proposal to give the president power to cut the quota.

did not ask for Eichmann's return to Argentina, as Argentina had demanded earlier. Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion already had said flatly Eichmann would stay in Israel to stand trial on charges that, as chief of the Gestapo's Jewish section, he supervised the extermination of six million European Jews in World War II.

In Buenos Aires, Foreign Undersecretary Miguel Angel Centeno said his government might consider an apology from Israel sufficient reparation. Argentine President Arturo Frondizi, at a news conference in Paris, refused to clarify whether the demand for Eichmann's return to Argentina would be dropped.

He said the demand for Eichmann's return to Argentina would be dropped.

Church Gets Land Back From Austria

Vienna —A— The Austrian government returned numerous monasteries, churches and other valuable real estate to the Roman Catholic church yesterday and agreed to pay the church $4 million a year. The payment is in reparations for the large-scale confiscation of church property by the Nazi regime.

As a result of the annual cash grant, the Catholic clergy, numbering more than 1,200, will be paid on the scale of civil servants.

The agreement with the church was negotiated jointly by the conservatives and socialists who run the coalition government. It represents a step toward a new concordat between the government and the Vatican to straighten out tangled relations between the church and state, but a new treaty apparently is a long way off.

The present treaty was signed in 1954, and the government wants it renegotiated because of the many changes in Austria since then. But two touchy problems remain to be settled — state subsidies for church schools and Austria's marriage legislation.

The socialists oppose state aid for church schools and also any change in the marriage laws, which require a civil ceremony but not a church ceremony and which make divorce not too hard to come by. There seems no likelihood of the conservatives gaining a majority in parliament and ending the government coalition.

Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, told the group their actions in sit-in demonstrations across the South "have given new life and pertinency" to the NAACP's civil rights program.

He said "it is a part of American character to refuse to consent to inequality and government without the consent of the governed" and that the sit-in movement "is thoroughly in the tradition of America and the tradition of your race."

Mass picketing was set for this afternoon at the F. W. Woolworth and W. T. Grant stores. Shoppers will be urged not to patronize the two outlets because of their segregation policies in the south.

Washington —A— Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) said today the Federal Communications commission considers ownership by members of congress as a favorable factor in making television license awards.

He said a high FCC official, whom he did not name, told him that is the commission's policy.

"I had always assumed," Proxmire said in a statement, "that we operated on the principle in this country that while congress can make or unmake the laws, individual members of congress were treated as ordinary citizens in the enforcement of the law."

Proxmire in a senate speech Monday criticized the policy which led to the tentative award of a license to the Capital Cities Television corp. for Channel 10 in Albany, N.Y. Five house members own about 6 per cent of the firm's stock.

Proxmire said in today's statement that since Monday he had been visited by a high official of the FCC, whom he did not identify.

"Far worse than making a phone call or writing a letter," Proxmire said, "a member of congress can influence decisions of the FCC by purchasing or accepting as a gift stock in a company which intends to apply for a TV or radio license."

He called this an "amazing proposition."

In First 3 Months Report 'Heavy Load' At Guidance Center

Neenah—In its first three months of operation, the Winnebago County Guidance center has developed "a very heavy load," reported Dr. John Giebink, staff psychologist.

He announced that Dr. Edward Arndt, staff psychiatrist and medical director, will begin full time work at the guidance center July 1.

Up to May 31, 79 persons applied for guidance center psychological service. Of that number, 55 were children under 18 and 24 over 18.

The psychologist noted that most cases were referrals from schools in the county. The second largest group was composed of those who came in on their own initiative. Third were referrals from physicians or welfare agencies.

This month, Drs. Giebink and Arndt attended the meeting of the Wisconsin Association of Psychiatric Clinics for children at Sturgeon Bay. Fred Kepfield, psychiatric social worker, attended sessions

Twin City Deaths

William A. Korth
Neenah—William A. Korth, 71, route 1, died unexpectedly Friday night. He suffered a heart attack at 6:25 p.m. and was dead on arrival at Theda Clark hospital.

He was born July 8, 1888 at Wittenberg and was a town of Menasha resident since 1902, farming until retiring in 1955.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at St. Paul's English Lutheran church with the Rev. Samuel H. Roth, pastor emeritus, officiating. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

Friends may call at the Westor Funeral home from 2 p.m. Sunday until 11 a.m. Monday and then at the church until the hour of service.

Survivors include the widow; five daughters, Mrs. Ervin Schultz and Mrs. Carl Boettcher, Neenah; Mrs. Carl Kuchenecker, Menasha; Mrs. Clarence Buss, New Milford, Conn.; and Mrs. Calvin Hildebrand, Pittsburgh, Pa.; one son, Ervin, Neenah; three brothers, Louis, Neenah, Alfred, Menasha, and Harvey, Appleton; one sister, Mrs. Dexter Maas, Greenville; and nine grandchildren.

Mrs. Elinor Waldo

Neenah—Mrs. Elinor Waldo, 85, Adella Beach, died at 3 p.m. Thursday after a lengthy illness. She was born Feb. 3, 1875 in New York city and lived in this vicinity for the last 30 years. She was a code member of the Tuesday club. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the First Presbyterian chapel with Dr. John E. Bouquet in charge.

Survivors include one son, Reginald Waldo, Sr., whom she made her home; one grandchild; and three great-grandchildren.

Cane Seeks Reelection To Assembly Has Served 10 Years Representing Twin City Area

Menasha — Assemblyman Arnold J. Cane, who represents the third assembly district of Winnebago county, comprising the cities and towns of Neenah and Menasha, today announced that nomination papers are being circulated in his behalf for nomination on the Republican ballot for that office at the Sept. 13 primary.

Cane is completing his fifth 2-year term in the legislature and has been active in many phases of legislation during his 10 years in office.

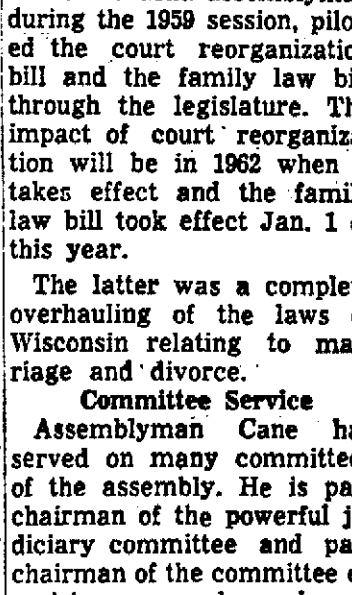

The Menasha assemblyman during the 1959 session, piloted the court reorganization bill and the family law bill through the legislature. The impact of court reorganization will be in 1962 when it takes effect and the family law bill took effect Jan. 1 of this year.

The latter was a complete overhauling of the laws of Wisconsin relating to marriage and divorce.

Committee Service
Assemblyman Cane has served on many committees of the assembly. He is past chairman of the powerful judiciary committee and past chairman of the committee on revisions, repeals and uniform laws. In the 1957 session he was assistant Republican floor leader.

In the 1955 session Cane was vice chairman of the committee on child welfare and lived in this vicinity for the last 30 years. He also served in past sessions on the public welfare committee and the state affairs committee.

Assemblyman Cane had practiced law in Menasha for more than 23 years and is a past president of the Winnebago County Bar association. He also is active in the American Bar association and the State Bar of Wisconsin.

Three Youths Given Terms In County Jail

For Action in Wrecking Picnic

Oshkosh — Three Oshkosh youths were sentenced this morning by Acting Municipal Judge Herbert J. Mueller to the county jail and three others were fined for their actions in breaking up a picnic of your young persons at the sandpit west of Oshkosh on June 3. They were charged with disorderly conduct.

Jailed were James Hanseder, 17, 413 Union street, 15 days; Melvin Klinger, Jr., 16, 417 E. Lincoln avenue, 20 days; and Gerald Frey, 18, 920 Jefferson street, 20 days.

Fined were Robert Priebe, 17, 553 Monroe street, $35; Roger Mueller, 17, Kewaunee street, $35; and Larry O'Connell, 20, route 1, Winneconne, $15.

Mueller and O'Connell had pleaded no contest to the charge last week, stating they had not taken an active part. Acting Judge Mueller pointed out all but O'Connell had previous run-ins with authorities when he imposed the sentences.

The six were charged with throwing a picnic table into the water in the sandpit and possibly also a radio, throwing blanks and flashlights into the fire, roughing up the foursome, breaking the watch of one of the girls at the picnic and jumping up and down on the car of the four young persons as they tried to leave, breaking a window.

Chuck Wagon Feed Marks Opening of Prospector Days

Chamber of Commerce Sales
Promotion Event Set July 18

Neenah—Plans for "Prospector Days" in Neenah-Menasha, a sales promotion event July 18 to 23 sponsored by the retail service council of the chamber of commerce, were unfolded at a chuck wagon feed at the S. A. Cook armory Thursday night.

The event originally was scheduled at Jefferson park with a corral background but, because of the weather, the roundup night had to be switched to the armory. Even so, more than 120 persons, representing more than 60 retail establishments, attended.

Vern Duerrwaechter, chamber president, welcomed the guests and turned the program over to James Webb, chairman of the committee which has been working the last several months on the promotion. Doug Gunderson, chairman of the retail service council, urged the retailers to get behind the program and push the event.

Two Western Bands
Entertainment as outlined by Calvin Zernicke, chairman, will include two roving western bands from 1 to 4 p.m. daily July 20 through 22, penny hunts for youngsters, wagon rides and pony rides at different locations. Square dance exhibitions also will have been scheduled at locations in each city the night of July 22 and the morning of July 23.

A parade is scheduled for July 21. Al Spang, parade chairman, reported. It will include several bands, baton groups and floats. Special tie-ins and contests were reviewed by Don Hruska, including a "Maxwell trail days," a sidewalk sales event, and coloring contest.

Advertising and publicity plans were reviewed by Alton Cross and Donald Harrington. Liaison arrangements were reviewed by Don Fishel. Sound trucks, a live burro and a "prospector" will tour surrounding areas to call attention to the "Prospector Days."

New London Driver Injured in Accident

Oshkosh — A route 3, New London driver, Alfred W. Hass, 41, was advised to see a physician after his car was involved in a 3-car accident on Highway 47 near the Valley Fair shopping center in the town of Menasha at 7:13 p.m. Thursday. All three cars were headed east.

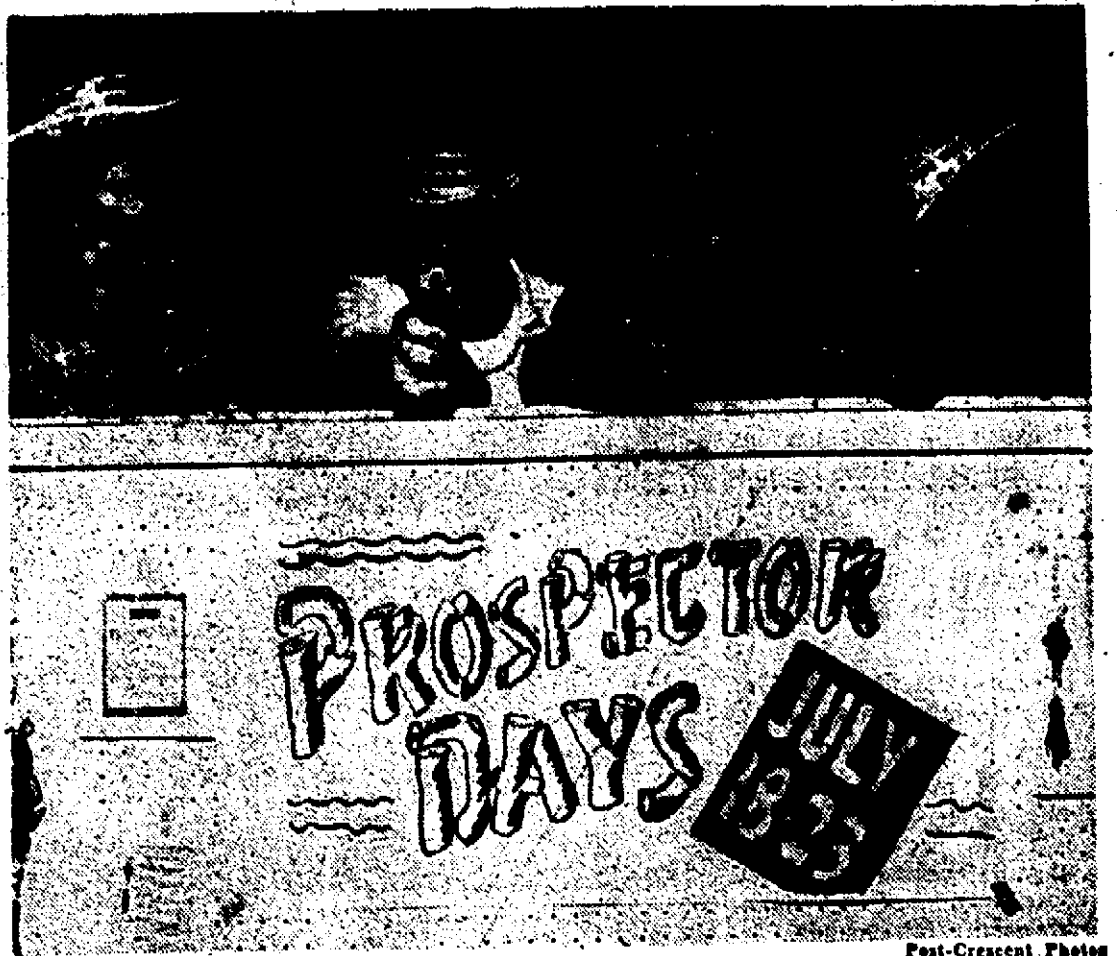

Hass' car struck the rear end of one driven by Thomas L. Buelow, 29, route 1, Seymour, which had slowed down because the car ahead of him, driven by Leonard Vorpahl, 41, 2610 Aykens street, Appleton, was going to turn left. The Buelow car was pushed into the rear of the Vorpahl car.

Cowboy Turned Professor to Speak at OSC

Oklahoma History
Researcher to Talk
On Indian Problem

Oshkosh — Three assembly programs, including two by a man who rose from a frontier Oklahoma cowhand to research professor of history, will be presented at Oshkosh State college next week.

Dr. Edward Everett Dale went to Oklahoma in 1892, where he attended rural and village schools, worked in a frontier store, spent time as a cowhand, small rancher, deputy sheriff and taught rural schools.

Dr. Dale will speak on "The American Indian Problem" at a college assembly program at 7 a.m. Monday and will speak to the Campus school children and their teachers on "Tales of the Teepee" at 10:15 a.m. Tuesday. Both talks will be given in the Little Theatre.

Receives Doctorate
Dr. Dale had no formal education above the eighth grade until he was 26 years old. He received his bachelor degree from the University of Oklahoma and his master of arts and doctoral degrees from Harvard university.

He was head of the history department at the University of Oklahoma, where he later was named research professor of history. He retired in 1952, but since then, has taught one year at the University of Melbourne and two and one-half years at the University of Houston.

He is the author of several books, including "The Indians of the Southwest," "Pioneer Judge," "Frontier Ways," and "Oklahoma: The Story of a State."

Two Picked for Cattle Fitting Demonstration

Sectional Meetings Held Thursday at Four County Farms

Oshkosh — Two persons were selected for the demonstration team on fitting dairy calves at the northeast section meeting Thursday at the Earl Evans farm in the town of Clayton.

Chosen were Bud Ruff of Winchester 4-H and Roger Lienhard of Mears 4-H club. They will meet June 30 to plan their demonstration which will be given at the county Dairyrama tentatively set for July 27 at the Winnebago county fairgrounds.

Teams also are being chosen in the other three sections of the county.

State Fair Entries
Entries for the state fair and northeast junior livestock show are to be turned in to the county extension office by July 20. Entry blanks may be obtained now by contacting the extension office.

Holstein members interested in state fair showing are to participate in the Fox Valley Holstein show scheduled for the fairgrounds on Tuesday, July 19.

The county's 4-H dairy judging team will compete Wednesday in the district contest at Shawano. On the team are Joe Jungbauer, William Jannusch, David Miller and Everett Eckstein.

Two Injured in Separate Accidents

Oshkosh — Two persons were injured in minor accidents Wednesday and Tuesday nights.

Miss Patricia McMahon, 244 E. Franklin avenue, Neenah, received abrasions and contusions about the face when her car struck the curb along County Trunk O and North street in the town of Menasha at 8:03 p.m. Wednesday. She was taken in the Neenah ambulance to Theda Clark hospital.

Gary L. Laabs, 20, 613 Third street, Weyauwega, was cut on the forehead when his car went off County Trunk MM and slid into a tree in the town of Winchester Tuesday night. He said he did not see a curve in time.

First Trip to Outer Space Threshold Told by Simons

Menasha — On an August morning in 1957, a tear-shaped balloon lifted slowly from the bottom of a mine pit in Minnesota and rose silently into the cloudless sky.

Slung beneath it, glittering faintly in the early rays of light, was a foil-draped gondola containing a man. He was the first human to reach the threshold of outer space. Few of us will ever reach outer space, but in "Man High" by David G. Simons, we can share the experience of the man who cracked the space barrier. The book is at Elisha D. Smith public library.

"In the Name of Conscience" by Nikolai Khokhlov is the testament of a Soviet secret agent. At the time of Hitler's invasion of Russia, the author found himself enmeshed in the Soviet machine of terror. When the war was over, his struggle to escape from it began — a struggle that grew more intense and more tragic.

Iranian Girl Ends Year's Stay As Exchange Student in Neenah

BY PATRICIA SCHULTZ
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Neenah — Asked by a group of her Neenah High school friends what she would like most for them to give her to take back to Iran, Larissa Ovanessian answered, "Most of all I would like for each of you to write a letter to my father in six months. Say, 'I miss Larissa. When can she come back?'"

Larissa has lived with the John Huppler family, 859 E. Cecil street, during the past year while attending Neenah High school. She leaves Monday to tour eastern states, New York City and Washington, D.C., with other American Field Service exchange students before returning to her home in Tehran, the capital of Iran.

The trim, curly-headed Iranian teenager is not the only member of the Huppler household receiving warm bon voyage wishes. Marcia Huppler leaves the same day as Larissa for Switzerland.

Marcia, who returned Wednesday from Badger Girls State, will attend the Juliette Low session for Senior Girl Scouts in Adelboden, Switzerland. She is one of five girls from the United States to attend the session at the Swiss Scout Chalet. Once every three years a Girl Scout in Region VII — Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan — is chosen to attend the meeting of international Girl Scouts.

Packing Problems
"The bedrooms are a muddle of suitcases," commented Mrs. Huppler, who is new president of Neenah chapter of American Field Service. "For Larissa it is a matter of pounds. She is allowed 55 pounds by the airline for the flight from New York to Turkey, where she'll spend several days. But from Turkey to Iran, her baggage allotment is 44 pounds."

Prominently placed on Marcia's bed is a colored print of the U.S. United States, the liner she'll travel on her return voyage. "Her problem is the definition of a handbag," said her mother.

"She may take one suitcase and a handbag. You can see we have liberally interpreted the definition," she smiled pointing to an ample sized canvas case.

Carry Handbag
"We don't know how far the Chalet is from the bus stop and she may have to walk carrying her handbag." One of the brochures listed mail as being delivered by dog cart, so it may be a long trudge, grimaced Marcia.

Yet to be tucked in Marcia's already bulging suitcase are an Indian costume to wear on the international native costume day at the Chalet and ingredients for the dish she will prepare on international cooking day.

Her year as an exchange student has meant many different things to Larissa. As it ends, she is experiencing an antithesis of emotions, both the desire to stay and the wish to be reunited with her family.

Faltering English
Recalling her early weeks in Neenah, she remembers her faltering English. "I just couldn't understand and after concentrating all day on trying to understand, I would have headaches at night."

Before coming here, Larissa had been tutored by her father, a traffic control officer at the Tehran airport who also gives private English lessons. "Now my English will be very different from his. Besides, I know all sorts of slang words," she added.

She speaks Persian and converses in Armenian with her parents. Gedeon, her 16-year old brother, and Anahid, her 8-year old sister.

"I think in English when I am thinking about American things, but when I am remembering home or my family, I think in Persian."

Her progress in English has been so pronounced that when several Iranian boys stopped to visit her at the Huppler home, Larissa found it difficult to visit in Persian.

"We started to talk in Persian, but I just couldn't, so I had to speak English," she laughed, delighted with that we will, but I think that her present fluency. "Now when I go home, I'll speak English so I won't forget."

Bakes Pie
One of her most recent accomplishments, to be rewarded by her father, is the cherry pie she baked this week. "I just love pie and candy bars," she said listing her favorite American foods. Stoves in Iran don't have ovens, consequently pies are not found in their American form there. "My parents said if I learned to bake pie, they would buy a stove with an oven when I come home."

The first foreign student to graduate from Neenah High school, Larissa plans to take night school courses in Tehran to complete requirements before taking the university entrance examination. "Because there are a limited number of universities, competition is very keen and the examination, very difficult."

Among the additional courses she'll need will be a second year in physics. "After I have gone to night school, I plan to convince my father to let me come back after two years to go to an American university," she said, her dark eyes twinkling with anticipation.

Resort Trip
During the hot, dry summers in Iran, the Ovanessian family goes to a favorite mountain resort. "This year I think we will go for a week. My family hasn't written that we will, but I think that is going to be a surprise for me," the animated teenager predicted.

The bustling capital city, Tehran, has a population of 2 million. "At first, compared to Tehran, Neenah seemed so quiet. Now I am used to it here and just love it," she declared.

"Coming to the United States is a dream of many people in Iran. For me, it came true. When I go home, I want to tell what America is really like, not the way the movies show it," she commented.

Mentioning her appreciation of the Hupplers' hospitality, Larissa said she has become one of the family. "They have been so wonderful to me, it is what made the year. I have made so many good friends here, they already seem like old friends."

Neenah — Jack Ahrens of the Controlled Quality team bowled a 226 game and 784 series in the Courtney-Plummer 3-Man Scratch league Tuesday night at Lakewood Lanes.

Howie Schmidt rolled 737 for four games and Ray Buege posted 722. Controlled Quality had 539 and Concretes 2,006 for team honors. Concretes and Ready Mix are tied for first place with 15-9 records.

Raveno '9' Tops Tavern League

TWIN CITY TAVERN LEAGUE

Team	W	L	Men. Rec.
Raveno	4	1	3
Broadway	3	1	3

Neenah — Raveno took over first place in the Twin City Tavern Softball league by defeating Broadway 13-4 in the circuit's latest round of games. Raveno has a 4-1 record and three other teams own 3-1 marks.

Owl defeated Friendly Bar 18-5, Menasha Recreation topped Larry's 18-11 and Blue Ribbon won by forfeit over Home Plate.

Cheetahs Play Hawks In Little League Fray

Menasha — The Cheetahs and Hawks collide at 5:30 p.m. today at the new Jefferson park diamond in a Little League game. Thursday's game between the Panthers and Orioles was rained out.

The Hawks have yet to play their first game while the Cheetahs are winless in two starts. League directors will meet at 7 p.m. Monday at the Memorial building to schedule makeups, which now number three.

Vanderhyden Captures Win In State Open

Defeats Milwaukee Youngster; Other Twin Citizens Bow

Ripon — Tom Vanderhyden Neenah — Menasha Junior Chamber of Commerce champion in the 13 and under division, was the only Neenah — Menasha netter to capture a win during the first day of the state open tennis tournament which began here Thursday.

Vanderhyden won over Clint Taylor of Milwaukee 6-1, 6-1 in the 13 and under bracket. Kim Vanderhyden lost to Vic Harding of Milwaukee 6-0, 6-1 in the same division and top-seeded Dan Bleckinger of Oshkosh won from Bob Deck of Madison 6-1, 6-0.

In the 15 and under section, Pat Kenney of Menasha was defeated by Bill Burns of Milwaukee 6-2, 4-6, 6-4. Bill Kringle lost to Ron Creager of Kalamazoo, Mich., 6-1, 6-3 while Bleckinger beat Bill Ruehl of Milwaukee 6-1, 6-4.

A heavy rainstorm curtailed most of the first day's activity and only 13 of the scheduled 29 matches were played. To make up for the rainouts, competition began at 7:30 a.m. today.

Dean Eisner of Manitowoc, top seeded in the 15 and under division, won his first match. Other No. 1 ranked players include Bob Seiy, Cudahy, men; "Chuck" Bleckinger, Oshkosh, junior boys; Barbara Mueller, Thiensville, junior girls; Jackie Mueller, Thiensville, girls 15 and under; Sue Simmons, Whitefish Bay; women; and Janet Wulley, La Crosse, girls 13 and under.

Sue Rhyner and Diane Gilbertson, Menasha, are ranked 2-3 in the junior girls.

The Menasha Summer Playground baseball program began this week with a series of baseball schools. Five midget league youngsters engage in a pepper game in the top panel. Baseball supervisor Bob Karisny instructs a group in field in the lower picture. However, many of his listeners appear more interested in the cameraman.

Outboard Club Opens Season By Co-Sponsoring Marathon

Menasha — The Wisconsin Stock Utility Outboard Racing association will open its season by co-sponsoring the Winnebagoand marathon, which will be used to photograph the start of a race and which is hoped will end all questions as to whether racers were over or back of the starting line at the flag. It was tried last Sunday at Neesho and proved quite successful, racers report.

Other races to be sponsored by the group include Kaukauna July 10; Eagle River July 16-17; Menasha July 23-24, and Rhinelander Aug. 20-21. It also will help sponsor the nationals at Beloit late in August. Two more races may be scheduled in September, probably at Kaukauna.

The traditional "ice breaker" at Kaukauna, usually held early in May, was postponed because of high water and the poor condition of the road leading to the course site.

Organized in 1948 The WSUORA, organized in 1948, added to its operation this spring with the purchase of a vanette which will be used to transport equipment to the various racing sites. The vanette, which replaced the old trailer used by the group for the last eight years, will house the starting clock.

Rain Washes Out 4 Games

Industrial Loop Continues Makeup Slates Tuesday

Menasha — The weatherman again raised havoc with the Twin City Industrial league schedule Thursday night, forcing the sixth full-slate postponement of the season.

Games affected were Bergstrom's - Lakeview and Tissue Mills, Strange's at the Recreation field and Packagers-Foundry and Neenah Paper-Soo Line, scheduled for Jefferson park.

The first round was supposed to have closed Thursday night but because of the numerous rainouts it already has been extended to July 14, and now probably will have to be extended further.

Four makeup games are scheduled Tuesday night. It will be Wooden Ware versus Strange's and Bergstrom's versus Main Office at the Recreation field and Tissue Mills versus Soo Line and Foundry versus Banta's at Jefferson park.

Menasha Home Permits Reach 28

Menasha — Two new home building permits were issued this week by Allen E. Merrill, building inspector, after approval by the city planning commission. New homes this year have reached 28, compared to 28 this date in 1959.

Arthur Hidde will build a 52 by 54 foot brick ranch duplex at 238 Butte des Morts drive at a $22,500 valuation. Ray Taubel received a permit to build a 40 by 28 foot 1-story frame home at 728 Ida street. Value is $12,000.

Tullar 4-H Club Sets Date for Hike

Neenah — Tullar 4-H club set Aug. 9 as the date for its hike when it met this week at the Tullar school. Members will meet at the school that day for a hike to the swimming pool and then to Riverside park for a cookout picnic. The hike committee is Paul Nehring, Margaret Jacobs and Rosawyn Hirschy.

A calling committee of Judy Mulvey, Ann Scheer and Emory Luebke was appointed. On the refreshments committee for the July 19 meeting will be Ann Scheer and Sandy Panske while the games committee will be Kris Malchow and Lynn Cummings. Ann Scheer and Sandy Panske reported on the 4-H camp they attended June 16 to 18 at Camp Anokijig near Plymouth.

Cub Pack 43 Holds Picnic at Pavilion

Neenah — Cub Pack 43 of the First Methodist church held a picnic for members and their families Thursday evening at the Riverside park pavilion.

Plans were announced for the golden jubilee celebration and pinewood derby scheduled July 23 at the Neenah High school athletic field. The event, held in conjunction with Pack 75 of Lakeview school, will be in observance of the 50th anniversary of the Boy Scouts which is being observed nationally that day.

National Guard's New 36 Foot Boat Arrives in Neenah

Neenah — Unloading of the new 36-foot picket boat, or J-boat, at the national guards 168th Transportation battalion headquarters company, located at Neenah, has been set for Tuesday.

The boat arrived by railroad Thursday from New Orleans, La., and is now located at the Menasha Wooden Ware corporation siding adjoining the canal.

Equipment from Camp Douglas is being brought here to hoist the boat off the flatcar and into the Canal, according to Capt. William Westenberg, company commander.

Other national guard units which have received or will be receiving boats are located at Fond du Lac, Manitowoc and Green Bay.

Gerald Anderson Called to Serve Michigan Church

Winchester — Gerald Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lean Anderson, town of Clayton, will be ordained to the ministry by Dr. Myron C. Austinson, president of the Evangelical Lutheran church's eastern district, at the 10 a.m. worship service Sunday of Grace Lutheran church here.

He completed his secondary education at Augustana academy at Canton, S.C. After spending two years at Luther college in Decorah, Iowa he transferred to St. Olaf college at Northfield, Minn. He graduated cum laude with a bachelor of arts degree in 1956.

In the fall of 1956 he entered Luther Theological seminary at St. Paul, Minn., and this spring received his bachelor of divinity degree from that institution. The third year of his seminary education was spent working in a small congregation in Dunbar, Iowa.

Called by Church
Pastor Anderson is married and has one child. He has been called to serve as pastor of Grace Evangelical Lutheran church of Alpena, Mich. The congregation has more than 500 baptized members and Alpena is a city of about 14,000 on the shore of Lake Huron.

A potluck dinner will be served after the ordination service.

At 1 p.m. Sunday the Vacation Bible school will present a program and the Rev. Oliver Berglund, a former pastor, will bring greetings to the church. The recreation after the program will be sponsored by the Brotherhood.

At 3 p.m. the young people will leave for Mission Lake where they will attend junior Bible camp for one week. The Rev. Richard Rem, pastor of the church, is the camp dean.

Menasha Entertains Unbeaten Fond du Lac; Neenah Bids for Second Win Against Kaws

Menasha — Twin City diamonds will be the sites of a pair of 2:30 p.m. Saturday Fox River Valley Junior Legion league baseball game.

Menasha entertains Fond du Lac at the Menasha ball park while Neenah will be host to Kaukauna at the Neenah High school field.

The Lenz - Gazecki post takes a 2-1 league record and 3-1 overall slate into its game with the league leaders. The defending champion Fondy outfit has won three games and was postponed in a fourth.

It defeated Mayville 3-2 Wednesday night, dealing the latter its first league loss. In other starts, Fondy won over Neenah 2-1 and blanked Kaukauna 6-0. Menasha stopped the Kaws 12-0, lost by a run to Mayville and defeated Winneconne by eight.

Kalk Heads Fondy
Both teams have one postponement, Menasha against Oshkosh and Fond du Lac, Winneconne.

Jim Kalk, unbeaten in Legion league play last year, heads the Fond du Lac mound staff. Fondy again has taken on players from smaller cities in the area, including Ron Cole of Lomira, winner over Neenah.

Stockbridge's Lou Hemauer or Bill Becker will pitch for a best two of three game series at 8:30 p.m. today at the Recreation field. Vern Wollerman or "Tex" Harding will pitch for Neenah.

BDM Defends Team Crown This Weekend at Muni, Ridgeway

1957—John Lindberg, BDM.
1956—Don Strutz, BDM.
1955—Don Strutz, BDM.
1954—Herb Stinski, Ridgeway.

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

It will be Don Strutz against the field this weekend in the area's biggest 1960 tournament to date — the Fox Cities Amateur.

Sixty-eight golfers — including most of the top public and private-club players in this sector — will take aim at Strutz' crown Saturday on the Appleton Municipal course and Sunday at the Neenah Ridgeway club.

Strutz, husky Butte des Morts belter, has won three of the last four Fox Cities championships. He has won the last two times (1957 and 1959) that Muni and Ridgeway have served as the tournament sites.

Five Straight Titles
BDM, which will defend the team championship it has won four times in six tries, has also monopolized the individual title for five straight years. In addition to Strutz' triumphs, John Lindberg won in 1958 and Don Jabas in 1955.

Torrid Braves Send Willey Against LA In Opener Tonight

Gain on Pirates as Spahn Wins Fifth; Mathews Homers Twice

Milwaukee — A winning team capitalizes on an opponent's mistakes. And that's what the Milwaukee Braves did to send the San Francisco Giants limping out of town. The Braves extended their longest winning streak of the season to six games Thursday by taking advantage of four San Francisco errors for an 8-4 victory and a sweep of the 4-set showdown at County stadium.

Milwaukee's ninth victory in the last 10 starts moved the Braves to within 2½ games of the first place Pittsburgh Pirates, who dropped a 3-1 night decision to St. Louis. The Giants remain in the place, 6½ games off the pace.

He is also quite a tennis player with a great chance of winning the seventy-fourth Wimbledon championships.

Caught at something of a crossroads, he admits he does not know if his future lies in professional tennis or commerce.

"So far as pro tennis is concerned," he says, "nobody has yet asked me seriously. I suppose that might change if I win Wimbledon. On the other hand with a major in economics, I would be interested in joining say a financial or investment house."

Wallop Cedar Rapids, 12-1, 9-2, Behind Hurling of Barth, Chance; Youngdahl Drives in 6 Runs

Cedar Rapids — Sweeping a doubleheader for the fourth time this season, the Fox Cities Foxes stormed into first place in the Three-I league here Thursday night. The Foxes backed up strong pitching by Bert Barth and Dean Chance with a total of 26 hits in recording 12-1 and 9-2 triumphs.

In assuming the lead for the first time since June 11, the Foxes ran their current winning streak to six straight. They passed Sioux City — victorious over Lincoln last night — on percentage points.

Youngdahl Barth's 4-hitter (in seven innings) and Chance's 7-hitter extended the brilliant complete-game record of the Foxes' staff to seven straight. Ray Youngdahl swung the heaviest bat for the Foxes last night, getting five hits (including his third home run of the season and two triples) in nine trips and punching home six runs.

Spiers Bats in Five Runs as Soos Cop, 13-3

Sioux City's Bud Spiers batted in five runs in a 13-3 victory over Lincoln. Ron Debus and Chuck Bennett also connected for the Soos. Don Buford had half of Lincoln's six hits.

Boniar's Pinch Hit Leads Green Bay Over Bees, 4-3

By The Associated Press
Fox Cities scored 21 runs in sweeping a doubleheader from Cedar Rapids Thursday night and raced to first place in the 3-1 league. The Foxes lead Sioux City, which also won, by seven percentage points — .592 to .585. Bert Barth's 4-hitter provided a 12-1 victory over Cedar Rapids in the opener. The Foxes won the nightcap, 9-2.

Sioux City's Bud Spiers batted in five runs in a 13-3 victory over Lincoln. Ron Debus and Chuck Bennett also connected for the Soos. Don Buford had half of Lincoln's six hits.

Des Moines' relief pitcher Dale Smith hit three Topeka batters to force in the winning run in the eighth innings as the Reds went on to hand the Demons their fifth loss in a row, 11-8. The two teams are tied in fourth place.

Fran Bonar's pinch hit with the bases full and two out in the seventh inning broke a 3-3 tie and let Green Bay win at Burlington, 4-3.

awards and glory. Included is BDM's Bob Ferrel who has been individual runner-up twice running.

Saturday's first threesome will tee off at 8 a.m. The tee times will be found in an adjacent column.

Sunday's start at Ridgeway has been set for 7:30 a.m. The order of shooting will be determined by Saturday's scores. The first day's high scorers will start first, while the leaders will tee off last.

26 Muni Entrants
Five clubs or courses will battle for the team trophy. Butte des Morts will defend its laurels with a 7-man contingent. The low five scores only will count in the team tabulation.

Reid Muni, last year's runner-up, again has the biggest representation — 26 golfers. Other clubs, and their numbers, are: Ridgeway, 14; Fox Valley, 11; Bridgeway, six; North Shore, three; and Riverview, two.

Among the dozen or so leading 1960 title threats, in addition to Strutz, Stinski, Jabas, Lindberg and Ferrel, are Ridgeway's Tom Hadley, Chet Bland and Elmer Selig; Fox

Valley's Bob Derus and Wayne Hull; Muni's Al Baerenwald, Don Sprague, John Hurley and Howard Bowers, and BDM's Jim McDonald.

Hadley, a first-timer in this tourney, is a former University of Minnesota golf captain and last year's Neenah-Menasha amateur titlist.

Most Consistent
Selig and Bowers are current holders of the Adler Brau and Appleton city tourney crowns respectively. Bland placed sixth in the "Fox Cities" last year and has been the tourney's most consistent high finisher outside of Strutz.

Derus tied Jabas for third last year, while Sprague placed fifth and Hurley seventh. Strutz shot the best rounds at both courses last year. He toured Muni in a 1-under-par 71 and Ridgeway in par 72. Other leading performances at Muni were: Ferrel, 72; and Derus, Bland and Sprague, 73 each.

At Ridgeway, Jabas and Baerenwald were closest to Strutz, with 73 and 75, respectively.

The rolling Ridgeway acres, which felt the sting of this spring's inclement weather to a far lesser degree than most other area courses, are in excellent condition. Reid Muni has bounced back well from the monsoons but has a few trouble spots.

In the event one day's play is weathered out (as happened in the 1956 tourney) 18 holes will constitute the official competition. Tourney officials reserve the right to "scratch" golfers more than two minutes late for their tee-off times.

Weather Poor For Le Mans Auto Race

Gurney-Hansgen
Jaguar Posted
Top Trial Time

Le Mans, France — The favored drivers in the classic 24-hour Le Mans endurance race today predicted the victory would go—as usual—to the best combination of boldness, stamina and luck.

"It could be us, it could be half a dozen others," agreed Dan Gurney of Riverside, Calif., and Walt Hansgen of Westfield, N. J., co-drivers of the Jaguar which posted the best trial time.

"The Jaguar is built for this kind of a race and is always a pleasure to drive," said Hansgen. "The Ferrari and Maserati might have an edge on speed," Gurney interjected, "but the Aston - Martin showed last year that it had the staying power."

That assessment pointed to a 4-way duel among Jaguars, Ferraris, Maseratis and Aston-Martins.

On numbers, the Ferraris should win. There are 13 factory and private Ferraris among the 56 cars which will line up for the start Saturday.

The weatherman had scant cheer for either drivers or thousands of spectators jamming this carnival-spirited town.

Braves' Sweep Over Giants Recalls Memory of Similar Job in 1958

BY DAVE O'HARA

Milwaukee — Two years ago Milwaukee broke the back of the San Francisco Giants by sweeping a 4-game series en route to the pennant. The big question today is whether the Braves have kayoed the Giants again — in a similar manner but a few weeks earlier than in '58.

The red-hot Braves completed a sweep of four games with the slumping Giants with an 8-4 victory Thursday as Eddie Mathews cracked a pair of homers with one on and San Francisco committed four errors.

While admittedly taking dead aim on the front-running Pittsburgh Pirates, the Braves nodded in silent agreement that the Giants looked like an also-ran team in the invasion of County stadium.

Despite the Giants' five straight setbacks and nine in the last 11 games, Manager Tom Clancy Sheehan refused him on current form. In Thursday's rain-ruined program, only 27 of the scheduled 60 matches were completed.

Laver Wins
Fraser and fellow Australian Rod Laver won their third round games in good style, although the top-seeded Fraser unexpectedly dropped a set to the Soviet's 19-year-old Thoomas Lejus before winning, 6-4, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3.

Laver defeated Spain's Manuel Santana, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4, 6-4.

Jack Frost, of Monterey, Calif., beat Hungary's Istvan Gulyas, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4.

In the women's section, Brazil's Maria Bueno is still riding high in defense of her title. She coasted to a straight sets win over Norway's Tine Schirmer.

Darlene Hard, seeded second, breezed to a 6-1, 6-0 triumph over Frances Walton of Britain. She was joined in the fourth round by Janet Hopps of Seattle. The Wightman cup team captain eliminated Florence de la Courte of France, 6-4, 6-1.

Eddie Mathews, Braves, hit a pair of homers, his fifteenth and sixteenth of the year, in an 8-4 triumph that completed a sweep of a 4-game series with the Giants.

season and No. 314 and 315 of his career.

The surging Braves seek to continue their streak tonight in the opener of a 3-game series with the Los Angeles Dodgers. Right-hander Carl Willey, holder of a 4-3 record, was the Milwaukee pitching choice to oppose Don Drysdale.

2-0 Edge

Veteran Sam Jones, the San Francisco loser in relief Tuesday night against the Braves, was given a 2-0 edge as the Giants scored two runs off Spahn in the first inning, but couldn't hold the advantage.

The Braves bounced back in their half when Johnny Logan reached first on an error and Mathews belted a 2-2 pitch into the runway between the right field stands and the bleachers.

San Francisco's Bob Schmidt led off the fourth with a homer, but Spahn settled down and surrendered just two hits, one a two-out homer to Eddie Bressoud in the ninth, the rest of the way. Milwaukee tied the count at 3-3 with an unearned run in the fourth on singles by Wes Covington and Charlie Lau, a wild pick-off attempt by Jones and a wild pitch.

Bruton Doubles

A double by Billy Bruton, who hit safely in his tenth straight game, and a single by Covington provided another run in the fifth. Errors set the stage for four unearned runs in the sixth. Law walked and moved up on a miscue by first baseman Willie McCovey. Spahn beat out a bunt and when Schmidt made a bad throw to first, Lau came all the way around. Spahn was out trying to reach second, but pinch-runner Felix Mantilla tallied on Bruton's infield out.

Logan then walked and waltzed home after Mathews sent a towering drive into the bleachers in right to the delight of a crowd of 14,472, including 1,689 Ladies day fans.

Dyna Wins 635-Mile Race To Bermuda

(From Press Dispatches)

Dyna, owned by Clayton Ewing of Green Bay, won the class A competition Thursday in the 635-mile, Newport-to-Bermuda yacht race. The time of the 58-foot yawl was five days, one hour, 40 minutes, and 34 seconds.

With a 61-hour handicap, Dyna's corrected time was four days, 18 hours and four minutes. Verturer, a 72-foot yawl, was the first to cross the finish line, 27 minutes earlier than Dyna.

Ewing, a former Neenah resident, plans to race the Dyna from Bermuda to Sweden starting June 30. That race will take about six weeks.

Foxes Win 2, Take Over League Lead

ly started by Saverine's bunt) and broke it open with six runs in the fourth.

Johnson and Jim Carver opened the big inning with singles. After Barth's ground-out, Frank Montgomery singled home another pair. Jim King replaced starter and loser Bill Holmes and was greeted by Pete Ward's run-scoring single. Anthony boomed a 2-run homer over the right field fence — his second of the season.

Ward's sacrifice fly drove in a fifth-inning run. Youngdahl tripled and scored on Johnson's single in the sixth, then tripled home the final pair in the seventh. Youngdahl, in his best night of the season, also robbed Mickey Sinnerud of an extra-base hit with a diving catch in the sixth inning.

Short-Lived Lead
In the second game, the Braves took a short-lived, 1-0 lead in the third inning on Wayne Wilson's run scoring single.

The Foxes lashed out a 5-run fourth against Bill Marple. Anthony walked, Ripken doubled and both scored on Youngdahl's single. "Boog" Powell and Johnson walked to fill the bases. Chance hit a double play ball to Ron Hunt, but the second baseman muffed it, then threw badly for a double error and two runs scored. Saverine singled him home for the fifth one.

Youngdahl homered over the center field wall (370 feet) in the eighth. Ripken's triple was the big blow in the 3-run ninth which wrapped up the scoring. Ripken had two doubles, besides his triple.

Cedar Rapids final run — in the fourth — scored on Tom Aaron's triple and an infield out.

Ailing Player, Locke Take 3-Stroke Lead

Asthmatic Gary Sets Course Record in Canada Cup Play

Portmarnock, Ireland — Gary Palmer and Bobby Locke, South African leaders in the Canada cup golf championship, went into the second round today relying on stout hearts to see them through.

They admitted their bodies were not quite with them as they teed off with a 3-stroke advantage over the second place United States team of Arnold Palmer and Sam Snead.

Player, 23-year-old breaker of Portmarnock links' record Thursday, was under the care of a doctor. He's suffering from a bad attack of asthma that left tears in his eyes, made it difficult to breathe and plagued him with aching muscles.

Tears It Apart
"If it gets any worse I'll never be able to carry out," Player wheezed after tearing Portmarnock apart with a 7-under-par 65.

The 43-year-old Locke is back in big time golf after being seriously injured in an auto crash. It even was doubtful at one time whether he would be able to compete in the international event.

But Locke, a 4-time winner of the British open, just refused to pass up this tournament that has brought together two top pros from each of 31 nations.

He's still one of the finest hitters of a ball in the business. He proved it Thursday by taking a 72, which with Player's 65 gave the South Africans a total of 137.

Jones-Clay Bout Tonight Ends Series

New York — Two tall, rangy light heavyweights meet in the 10-round main event of the boxing show in St. Nicholas arena tonight, and their battle brings to a close the era of the traditional "Friday night fights."

Doug Jones, unbeaten New Yorker, and Von Clay of Philadelphia are the principals. It will be a return match. Jones won a decision March 28 in a stirring contest.

When major boxing resumes in New York next October it will be on Saturday nights, with no radio. The television will be continued, but the sponsor will switch to ABC from NBC.

Jones, 23, has had 14 fights, and won seven by knockouts. He rates as a 2-1 favorite over the 20-year-old Clay.

Tigers Snap Yank Winning Streak At 6 Games, 2-1

Orioles Nudge White Sox, 5-3, Move Within Half-Game of Lead

By the Associated Press
The New York Yankees back in a familiar spot atop the American league, roll into Cleveland tonight for the opener of a 4-game series with the third-place Indians—who at the moment are in a better position than second-place Baltimore in the flag chase.

After their latest winning streak was cut at six with a 2-1 loss at Detroit Thursday, the Yankees have only a half-game lead over Baltimore. But the Orioles, who defeated Chicago's White Sox, 5-3, in 11 innings, are four games back in the decisive lost column.

Cleveland is only two back of New York in games lost after putting away a 3-game sweep over Washington with a 7-6 victory.

Jim Coates (8-0), the lean right-hander who has won 12 straight since losing to the Indians in relief a year ago, is the Yankee probable. Right-hander Jim Perry (7-3) goes for Cleveland.

Boston won Thursday's lone night game in the AL, walling Kansas City, 13-4.

Leadoff Homer

Charley Maxwell's leadoff home run in the ninth beat Yankee reliever Ryne Duren (2-2) and ended the Tigers' losing string at four. Don Mossi (4-5) won it, scattering nine hits.

In Comiskey park, there were two out in the ninth inning and Baltimore was leading the White Sox, 3-1, when Roy Sievers and Al Smith walloped back-to-back home runs off Jerry Walker to send the game into extra innings. Earlier the Sox scored on Jim Landis' wind-blown homer in the third.

Ron Hansen, the Baltimore rookie shortstop, starred in the victory. He tripled and scored on a sacrifice in the seventh, moving the Orioles into a 1-1 tie.

In the ninth, pitcher Jerry Walker opened with a pop double and after the next two batters went out, Hansen belted a homer into the upper deck. It was his ninth of the year and came off starter Frank Baumann.

Break Tie

The Orioles broke a 3-3 tie with two runs in the eleventh, defeating reliever Gerry Staley (7-3) with a bases-loaded walk and Gene Stephens' sacrifice fly. Chuck Estrada was the winner.

Cleveland gave Washington two unearned runs in a 3-run first inning, then won in the eighth on Bob Allison's throwing error. Tex Clevenger (1-4) was the loser in relief, coming on when the Indians scored three and tied it, 6-6, with two out in the seventh on Tito Francona's infield hit and Vic Power's single. Johnny Briggs (3-1) won it in relief.

Gary Geiger and Russ Nixon each drove in four runs for the Red Sox as each hit homers and went 3-for-5 in an 18-hit outburst. Ike Delock won his first in three decisions with his first complete game in a year. Ken Johnson (2-6) lost it.

First English vs. Congregational.
Zion vs. Methodist.

St. Pius remained unbeaten in the Church Softball league Wednesday evening with a 25-0 romp over First English. Ken Lang tossed a 2-hitter and got 22-hit batting support. Lang, who fanned 12 batters, swatted four hits in his own behalf. Bob Duszak thumped three home runs.

St. Mary edged Trinity, 7-6, to move into a second place tie with idle Zion. Winner Harry Kimball allowed nine hits, loser Jack Rademacher gave up eight.

National AAU Track Meet Opens Tonight

Bakersfield, Calif. —The track and field campaign in this, the year of the 1960 Olympic games, swings into another crucial stage for a small army of athletes tonight.

The occasion is the opening of the two-night National AAU championships in Bakersfield's showcase Memorial stadium.

At stake are the national titles. But equally important, especially to some of the old guard of stars, is another challenge.

This is their final chance to qualify for the all-important showdown Olympic tryouts at Stanford next weekend, when the United States team will be pretty much decided.

Smith Upsets Jack Nicklaus

Neenah Native Gains Semis of NCAA Tournament

Colorado Springs, Colo. —A Steve Smith of Green Bay, Wis., a student at Stanford university, reached the semifinals in the NCAA golf championship Thursday by beating two men. One was Jack Nicklaus, one of the favorites, (4 and 3, in the third round).

Smith meets Eugene Hansen of Minnesota in one of the 36-hole semifinal matches today while in the other match defeating NCAA champion, Dick Crawford, Houston, plays Dean Beman of Maryland.

Gib Larson of the University of Wisconsin was eliminated by Bob Galloway of North Carolina 4-3, in the first 18 holes of play Thursday. Galloway then lost to Smith in the second 18 Thursday.

National Amateur champion Nicklaus, of Ohio State, was runnerup in the U.S. Open last week.

Smith, 21, was born in Neenah and lived there until moving to Green Bay about 16 years ago.

He carded four birdies on the first nine holes of the 7,035-yard, par 36-35-71 Broadmoor course to take a 3-up lead over Nicklaus who was having putting troubles.

They wound up the match by halving the fifteenth hole. Smith was even par at that point.

Colgate Appoints Central's Parnell Assistant Coach

Hamilton, N.Y. —Appointment of Thomas H. Parnell of Sheboygan, Wis., as an assistant football coach at Colgate university effective July 1 was announced Thursday by Athletic Director Everett D. Barnes.

Parnell, 34, will be in charge of Colgate's freshman football program and also will serve as an instructor in physical education.

He is a graduate of the St. Cloud, Minn., State Teachers college, where he was a member of the football and golf teams. At present he is on the athletic staff of Central High school at Sheboygan.

One of life's first major decisions is currently being made by the large group of Fox Cities high school athletes who plan to continue their sports careers in college.

Should he select a university or small college, a school close to home or one far away, and what course of study should be pursued?

Deciding often is tougher for boys who had spectacular prep records because of the more wide-spread interest in their talents.

One such fellow is Kaukauna High's 6-6 LeRoy Weyenberg, who set more than two dozen school marks in his great basketball career. Weyenberg, with the help of Coach Jerry Hopfensperger, has narrowed his choices from 10 schools down to two—Michigan State and Marquette—and MU now has the inside track.

Full Scholarship

Marquette, where Hopfensperger starred as a collegian, is offering a full scholarship. Kimberly's football-basketball star Don Hearden is set for the University of Wisconsin, also on a scholarship. Parnell, a track star, is attending Texas college of Arts and Industries where Appleton-native Stew Cooper is on the athletic department staff.

Appleton High's all-Fox River Valley conference cage star Ron Abel is completing his prep studies in summer school and also plans to attend Texas A and I in the fall. AHS' all-around star, John Nussbaum, seems sure to attend Lawrence college.

Neenah's basketball, football and tennis star Jack Ankerson has a scholarship to Ripon college, where he'll probably play all three sports.

To Stanford

Another Rocket Flash in those three sports, Dick Wilson, will matriculate at Stanford university.

Wilson, an "A" student who gained about 180 yards as a ground-crunching runner in last fall's Neenah-Menasha game, probably will compete only in tennis in Stanford.

NHS' Mike Lintner, state class A half mile champion, has a full scholarship at Wisconsin where Football Coach Milt Bruhn plans to make him into a defensive halfback.

Mike was in the upper 10 per cent of his class at Neenah.

Pete Vanderhyden, star of the Wisconsin state Catholic basketball champion Menasha St. Mary quintet and an unbeaten prep netter this spring, will receive a scholarship to Marquette. Cage star Dean Schreiner may enroll at Ripon, while Zephyr all-state griddler Norm Brown may continue his sports activities at small Regis college in Denver, Col.

Probable destinations of other Fox Cities prep athletes and their possible college sports follow.

Appleton — Cal Klues, U. S. Military academy, football, track; Jim Manier, Indiana university, football; track star Dave Reinke, Milwaukee School of Engineering; Dick Wankey, Miami (Fla.) university, football, baseball; footballer John Taylor, Wisconsin; footballers Dick Heiss and Tom Kotke, 3-sport star Dave LaViolette and basketballer Larold Lodholz, not certain.

Little Chute St. John—Dave Kons and Tom Verhagen, St. Norbert, football; Andy Ebben, St. Norbert, basketball; Mike Bongers, St. Thomas (Minn.) basketball, golf.

Kaukauna — Bill Borchardt, Texas A and I, basketball; Denny Burns, Michigan Tech, football. Myron Zachowski and Jim Steger, military service.

Menasha — Keith Bednarski, St. Norbert, football.

St. Mary — Mike Herlache, Ripon or U. S. Naval academy, basketball; Jim Rueckl, Regis or St. Norbert, basketball.

Duluth-Superior Widens Its Lead

By The Associated Press
The Duluth-Superior Dukes swept a doubleheader from Grand Forks Thursday, widening their Northern league lead to two games—the most slack the tight race has carried in days.

The Dukes won, 13-5 and 5-0. Eau Claire and Winnipeg split, the Braves winning, 5-3, and Winnipeg taking the nightcap, 3-2. Second place Aberdeen was tripped up by Fargo-Moorhead, 5-4, and Minot won its fifth straight, taking St. Cloud, 6-2.

George Gaffney of Aberdeen gave up just four hits to Fargo-Moorhead but two of them were homers by Bob Kaczynski and Don Keller.

Berggren's Wins, 5-3, Over Baur Truck in LL

Berggren's shaded Baur Truck, 5-3, Wednesday in an Appleton Little League Western division game at Linwood Park.

McIntyre was the winning pitcher, striking out 13 batters in the five innings he worked. He and Holcomb allowed three hits. Schmidt, the loser, went all the way, yielding seven hits, striking out nine and walking three.

Cardinals Shave Pirates' Lead With 3-1 Win

Phils Capture Fifth Straight, Leave Cellar

By the Associated Press
Okay, so Pittsburgh has been hot and Milwaukee has been hotter, trimming the Pirates' National league lead to 2 1/2 games. But have you noticed Philadelphia? The Phils, looking like a club shifted from a rookie league, have won five in a row and have sprung loose from the cellar.

While St. Louis beat the Pirates, 3-1, with a pair of unearned runs Thursday night—after second-place Milwaukee made it six straight with an 8-4 romp against San Francisco—the Phils plunked Chicago into the basement by handing the Cubs their seventh consecutive loss, 4-3.

The Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Cincinnati, 6-2, in the other NL game.

4 in a Row

The Phillies, who had been last since May 12, made it four in a row over the Cubs when rookie Ken Walters singled for a 3-3 tie in the sixth and then belted his seventh home run in the eighth. Walters and Frank Herrera, who hit his eighth home run in the second inning, each smacked three homers in the series.

Dick Farrell (5-1) won it in relief of rookie Dallas Green.

Ernie Banks had put the Cubs ahead, 3-2, in the sixth inning when he clouted his twenty-first home run of the year.

Seth Morehead, who replaced starter Glen Hobbie in the third for the Cubs, was the loser. He has six defeats without a triumph.

The Cards were blanked on four hits for five innings by one-time nemesis Harvey Haddix (4-4), tied it 1-all in the sixth and then made the most of a break for the unearned two in the seventh. Ron Kline (3-6) beat his ex-mates a second time, with Lindy McDaniel's relief help in the eighth. Dodger right-hander Stan Williams (6-1) allowed six hits, but had a perfect game until the seventh, when Ed Kasko led off with a double and scored on Gus Bell's single. Jim O'Toole (5-7) was the loser.

Judy Eller Plays Gunderson for Collegiate Title

Stanford, Calif. —To the surprise of almost no one, defending champion Judy Eller and medalist Jo Anne Gunderson wound up playing each other for the title today in the sixteenth annual Women's Collegiate Golf tournament.

Co-favorites from the start, the two brilliant young Curtis cup stars advanced methodically through a field that gave them trouble only in spots — and Judy ran into most of that.

The 19-year-old sophomore from the University of Miami, Fla., and Old Hickory Tenn., had a tiger on her hands Thursday in rangy Jean Ashley, University of Kansas, but a birdie on the nineteenth gave her a semi-final match victory.

Jo Anne, husky Seattle blond representing Arizona State university, ran away from Barbara Faye White of Centenary on the back nine to win her semi-final, 4-2.

Probe Handling Of Arena Money

Query Fate of Funds From Two Programs at John Doe Hearing

2nd edition
236 says arena show
Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — An unrecorded skating show which grossed $4,320, and conflicting stories about what happened to $225 from an organ concert were probed Thursday and today in a John Doe hearing on the operation of Veterans Memorial arena.

The hearing also looked into the use of $118 from a wrestling show and the handling of a $285 check cashed against an account that contained no funds.

K. A. Barkhausen, an officer of the Packerland Figure Skating Club, said that arena manager Jocko Braley gave him a verbal report that an ice show for which there are no records had a gross gate of $4,320.

The club, the arena, and skating professionals co-sponsored a show called Ice-orama.

Barkhausen said the U.S. Figure Skating association was to get 1 per cent of the gross gate and that it was his job to see that it did. A club check for $43.20 was mailed August 24, 1959.

After he had asked Braley about it a week earlier, Barkhausen testified Braley came up to him in the arena and "handed me an amount of cash and said 'according to all our records and figures this is it.'"

No Records
Barkhausen said he did not check into box office reports because he "took him (Braley) at his word in as much as they handled the box office, the arena did."

Barkhausen said there was an "oral agreement" to split the revenue after expenses three ways among the arena, club, and the skating pros.

A state audit of June 1 said no records of any kind could be found for Ice-orama.

The concert was co-promoted with Hammond Organ studios, of Green Bay, and Thomas Schuette, of the firm said there was no signed contract for the venture, which was a flop.

One of the hearing's exhibits was a handwritten agreement of last Aug. 12 in which Schuette and the county were to have revenue after expenses were met. But the show drew only $831 after taxes.

Missing Difference
A state audit in the record stated that, instead of both Schuette and the county getting $343, the arena gave Schuette $687.

But Schuette testified he got only $576, that he had to pay $144 in ticket commissions from this, and use $318 of his own money to pay the musicians $750 fee.

This left the unanswered question of what happened to the $255 difference between the $576 Schuette said he received and the $831 gate. The state audit reported no arena income from the concert and expenses of $727.

The $118 was listed in the audit as due from James Mancini, Green Bay supper club operator, who co-promoted a Nov. 3 wrestling show with the county. The audit reported the county wound up with $82.40 on the co-promotions deal.

Mancini said the show was put on without contracts. He signed contracts last month for the arena files, Mancini said. Mancini previously had rented the arena for $500 for a wrestling show.

Divided Money
A Chicago supplier of wrestlers was to get half the gate, and the other half was to be split by Mancini and the county. The show drew $803 after taxes, and Mancini said he took the $200 due him when he and Braley personally divided the money.

Mancini denied that he received $318 as reported in the state audit and he said he never received a bill for other items the audit puts in an account of $376 listed as owned by Mancini to the county. Mancini said Braley recently telephoned him.

"He told me if I paid the $118 and the two ticket orders everything would be all right. I only received $200. I'll swear to that," Mancini said.

The two ticket orders were for printing bills of $101 each.

Willing to Pay
Mancini also sprung a bill of his own. He said the county owed him $125 for renting his wrestling ring for a show this spring.

"If I owe anything, I'm willing to pay it. But I've never been billed," Mancini said.

James Golueke, a state auditor, testified about a boys hockey league check as he concluded nine hours on the witness stand. A $285 check was cashed from a $2,500 arena working cash fund which is never supposed to be below that level according to county board authorization, he said.

When he found the undated check, Golueke said he asked Braley about it and Braley dated it March 31. The bank showed this account had no funds since March 2, Golueke said.

Make Check Good
Golueke said the account never had more than $250 in it and that this was used in a single check of March 2. The $285 check still is in the arena cash drawer, and Braley said it "would be made good from subsequent donations to the boys hockey league," Golueke said.

Sgt. Richard Schrikel, of the sheriff's - traffic department, testified his investigation of the bank account showed the $250 was used to pay on an account for hockey uniforms.

Steels, Rails Up, Motors, Oils Dip In Active Trade

New York — The stock market moved unevenly in active trading early this afternoon with most price changes narrow except for a few volatile issues.

Wall Street seemed beset by pre-weekend caution following two days of a fairly vigorous rally. Some hesitancy was ascribed to the international situation, made additionally nervous by the attempt to assassinate the president of Venezuela.

Steel and rails managed a slightly higher tone on balance while motors and oils slid irregularly lower.

High-priced International Business Machines continued in favor, adding about 8 points. Magnavox was helped by a published prediction of record earnings and was up more than a point.

Pfizer skidded more than 2 points and Parke Davis more than a point as these recent gainers dipped enough to touch off a flock of stop-loss orders. Schering rose more than a point.

Automatic Canteen was off about 2. Losses of more than a point were shown by Vendo, Universal Match and NAFL.

Martin Co. dropped about 2 despite the award of contracts for continued production of Lacrosse missiles. Texas Instruments was ahead a point-plus.

While Bethlehem, U.S. Steel, and Jones & Laughlin picked up fractions, Republic Steel dropped a point.

Mcquay-Norris dropped 1/2 to 18 on a big 14,500-share block.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.40 at 646.01.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .10 to 223.60 with the industrials down .20, the rails up .20 and the utilities unchanged.

Four Appleton youngsters ranging in age from 11 to 14 years employed professional tactics in two separate, unsuccessful shoplifting ventures Thursday, according to Appleton police.

Three boys, 11, 12 and 14 years old, pinned plastic bags to their underwear before touring several downtown stores. Their goal was fishing tackle.

While one of the youngsters would buy an item from a clerk the other two would attempt to steal something. They obtained tackle valued at $4.65 from Berggrens, Schiedermayers and Lord's Army store. They admitted entering several other stores but said the clerks watched them too closely.

All of the stolen items were returned.

In the other incident, a 12-year-old boy purchased a shopping bag for 10 cents in a dime store, then entered a drug store where he picked up a swim fin and slipped it into the bag. He tried to walk out without paying for the item but was apprehended by a clerk.

The youths were turned over to juvenile authorities after calling in their parents.

Florida's 'Ambassador' to U.S. Breezes Through Fox Cities

Post-Crescent City Editor

That whirlwind from Tampa, Dixie Mason, blew into the Post-Crescent newsmen's office Thursday.

again this morning to tell us how wonderful things are down in Florida.

Mason is Hillsborough county's official ambassador of good will to the nation and spends most of his time visiting newspaper offices, TV and radio stations to tell them what a wonderful vacation time can be had in Florida, particularly on the west coast and more particularly in Tampa and Hillsborough county. He's been at it for 25 years.

Leaves You Limp
A visit with Mason is much like that annual pre-season talk with Bernie Heseltin, peppery Lawrence football coach. It leaves you sort of limp.

Mason thrusts into your hand one of the 900,000,000 cigars made annually in Tampa and words pour out explaining that Tampa is now Florida's second city, the state population is up 71.6 per cent from 1950, there are a million people in the Clearwater-St. Petersburg-Tampa complex, the state has 45 million visitors yearly and summer business is only 10 per cent off from the heavy winter tourist traffic.

Never Falls
He exhibits a surprising knowledge of local geography and economics and never fails to point out that Fox Cities people have a direct route to Tampa via Highway 41.

Then with a quick story, a handshake and apologies for taking up your time, he's on his way.

Bonded Livestock
Bonded — Auction market Thursday; 250 head sold for 164 consignors.

Calves 149; market $1 higher. Choice to prime 27.00 to 31.50; good to choice 25.00 to 27.00; cull to commercial 22.00 to 24.00.

Rain, Wind Pelts Area; Sun Follows

Rain and a stiff wind hit the Fox Cities Thursday afternoon. Some 1/2 of an inch fell and skies cleared today.

Sun is expected Saturday, but more rain Sunday.

Thunderstorms and heavy rain that prowled the nation's midsection Thursday moved into the southwest today.

At Corpus Christi, Texas, one storm dumped more than 2 inches of rain; Lubbock, Texas, reported wind gusts of 50 miles an hour at the height of a rain and thunderstorm.

The Chicago weather bureau blamed a cold front for the siege of unusual weather that hit central sections Wednesday and Thursday. The front extended from the Great Lakes into northwest Texas.

It produced a tornado in Illinois that caused some damage to farm buildings, utility lines; killed seven persons, six of them in Kentucky; rains of 6 inches in southern Indiana; more than 5 inches in Kentucky; flash floods that forced many persons from their homes; flooded rivers; ruined crops and disrupted public services.

Need $410,000 for New Fire Stations

Three Buildings, Two Pumpers, 20 Men in Chief's 5-Year Plan

A capital outlay of $410,000 will be needed in the next five years to expand Appleton's fire department, Chief Paul Neumann expects.

In his 5-year plan report to the board of public works the chief recommends a new downtown fire station, costing $250,000, and new substations on the city's far north-east and northwest sides, costing $60,000 each.

Each new substation will need a 750-gallon pumper and hose combination truck, costing $20,000 each, he says.

The chief foresees no need for new equipment at the proposed downtown station, unless a 1928 truck breaks down to the point where it cannot be repaired.

He is asking that $30,000 be budgeted in 1961 for the station and pumper on the north-east side. He suggests the northwest station be built in 1963, and the new downtown station about 1965.

The city already has approved buying a site at Meade and Greenfield streets, for $6,500. This year's budget contained $5,000 for it, with the remainder to come from the department's new outlay account.

20 New Men

A survey by the state fire insurance rating bureau says the northwest station should be on N. Meade street near W. Weiland street, and the new downtown station at Lawe and Franklin streets.

Ten new men should be added, the chief says, when each of the substations are built, five men for each shift. This would increase personnel from 65 to 75 when the northeast station is built, and from 75 to 85 when the northwest one is completed.

In each case the chief says an additional $45,000 annually will have to be budgeted for salaries.

150 Youngsters Enter Kimberly Pet Contest

Kimberly — The first special event of the summer was held Wednesday at the high school playground with approximately 150 contestants entered and another 100 spectators, according to Gil Frank, playground director.

Eight categories were judged in a pet contest. Top winners in the pet with longest tail were Mark Van Lanen, Gary VanderWielen, Sandy Van Beek and Judy Monnier. Most unusual pets were owned by Mary Jane Roemer, Becky Maas, Nancy Paalman, Linda Van Hout, and Dennis Van Sambeek.

Pets with longest hair were owned by Carol Hooyman, Linda Van Asten and Christine Kunstman. Most unusual turtle awards went to Jerry Vanevenhoven, Jeff Hofkens and Diane Foster. Owning pets with the longest ears were Debbie Chalupa, Jackie Hammen and Paula Van Sambeek. Smallest pets were owned by Dave Vander Zanden, Judy Hofkens and Joyce Gaffney.

Judged as having the cutest cats were JoAnn Chalupa, Jim Driessen and David Anholzer. The cutest birds were owned by Mike Schultz, Billy Hammen, Jean Roemer and Sharon Siebers.

Fairmont Expands High School Law Into Wisconsin With New Plant

The plans of Fairmont Foods company to expand its fresh milk and dairy products operations into southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois through the acquisition of the North Prairie, Wisconsin plant of Pet Dairy Products company, were announced today by E. D. Edquist, president of Fairmont.

The transaction was completed last week. Fairmont will become closely associated with Homo Milk Products of Arlington Heights, Ill.

The company will continue to market fresh milk and other dairy products from the North Prairie plant under the Pet brand. They plan, however, to change over to the Fairmont brand as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

Fred E. Meyer, manager for Pet Milk company in Wisconsin said the North Prairie transaction in no way affects the parent company's operation throughout the state.

Islands to Continue As Bird Refuge in Green Bay Waters

Madison — The continued use of the Little Sister islands in Green Bay as a bird and waterfowl refuge was assured today.

Title to the islands was turned over to the conservation commission by the federal government Wednesday. The commission bought the islands for $735 to keep them from falling into private hands.

The islands had been sold in 1956 to Robert F. Hayes of Oshkosh and Richard A. Bebel of Sturgeon Bay, but the government cancelled the sale when conservationists objected.

The rocky reefs have been designated a bird and waterfowl refuge and are expected to continue as a nesting ground for herring gulls.

Warrant for Highway Head Is Refused

Says 'Paca County District Attorney, Not Enough Evidence'

Wauwacapa — Dist. Atty. Gerald Anderson has refused to issue a warrant against Wauwacapa county Highway Commissioner Fred Grunwald.

The warrant was requested by Faulks Brothers Construction company, Weyauwega, and Jensen Excavating company, Wauwacapa, who charged Grunwald with retaliation against them for their civil action against Wauwacapa county and Grunwald.

John Doe hearings, before Police Justice George Whalen, were started April 14. In a letter to Sydney Faulks, Anderson said, "... It is my opinion that the evidence warrants a conclusion that Mr. Grunwald did not violate any of the criminal statutes set forth in the complaint filed by your attorney ..."

Faulks said he did not know what the contractors next move would be. They would first have to consult with their attorney, John Esler, Kaukauna.

Still pending is the contractors' civil suit against the county and Grunwald. An affidavit of prejudice was filed against Circuit Judge Herbert Bunde by the contractors on June 7. A new judge to hear the case has not been named.

Army Engineers Honored for 30-Year Service

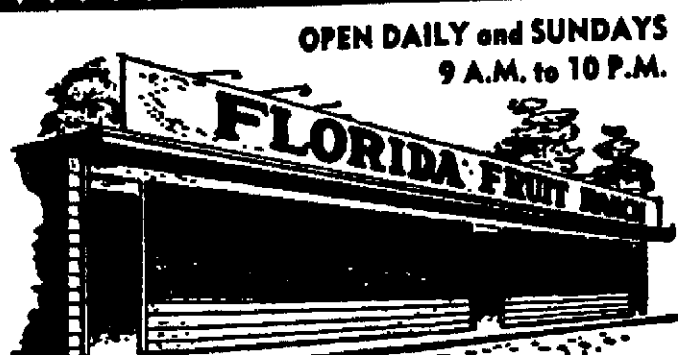

Five employees of the Appleton project office of the army corps of engineers have been honored by the army with the presentation of service emblems and certificates.

Awards signifying 30 years of government service went to Harold O. Jacobson, Henry J. Mau, and Fred K. Domke.

William J. Carnot and Edwin T. O'Connor, were presented engineer emblems in recognition of 10 years' service.

Ross R. Plainse, engineer-in-charge of the local office, congratulated the men for their contributions in carrying on the traditions of the corps, one of the oldest branches of the armed services.

The Appleton project office has responsibility for maintenance of navigation facilities on the Fox and Wolf rivers.

Attack Home Loan Policy Of State VA

Legislator Says Reserves Pile Up, Few Loans Made

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Wisconsin's veterans' affairs department was accused Wednesday of ignoring or thwarting the will of the state's political rulers in administering the veterans home loan program.

Gordon Huseby, head of the agency, gave non-committal replies when he was interrogated sharply by legislative leaders who oppose the state board of governmental operations, a new interim legislative finance agency with broad powers over the operations of administrative agencies.

Sen. Lynn Stalbaum of Racine, a fiscal spokesman for the Democrats, said in effect that the state VA is building up huge reserves of funds, while denying deserving veterans housing credits on technicalities.

Increasing Reserves Stalbaum said that when the board released an additional $3 million to the veterans' department recently "it should have been obvious that we wanted more loans made."

Instead, the department is increasing its reserve funds and veterans are complaining about the state's tight credit policies, he said.

Assemblyman Huber, one of the Democratic leaders in the lower house, asked Huseby whether the veterans' department disputes the right of the government operations board to give such directives on policy. Huseby denied that it does, but he said his hands are tied by the policy mandates of his board of directors. That board, he added, has named special committees to review all state veterans' aid rules.

Delinquency Low There are now about 12,500 second mortgage state loans outstanding, for a total of about $28,000,000. Delinquency in the program is low, the director testified.

He said a major reason for rejection of applications is the finding that applicants propose to borrow more than they are likely to be able to repay. Huseby said he is sure, however, that his board shares the legislature's desire to extend credit to as many World War II veterans as possible.

Red Cross Meetings Outline Fund Drive

John C. Miller, president of Berlin Chapman company, Berlin, and recently appointed 1961 national fund vice chairman for the American Red Cross in Wisconsin, has begun his planning meetings for united campaigns this fall and independent March campaigns next spring, he announced today.

On June 2, Miller met with former Red Cross national fund vice-chairmen to begin plans for his new position. Advisers at that meeting were former Red Cross chairman Theodore C. Widder, William M. Walton of Oshkosh and Robert T. Rolfs of West Bend.

On June 24, Miller will meet in Oshkosh with Red Cross field representatives to further organize his plans.

Agent Assigned To New County

UW Graduate to Take Over Job at Keshena July 5

Waupaca — A University of Wisconsin graduate will become the second Menominee Indian reservation home agent July 5.

Miss Cathaleen Finley, 21, Janesville, is taking two weeks inservice training with Mrs. Katherine Tubbs, Waupaca county home agent, before going to Keshena.

Miss Finley's task, at the start, will be working with 4-H groups as homemaker groups have not been organized on the reservation. The organization of homemakers will be one of her major jobs.

Miss Finley was a home economics major in clothing and textiles at the university and belonged to a 4-H club in Rock county for 13 years.

With the Menominee reservation moving toward county status, Miss Finley may have the distinction of being their first county home agent.

Outagamie County Farmers To Elect Members From Each Township by Mail Ballots

Farmers in Outagamie county will have a chance to choose men to administer programs under the Agriculture Stabilization Conservation program July 15 through Aug. 3.

Balloting for ASC community committeeman will be done by mail.

Candidates were nominated by a community election board. Three men from each township picked 10 nominees. Of the 10 picked, five will be chosen to serve. Three will be regular members and the other two will be alternates.

Community committeemen will transmit information and represent their township for programs administered by the ASC.

Election board chairmen and townships are John Kluge, Black Creek; Percy Braatz, Bovina; Richard Kilian, Buchanan; Edward Rohm, Center; Ray Thomas, Cicero; Gordon Schiesser, Dale; Bernard Mares, Deer Creek; Anton Lauer, Ethington; John Wisneski, Freedom; Merlin Plamann, Grand Chute, and Roy Bungert, Greenville.

Others are Elfor Gruetz-macker, Hortonville; Robert

Some Events Canceled at Park Day

Chilton — A steady, cold rain Saturday cancelled the two highlight events of the 4-H Calumet county park day, the water safety demonstration and the civil defense lecture, but failed to halt activities altogether, Charles Nikolai, club agent, reported.

State conservation department personnel from the Oshkosh fisheries division office were willing to go through with the boat safety demonstration which would have sent the men into the chilly waters of Lake Winnebago to show the 4-H'ers what steps to take when capsized. Nikolai called off the event because of the slim attendance. It may be rescheduled at a later date under more favorable circumstances.

Also cancelled was the civil defense lecture of Roland Miller, county CD director.

Despite the weather, some 48 club members cooked their noon meal over an open fire and in the afternoon, when the weather cleared, played softball and participated in flower and wildlife identification hikes.

Nikolai, basing his opinion on the amount of interest expressed, estimated that the event would have attracted more than 300 persons with good weather.

Hagen is a 1960 graduate of Wittenberg High school. He plans to enter River Falls State college in fall. He will be asked to represent the FFA at functions throughout the year. Hagen will be the 32nd state FFA president and the

Amherst FFA Wins Award At Convention

Amherst — The Amherst F. F. A. chapter received a Superior award plaque at the annual state FFA convention at Green Lake.

This award is based on activities participated in during the entire year. The chapter received a $25 certificate for outstanding work in cooperation as well as a certificate for participating in the safe corn harvest program last fall.

The FFA quartet represented section 2 in the state quartet contest. Quartet members were Duane Beckland, Gary Morgan, Rick Novak and Joe Montgomery. It was accompanied by Miss Claudia Britton and directed by Darrell Gilow.

One of the highlights of the convention was the conferring of the Wisconsin farmer degrees which were given to Ray Biadasz and Thomas Groshek.

Marketing Quota Vote Set July 21 for Wheat

Referendum to Determine Whether Farmers Wish to Sell Crop Under Control System

The annual marketing quota referendum for wheat growers will be July 21 as the first step in the wheat program for 1961.

The purpose of the referendum is to determine whether or not wheat growers wish to market their 1961-crop wheat under a marketing quota system. Quotas have been proclaimed by the secretary of agriculture, as required whenever the wheat supply is more than 20 per cent above normal. They will take effect if approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum.

In proclaiming quotas for 1961, the secretary established the national acreage allotment at the minimum of 55 million acres permitted by law. Of this, 43,619 acres were allotted to Wisconsin, from which local wheat farmers will receive individual farm allotments before voting in the referendum.

No Penalty

The secretary also announced that the minimum national average support price for 1961 wheat will be made known before the referendum on the basis of the latest available supply information. Based on the present wheat supply and the present law, the legal minimum wheat support for 1961 would

Wood County Planning for Field Day

Thousands Expected
In Marshfield Area
For 3-Day Event

Marshfield — Wood county is drawing up plans these days to handle one of the largest gatherings in its history. The county will host the 1960 Wisconsin Farm Progress Field days, Aug. 5 through 7.

Thousands are expected to converge on the Marshfield area for the 3-day event at the county fairgrounds, the Wood County Hospital farm, and the University of Wisconsin branch agricultural experiment station.

Other Exhibits

Much of the show will be built around forage, the principal agricultural product of the area, reports Clarence A. Searles, chairman of the local group and chairman of the Wood county board of supervisors. Demonstrations are now being set up on establishing seedings, strip grazing, chemical control of quack grass and forage insect control. A 97-acre field will be roped aside to demonstrate land forming. The fairgrounds will be the center of activities and will be filled with large displays of agricultural equipment, with the emphasis on forage harvest.

Other demonstrations and exhibits will cover a wide

New Disease Makes River Watering Bad Overhead Sprinkler Found to Cause Soft Rot in Corn

A new and highly virulent disease of corn makes overhead watering with stream water a risky business.

A new corn soft-rot was discovered last summer on a farm near the Wisconsin river in the Lone Rock area. The farmer had irrigated the corn with overhead sprinklers, us-range of phases in forestry, conservation, cranberries, education and women's interests. Some 82 of the 131 available exhibit spots have already been contracted by commercial exhibitors, Searles reports.

Aug. 5 has been designated youth day. Aug. 6 will feature a memorial to the late Al Wojta, university soil engineer, who until his death last year, was executive secretary of the state farm progress days committee and also was a pioneer in land forming. F. V. Burcalow, university agronomist, has been named secretary of the state committee to succeed Wojta.

Buses will carry visitors from the fairgrounds to the two farm areas less than a mile from the fairgrounds. Wagon trains will shuttle through the farms with a number of stops en route.

ing river water. Later discoveries at Spooner, and reports of similar symptoms on corn at Beltsville, Maryland, and in the Carolinas, all point to irrigation as the factor favoring soft-rot.

However, furrow irrigation with stream water or sprinkler irrigation with artesian water do not seem to produce the disease.

This soft-rot has never been previously reported in corn. At the time there was no evidence to trace the unidentified outbreak at Lone Rock to bacterial rot.

Bacteria was suspected as the cause of the disease. The unusual symptoms of the dead corn caused a scientist to isolate a bacterium from the diseased plants. When healthy plants were inoculated with this bacterium they likewise developed the soft-rot. This proved that the disease was caused by the bacterium.

Rotting started at the base of the whorl and worked downward through the stalk until stems weakened and plants fell over. The tops of diseased plants could be lifted out, exposing a soft-rotted condition at the breaking point near the base of the whorl.

The trouble first was noticed when the plants were knee high or taller, a few days after irrigation. The plants died about 10 to 12 days after infection.

University bacteriologists have identified the bacterium as a new species in the coliform group. Plant losses of about 10 per cent at Lone Rock indicate very high virulence.

PET DOCTOR

A feature that gives your pet a break appears in this paper daily.

Called "Pet Doctor," it should do for dogs and cats and other pets what the doctors' advice columns in newspapers and magazines have long done for human beings.

It answers questions and gives you information and ideas on pet care and treatment that is often difficult and expensive to come by.

This is important because nearly everyone has a pet of some kind. In fact, Americans are a nation of pet lovers, keeping some 28 million cats, 26 million dogs and 20 million caged birds.

Author of "Pet Doctor" is a widely known St. Louis veterinarian, Dr. A. W. Moller. The illustrator is M. Medearis, also of St. Louis.

A kindly looking man, Dr. Moller got his basic training at the Veterinary School of the University of Munich in Germany, at Berlin and in London where he went in 1937. Working on insurance cases for Lloyds in England, he was associated also with the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

During the war he was district supervisor for the animal division of Civil Defense, worked for the Royal Army Veterinary Corps, and collaborated with police on animal cruelty cases. Afterwards he traveled several European countries studying veterinary methods.

"European schools lay greater emphasis on the basic veterinary sciences," he explains, "than on specific solutions to specific problems as do American schools. The practical approach comes more easily when you know the fundamentals well."

Coming to America in 1948, he worked first for the Department of Agriculture then went into private practice at St. Louis, where he has been a consultant for the St. Louis Zoo and for a number of large companies. About two thirds of his practice, he estimates, is with small animals, and about a third with large.

Dr. Moller welcomes questions from readers. He answers in his daily column those of widest interest, although he cannot reply individually to correspondents.

Watch for "Pet Doctor" every day.

Judging Units Picked for Shawano Tilt

16 Counties to Be Represented
At Dairy Show

Waupaca — Senior and junior dairy judging teams were picked to represent Waupaca county 4-H clubs at the district dairy judging contest Wednesday at Shawano. Sixteen counties will be represented at the district contest.

Senior team members are Jim Riske, route 2, Manawa; Rita Kraus, Weyauwega; Jim Zagzebski, Weyauwega, and Jerome Severson, Ogdensburg. Alternates are Tom Bleck, route 3, New London; Ronald Korth, Clintonville, and Juanita Anderson, Ogdensburg.

Junior team members are Nancy Johnson, route 2, Waupaca; Judy Kraut, route 3, Clintonville; Jim Wilson, route 3, New London, and Gerald Quimby, route 2, Manawa. Alternates are Mary Johnson, Scandinavia, and Karen Teske, Clintonville.

40 Enrolled

More than 60 4-H members enrolled in dairy projects attended the judging school and entered the contest. Judges were county 4-H agent Gene Hoye, county agent Joe Walker, Leo and Roy Beyer and Paul Quimby.

The 4-H youths were given pointers on the importance of learning to judge cattle, what principals are involved, what points to look for and how to draw comparisons.

Two classes of cows and heifers were used in the judging and one class of senior calves was used to break ties.

Check Grain Bins

Farmers should check their grain bins often as the weather gets warmer. High temperatures plus moisture in the grain spell fun and good living for the insect world, but trouble for farmers. A good solution, say South Dakota State College researchers, is drying the grain before storage.

Many Insects Seen on Plants During Summer

Damage to Crops, Gardens, Trees Comes From Variety of Sucking, Chewing Bugs

BY JOE L. WALKER
Waupaca County Agent

Seems this time of the year we have any number of insects, crawling, flying and sucking or chewing on plants in gardens, in fields, on truck crops and in lawns. Someone asked how many kinds of insects are there? A good guess as put forth by many scientists say there are over 685,000 different kinds of insects that have been named thus far.

The number of different kinds isn't as amazing as the reproduction ability of some of the insects. For example, if all of the descendants from one pair of house flies lived in the period from April to August, there would be a total of 191, followed by eighteen zeros. The kind of insect and the reproduction ability of that insect gives us an idea why we have so many different kinds and also explains why some are seen in such large numbers.

Control Important

The kind of insect isn't as important as is the ability to control it and save the crop, tree or lawn from further destruction. In many cases, a great deal of damage is done before we notice the presence of any insects. One example is the grain aphid which is hard to see and is usually noticed only after oats have started to turn yellow. These aphids are all females and reproduce rapidly, especially in warm weather. They raise five to eight young each day. The young mature in a week or 10 days and again start reproducing at a high rate. The grain aphid also carries a disease called red leaf. It causes the lower leaves of the oatplant to turn a bright red later in the season. This disease drastically lowers the yield.

As to controls for the grain aphid, one pound of malathion per acre will do a good job. Spraying is cheap insurance against crop damage.

Gall Mite

Another insect that is difficult to see and isn't usually noticed until the damage appears is the Maple Leaf Bladder Gall Mite that causes the unsightly wart-like galls, on the upper surface of the leaves of the red or silver maple. Nothing can be done about this now but, if your tree was affected, keep this in mind and spray the tree next April before the buds open. Use two pounds of 25 per cent malathion in 50 gallons of water and soak the tree. These galls will reduce the vigor and detract from the appearance of the tree, but won't usually kill it.

Other insects that we may be seeing before long in field crops are: In alfalfa and grain the grasshoppers which can be controlled with three-quarters of a pound of malathion per acre and the spittle bug, in alfalfa, can be controlled with one pound of methoxychlor per acre. In either case, no harvesting or grazing should be done for a week following the application of the insecticide.

Insects found on the foliage of garden vegetables can best be controlled with malathion. Don't use the vegetables for seven days. Rotenone dust,

Demonstration Plot Of Grains Open for Farmers' Inspection

Chilton — The Calumet county grain demonstration plot which contains 13 varieties of oats, six of barley and three flax is open for inspection.

Located on the Ray Ecker farm two miles south of Stockbridge on Highway 55, all varieties in the plot are labeled.

at five per cent, can be used and, if applied early in the morning when the dew is on, will do a pretty effective job. One can use the vegetables anytime.

The chewing insects, those that feed on the foliage of shade trees, can be controlled with one gallon of 25 per cent DDT in 50 gallons of water. Those pesky rose chafers can be controlled with one quart of 50 per cent malathion in 10 or more gallons of water.

Seeing the infestation early and applying the proper material is the key to a successful insect control program. One must be very careful in the selection of chemicals. Many chemicals used last year can't be used this year.

You might write to your county extension office and ask for the Insect Control bulletins numbers 520 A, B and C. A covers field crops, B vegetables and C fruit trees and ornamentals. With these three bulletins, you'll be well fortified with information on control of most any insects.

Marketing Theme of Guernsey Meeting

In charge of planning the late July event in addition to Renn are Allen Lintner, Robert Stanelle, Elmer Federwiltz, Howard Sattler and Earl Lintner.

6¢ feeds

Chick Starter "20" was formulated for higher nutritive efficiency at the start, of course. But that's only part of the story. Not one pound of this new feed was released for sale until its higher nutritive efficiency had been proved. Then it was researched again; its efficiency stepped up again. And then—again! That's why today it feeds pullet chicks for even less than 6¢, why it produces healthier birds, why it produces birds that develop to the limit of inherited laying ability. Try it!

Hay Conditioners Help Farmer Get Good Crop

Drying Time During June Rainy Spells

BY VERNON PEROUTKY
Winnebago County Agent

Which is better, a hay crusher or a hay crimper?

One thing for sure, these hay conditioners speed the drying of cut hay. The weather in June brings rain every three days on the average, based on weather bureau statistics. The less time hay is out, the better the chance to put up rain-free hay, haylage, or silage.

There are at least 17 makes of hay conditioners. If I were to buy one, I'd first go to a local dealer who had proven to give good service. Some

Peroutky

manufacturers make a crusher and a crimper, they're not sure either as to which is the better.

Properly adjust the machine according to the instruction book. The smooth roller crushers now have preferations to eliminate or minimize clogging. The crimper is more likely to pick up stones when set too low.

When conditioners are operated not over four miles an hour, a fast walk, leaf clipping is at a minimum, about 15 per cent.

Self-Propelled

I see no material preference for a crimper over a crusher, or vice-versa. I would want one which includes the hay mower. Conditioners are available which operate by a power take-off extension from your present mower. Conditioning to be effective must follow a mower within a period of 10 minutes.

The trend in Wisconsin, in my opinion, will be self-propelled-mower-hay conditioner machines. Two manufacturers make them now. Like the self-propelled grain combine, it will take a period of trial and acceptance.

There's nothing man can do to eliminate lightning. But there is a lot one can do to protect human life and buildings from lightning loss or damage.

In cities and villages, utility poles are normally grounded to serve to some degree in neutralizing storm electrical charges. Television antennas may be a source of lightning protection if the antenna is properly grounded.

The most proper, of the outside antenna, is normally grounded. The lead-in wire may burn but usually will not cause a fire. This opinion is based on experienced TV installers.

High steel pipe supports of TV masts usually are not grounded. A regular lightning rod cable would be required to connect this piping to a ground rod in the earth.

Shade Tree Bad

Anyone concerned about lightning protection may wish to ask for Farmers' Bulletin
No. 1512, U. S. Department of Agriculture, from the county extension office.

A lone shade tree is one of the most deadly lightning at-tractors. Neither humans nor livestock should ever be permitted to seek protection by any tree when thunder clouds are visible.

be 75 per cent of parity, the same percentage as this year.

If marketing quotas take effect, a grower who complies with his allotment will be entitled to market his total 1961 wheat crop without penalty and will be eligible for price support at the full rate.

Announce Polls

A grower who exceeds his acreage allotment will be ineligible for price support and will also be subject to marketing quota penalties if he harvests more than 15 acres of wheat. A grower who obtains approval to produce 30 acres or less of wheat to be used exclusively on the farm will not be subject to penalties.

If marketing quotas are disapproved in the July referendum, all wheat produced will be eligible for marketing without penalty. Price support will be available at 50 per cent of parity to those who comply with their acreage allotments.

Voting on the referendum will be done at polling places to be announced later by the county ASC committee. Every wheat grower who expects to have more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest in 1961 will be eligible to vote, except those who participated in the up-to-30 acre feed wheat program in 1960.

The wheat referendum is required, Chairman Bert Weyenberg said, by the fact

Feeder Pig Show Planned by Co-op At Francis Creek

How well feeder pigs exhibited at the show last spring have fed out will be shown at a field day, Tuesday, the Wisconsin Feeder Pig Marketing cooperative headquarters at Francis Creek. The program gets underway at 8:30 a.m. and will run through the entire day. It will also be held in the evening starting at 8 p.m.

Feeder pigs shown at the Reedsville and Seymour feeder pig shows last spring were purchased and fed out by the feeder pig cooperative. All of the pigs exhibited at the shows will be penned separately by the exhibitor's name. One will be able to see each producer's pigs along with their weight, rate of gain and live grade.

On the program will be Norbert Brandt, who will discuss a sound crossbreeding program; Norval Dvorak, whose topic will be marketing problems; Fred Geisler and Vern Felts of the college of agriculture will discuss market-weight grading of the pigs used in the feeder pig grading demonstrations. The event will be on a tour basis with tours running continuously all day and all evening. Everyone is welcome to attend. Purpose of the program is to improve feeder pig quality.

that the national wheat supply is at almost twice the normal level. If quotas are approved for 1961, this will be the eighth successive year in which they have been used for wheat.

Near Average Harvest Seen For Cherries

Starurgeon Bay — Current estimates for Door county's 1960 cherry crop range between 15 and 25 million pounds with an average figure hitting just over the 18 million mark.

The averaged estimate is exactly 3 million pounds under the 1959 harvest of 21.7 million pounds and 11 million pounds under the estimated figure evolved at the Michigan Canners and Freezers convention in Traverse City.

Twenty-five million pounds is considered an average crop for Door county, although the peninsula is capable of producing twice that amount.

Ideal spring conditions and tremendous bloom occurring with good pollinating, weather had Door county growers thinking along bumper crop lines.

It is generally felt that the excessive rainfall in May — over seven inches, which is more than double the normal — affected the set of the fruit.

There have been three bumper crop years in Door county since 1922: They occurred in 1946, 1948 and 1955. Two years ago Door county produced 14 million pounds; in 1957, 22 million pounds, and in 1958, 18 million.

An estimate between 200 and 280 million pounds is the early prediction for national harvest by growers and processors in the cherry industry. The 1959 national harvest totaled about 250 million pounds.

Test Farms Tour Slated Through Area

Green Bay and Manitowoc Counties Scheduled as Stops

A 4-day tour of TVA test demonstration farms in Wisconsin has been set up for late June.

The tour will take place Monday through Thursday on farms in Columbia, Wood, Shawano, Oconto, Manitowoc, Dodge and Racine counties, including a stop in Green Bay. Farmers can join the group for all or part of the tour.

The test demonstration farms are part of a long-range farm development program.

Monday, the group will visit the Alex Lochner and Harlan

Waugh farms in Columbia county with lunch in Poynette. That evening they'll visit the Al Salzman farm in Wood county and have a chicken barbecue at the Marshfield agricultural experiment station.

Badger Breeders

Tuesday morning the tour will visit the Bert Warden farm in Wood county and then Badger Breeders cooperative at Shawano. Lunch will be at Gillett. After lunch the group will visit the Harold Sleeter, E. Stodola and Francis Des Jarlais farms, all in Oconto county. The night will be spent in Green Bay.

Wednesday morning, the group will visit the Orlo Keerth farm in Manitowoc county and the feeder pig buying station at Francis Creek. Lunch will be at Kellnersville.

51 Feared Dead Airliner Crashed Into Bay in Brazil

One American Aboard;
Planes Discover Wreckage

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil—(U)—A Brazilian airliner with 51 persons aboard, including at least one American, plunged into Guanabara bay last night while approaching Rio de Janeiro. Search teams found parts of bodies and wreckage but no survivors.

The twin-engine Convair, on a 600-mile flight from the new capital of Brasilia with a midday stopover at Belo Horizonte, was listed as missing nearly eight hours.

Sight Floating Wreckage
The crash was confirmed early today when navy search crews found the plane's wreckage floating in the bay off the island of Paqueta, about 10 miles up the bay from Rio's Dumont airport.

Later the searchers reported finding parts of bodies and pieces of luggage that had floated up on the beach.

Among those listed aboard was Newton B. Thompson, a native of Waterville, Maine, who was an official of the American Bond and Share Electric company.

A spokesman for Real Airlines said the passenger list

Venezuela Hu For Bomb Plot

BY RICHARD G. MASSOCK
Caracas, Venezuela — (U)—His face swollen and hands bandaged as a result of the bomb blast that narrowly missed killing him, President Romulo Betancourt pressed a search today for those behind the plot.

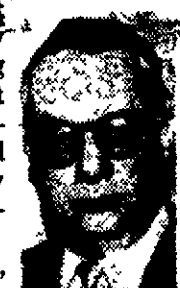

Betancourt, in Miraflores, palace after Betancourt being treated in the hospital for injuries, told reporters the attack was part of a widespread plan to overthrow his government and set up a new dictatorship.

"The incident shows that the enemies of democracy—national and international—will resort to every possible means to try to establish tyranny in the country," Betancourt told newsmen.

"What has happened won't frighten me away from my loyalty to the will of the people," he declared.

Borders Closed
Venezuela's borders were sealed off, air travel halted and some constitutional guarantees suspended to facilitate the search.

Series Gives New Insight Into Russia

What the Russian masses are saying cannot be all music to Nikita Khrushchev's ears. People who have known only communism for 40 years are today more than ever aware that U.S. living standards are higher than theirs. The people are in a nagging mood, despite Khrushchev's promises and they are not believing all that he tells them.

These are among the findings of William L. Ryan of the Associated Press. Ryan knows the Russian language, and some of the things he heard in Moscow reveal things about the Soviet Union that you won't find in a Khrushchev speech.

Ryan's series of five articles, written after he left the Soviet Union, starts in Monday's Post-Crescent.
